Vivid Youth, Dull Age.
Educating Trotzky.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

A BRICK building, owned by a Democratic political worker, was blown up by a small bomb yesterday. That was bomb outrage No. 64 in Chicago within the last six months. They did not count the bombing of a Chinese laundry.

SENATOR BORAH has given up his plan to make the old Republican elephant a good girl, paying back $160,000 contributed by Mr. Sinclair. Only $17,000 was sent to the fund. Prosperous Republicans seem to care less about the elephant's reputation than Mr. Borah hoped they would.

CLAIRE WINZER, wife of a poor miner, has added a fifth pair of twins to Germany's population, two healthy boys, weighing 15 pounds. Five pairs of twins is a record. The Kaiser would have done something about it. A republic is more cold blooded.

IN YOUTH impressions are vivid, and last into old age. Therefore, the manuscript of "Alice in Wonderland" sells for $75,259, a record price, more than would have been paid for the manuscript of Dante's "Inferno," or of Voltaire's "Zadig," each word worth a thousand "Alice in Wonderland" manuscripts.

Years dull imagination. Millions that remember "Robinson Crusoe," "Swiss Family Robinson," "Gulliver's Travels" vividly have a faint impression of more important books read later.

ONE dispatch said Trotzky was shot by an Armenian "Red," of a shade lighter or darker than Trotzky's. Another dispatch says Trotzky was not shot.

In any case, Trotzky, deprived of all power, is banished by the government that he and Lenin put on its feet.

He knows that, like republics, Communist organizations are ungrateful.

DESPITE moaning by friends of "oppressed peoples," a British army will be kept in Egypt to stop nonsense that might interfere with the Suez Canal. Britain is practical. Uncle Sam's treaty with Nicaragua authorizes him to build, for the benefit of the entire world, a sea level canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific. He should not allow any interfering with that, no matter how the sentimentalists rage.

TWO MILLION girls work for a living in this country—2,000,000 too many. American girls should be married, producing good children for the next generation.

Schopenhauer, in his "Studies in Pessimism," referring to women's harshness in dealing with an erring sister, says all women are in a conspiracy to make each man support some one woman for life, and won't forgive any woman that interferes with the conspiracy.

Something has happened to that conspiracy in modern times. It should be renewed.

DR. GEORGES LAKHOVSKY treats cancer cells by exposing affected parts to an oscillating electric current. This disintegrates the cancer cells, replacing them with new, uncontaminated cells.

Cancer in the early stages is not dangerous unless deep seated. Its cure involves finding a way to kill a vicious growth, and science will find the way.

A NEW YORK store possesses an almost human automaton that sells cigarets and says "thank you" to each buyer, giving coupons and matches with the cigarets.

The Y. W. C. A. rejoices in the fact that the cigaret selling automaton does not SMOKE cigarets.

GREAT BRITAIN abandons the intelligent scheme to control and put up the price of rubber, thus making American automobile owners pay Britain's war debt.

The plan worked for a while. Herbert Hoover put an end to it by his attack on the British rubber trust.

WASHINGTON reporters say, probably inaccurately, that President Coolidge is "shocked" at the suggestion of $750,000,000 to make the Mississippi River safe.

A country that could give TEN THOUSAND MILLIONS TO EUROPE, add half a billion a year to railroad receipts, and plan, wisely, to cut $200,000,000 a year from corporation taxes, need not shudder at the thought of spending part of a billion to make the Mississippi safe.

PILGRIMS from Spain to the Holy Land will go by air in three chartered planes, making ten stops on the way, flying in formation.

That is new and far removed from the slow crawling of the ancient Crusades.

THE first moving pictures have been transmitted over a wire. You may some day recline at your ease and watch the baseball game, play by play, in your own house.

PIRATES WILL REPEAT--BARNEY

TELLS FANS "DON'T WORRY"

By JAMES J. LONG.

"Don't worry about the Pirates because they have lost a few spring practice games. They are stronger than they were last year, when they were good enough to win the pennant, and if they are favored with good weather during the remainder of the training trip they will be able to step in and give a good account of themselves when the season opens next Wednesday."

Barney Dreyfuss.

That was the optimistic message brought back to Pittsburgh by President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh Baseball Club, who returned last night with Mrs. Dreyfuss from the scene of the Buccaneers' early practice work in Paso Robles, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

"The team may not be at the peak of its form when the race begins, for the reason that through illness or unfavorable weather some of the older regulars have been retarded in their condition work and are not yet at

Slugs Kelly Boys

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The story of an attack by a policeman upon two stepsons of Congressman M. Clyde Kelly, of Braddock, Pa., was related here yesterday at the police trial board hearing of Patrolman Frederick A. Schenck, who is accused of beating the two young men while arresting them on disorderly conduct charges recently.

M. C. Kelly.

Capt. Ira Sheetz, questioned by Representative Blanton, of Texas, regarding the arrest of the youths, said that when he saw the young men brought into the station house they showed signs of having been abused. The Congressman's sons were arrested in a cafe, it is said. One of the youths had been hit with a policeman's mace while in the patrol wagon. Sheetz said the prisoners told him.

The arrest of the Braddock boys was the beginning of internal strife on the police force. Patrolman Orville Staples is said to have reprimanded Schenck for striking the

SOUTH EGGS AL SMITH PARADE

ATHENS, Ga., April 5.—(AP.)—A well-directed barrage of eggs, hurled by a group garbed in flowing white, today was responsible for at least a temporary lull in public demonstrations by the University of Georgia Al Smith-for-President Club.

Al Smith

Some 50 adherents of the New York governor, after organization, yesterday wired him expressions of their fealty. Last night, they informed him, a parade would be held in tribute to his candidacy.

Torchlights sputtering, banjos strumming, saxophones moaning and bass drums booming, the parade formed as advertised and proceeded through the downtown streets. Its progress was unimpeded.

Arrived at the improvised platform, which had been the procession's goal, Gwynn Nixon, president of the club, mounted the rostrum to speak.

Then, out of the night, the sheet-

MRS. BOVE FREED BY JURY

Angeline Bove is free!

In 25 minutes a jury in Criminal Court today acquitted her of the murder of her husband, Alfonso Bove, Jr., who was shot last September 29.

Mrs. Bove.

The jury of eight men and four women retired at 1:48 o'clock. At 2:12 o'clock it reached an agreement. At 2:23 o'clock the verdict was announced.

The crowd that packed Judge Harry H. Rowand's courtroom broke out in a demonstration of handclapping when the verdict was announced, despite a warning that had been given by the court.

"If you can find anybody who applauded, bring him before me," Judge Rowand instructed Chief Tipstaff John Englert. None was found.

WEEPS AT VERDICT

Mrs. Bove wept anew as she heard the words "Not guilty" ring through the room. She took her 4-year-old son, Alfonso, named for

FORREST SHOWALTER

Forrest Showalter, 10, Braddock township, was whipped by the principal of the Hannastown Public School because he used a mirror to cast a reflection in a room where she was working. The principal, Mrs. Peter Schoemaker, was held for court on a charge of assault and battery when she refused to apologize for her action.

WHIPPING TEACHER BACKED BY CHIEF

County Supt. of Schools C. E. Dickey will "stand behind" Mrs. Peter Schoemaker, principal of Hannastown Public School, held for court because she refused to apologize for whipping a pupil.

"Discipline," Mr. Dickey said today, "must be maintained and teachers and principals must be respected. We certainly will stand behind Mrs. Schoemaker until it is proved that the so-called 'corporal punishment' was cruel. Up to the present such has not been proved."

Mrs. Schoemaker was arrested Wednesday on an information sworn to by Mrs. Katherine Sho-

High School Seniors -:- "Off to Washington!" -:- For Easter Vacation

PICTURE AHEAD!

Dorothy Lloyd, Allegheny High School, started her photographing before she left Pittsburgh. She was one of 250 Pittsburgh high school seniors who left this morning on a special train for a five-day Easter vacation visit to Washington. She is photographing Marian Robinson, Harriet Belles and Kathryn Brownlie, all of Allegheny High.

"HE'S SO HELPFUL!"

Exuberant youth added a joyous note at the railroad station this morning as the high school seniors gathered to entrain for Washington. Davis Murdock, Allegheny High School, even went so far as to offer to carry grips for Margaret Kress and Ann Bastic, so Mary Smith thought he might as well carry hers, too.

NO SADNESS

Who wouldn't be happy? For five long days these school girls will be seeing sights and enjoying life to the full. They will stop at Harrisburg and see the Governor, and they may even meet President Coolidge. "Wouldn't that be ducky?" Lois Reed waved goodby to her father, A. E. Reed, and J. H. Adams, principal of Perry High, so all her girl friends waved, too.

"S'LONG - FOR FIVE DAYS!"

"HOLD THAT TRAIN!"

PARENTS FINED

When little Anna Bundnar, 13, went to the "movies" in Uniontown without the permission of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bundnar, she was "punished." She was made to live for several days in a chicken coop in the rear of her home, with only her shabby coat and a few rags to shelter her from the cold. Anna each day crawled from the coop through a hole tunneled under one of its walls, Walter Brown, humane agent who investigated the case and arrested the parents, was told. The child slept in a loft in the squalid little shanty by night. Alderman William McClelland, giving the parents a hearing on charges of cruelty to a minor, fined each $10 and costs.

BOY'S FATE WITH JURY

Charged by the court not to allow sentiment of the Easter season to interfere with their judgment, a jury this afternoon took the case of Robert Stevens, 14, of Homestead, youngest person to be tried for his life in this county.

No reference to the extreme youth of the defendant was made by Judge J. Frank Graff who completed his address to the jury at 2 o'clock.

In his closing address to the jury, just before the noon recess, Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt asked for a first degree [illegible] but did not mention a death penalty. He even hinted that a life imprisonment sentence would satisfy the Commonwealth.

William H. Coleman, counsel for the youth, asked for an acquittal. He blamed Alvin Hess, 16, also of Homestead, who was convicted of murder in the first degree in the same case last week, for the actual killing. The boys were indicted for the murder of an unidentified man on the Monongahela River bank at Homestead last September.

Dr. Florence Teagarden, assistant professor of psychology at the University of Pittsburgh, was the only witness called this morning. She took the stand as a rebuttal witness for the defense and supported the previous statements of Dr. C. C. Wholey that Stevens had the mental capacity of a 10-year-old child.

young men, resulting in the two officers "falling out." Later, Staples told Representative Blanton that Washington police officers were protecting rum runners from Lancaster, Chester and Philadelphia, and that the protection finally developed into police hi-jacking of rum runners, it is said.

As a result of the statement to Blanton, the entire police department is under fire, the Senate having demanded a list of all police officers arrested in the last three years. One of the many charges is that Police Superintendent Hesse made a drinking headquarters out of a bootlegger's place five blocks from the capitol.

DEPEW IS DEAD

the age of 93 years. He would have been 94 April 23.

An "incurable optimist" all his life, he was the most cheerful and unconcerned person in the room up to the time he lost consciousness about an hour before he died. His death was unexpected, although it had been known for several hours that his condition was grave.

He became ill last Saturday, upon his return from St. Petersburg, Fla. He had suffered "a slight chill" on the trip north and it developed into a bronchial cold which gradually became worse.

RAILROAD PIONEER

Mr. Depew's long and colorful career spanned the administrations of 24 of the 30 presidents of the United States. He campaigned for the Republican party in all national political conflicts from Lincoln to Harding.

He was a member of the United States Senate 12 years. He was one of America's railroad pioneers and empire builders. For 14 years he was president of the New York Central Railroad and was chairman of its board of directors from 1898 up to the day of his death.

When his condition became grave after midnight members of the family were summoned. They included Mrs. Depew; a son, Chauncey M. Depew, Jr.; a niece, Miss Anne Depew Paulding, and a nephew, Chauncey Depew Steele.

An hour later Mr. Depew fell into a comfortable sleep. Those at the bedside retired. About 2 a. m., however, the nurse noticed from Mr. Depew's respiration that sleep had changed into unconsciousness and called Dr. H. Lyman Hooker, one of the attending physicians. Mrs. Depew and the men were immediately called into the sick room. Soon the whole household was aroused. Doctor and nurse worked frantically, but Mr. Depew did not regain consciousness. He died peacefully, surrounded by members of his family and household staff.

With the exception of the 1924 convention in Cleveland, he had attended every Republican convention, nine in all, since 1888. At the 1888 convention he received 99 votes for the presidential nomination, but withdrew in favor of Benjamin Harrison. His wit in rousing political speeches was a feature of conventions, and caused him in early days to be known as "the peach."

Mr. Depew served two terms as United States Senator, from 1899 to 1911.

In advanced age, Mr. Depew always viewed life from a young man's viewpoint and was an incurable optimist.

On his ninety-third birthday he agreed to join the New York Young Republican Club, because he felt that contact with young men was the only way to keep in touch with the world's activities.

DEPEW, THE OPTIMIST

He had expressed the belief he would live to be 100 years old.

"Useful or not," he said, "everybody has a right to live as long as he can; as for me I am going to do my best to set a record."

Commenting on an announcement of the Federal Public Health Bureau service that man's span of life had been increased 15 years since 1870, to 56, Mr. Depew said he believed "common sense rather than money glands or monkey glands is what is lengthening the span of life."

In one after-dinner speech he revealed he had talked with the soldiers of every war in which the United States had been engaged.

"Do you know," he said on another occasion, "that if you live long enough nearly everything will come to you? It is only a matter of time and the beautiful thing about it is that when you have advanced in years your stating the thing doesn't lead people to believe that you are bragging about yourself, because it is what comes in the course of nature.

"I have had my ups and downs, good luck and bad luck, losses and gains, and when I come to sum it up I think I have got on the whole what I deserve. It is all a matter as to what, during the later years, the waves will cast upon the sands of time. If it gives you friends notwithstanding your years; if it gives you health; if it gives you work sufficient to keep your mental and physical activities alive, then life is worth the living."

THE POLITICIAN

Mr. Depew retained his interest in politics until the end. In February, 1927, he predicted the re-election of President Coolidge, and expressed the belief that the President would even carry New York state against Gov. Alfred E. Smith, should the latter be the Democratic nominee.

Mr. Depew entered politics at the same time as the Republican party ran its first candidate for the presidency, John C. Fremont, in 1856, making stump speeches in his behalf. Two years later Depew was esteemed such a valuable adherent to the Republican cause that he was sent to the Republican state convention in 1858.

In the exciting campaign of 1860, he took the stump in behalf of Lincoln and built up a personal following that enabled him a year later to become the Republican representative in the State Assembly of a district hitherto regarded as strongly Democratic.

His career not only was linked with the building of a great political party, but was also linked with the building of a great railroad system—the New York Central.

Depew Visited Pittsburgh But Once

In his life of more than 90 years, Chauncey M. Depew visited Pittsburgh only once. Although he was regarded as the most desirable of after-dinner speakers, he never found opportunity to accept invitations to the notable banquets held in the old days by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and the Americus Republican Club.

His one visit to Pittsburgh was more than a quarter of a century ago when he came here with a party of New York Central Railroad officials on an inspection tour of the local terminals. At that time he was the guest of the late Col. James M. Schoonmaker.

Producing eggs from the folds of their robes, they fired salvo after salvo on the celebrants. Outnumbered 10 to 1, the Smith-for-President Club adjourned without the formality of a vote.

Even the Smith adherents admitted last night that the white-garbed attackers were not members of the Ku Klux Klan. They were students wearing sheets acquired from dormitory bunks.

Warns of Dire Menace Lurking in Hot ✝ Buns

Associated Press.

LONDON, April 5.

HOT CROSS BUNS, millions of which are made annually for Good Friday, were labeled as home wreckers by the Rev. James Shepherd, addressing an assemblage of women at Islington Chapel. He said:

"Don't eat hot cross buns on Good Friday. Don't give them to your husbands. They are buns that were offered to pagan gods.

"After a hearty breakfast of hot cross buns, you may act like a pagan. Many homes have been wrecked by indigestible hot cross buns. So whether you are married or single, leave them alone."

MRS. BOVE FREED

his father, in her arms and kissed him repeatedly.

As the jury filed from the courtroom Mrs. Bove shook hands with each member and murmured a low "Thank you." When she retired to an ante-room spectators and friends gathered about her with congratulations.

Assistant District Attorney Haggerty moved that the second indictment against Mrs. Bove charging manslaughter be dropped.

The case was submitted to the jury at 2 o'clock this afternoon after Judge Harry H. Rowand had completed his charge. Ringing in the ears of the jurors when they retired to deliberate were the stirring appeal of Charles B. Prichard, defense counsel, for an acquittal, and the stern demand of Assistant District Attorney John F. Haggerty for justice to the state.

The composure of the frail defendant, maintained throughout the trial, left her when her counsel asked for her freedom. She broke down in a flood of tears as he declared: "Angeline Bove was the innocent victim of a sordid life. She endured it for the sake of her two babies. I ask you, on the eve of Easter, to reunite her with her parents and babies."

More spirited was the demand of Haggerty for justice. "She is a cold-blooded, heartless and scheming woman," he asserted. "She is not the average woman who flares up and becomes excited. If you believe the commonwealth witnesses you will return a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, a wilful, deliberate and premeditated killing. If you believe the defendant, you say that these respectable and disinterested witnesses are liars."

WARNS AGAINST SYMPATHY

Haggerty warned against maudlin sympathy. "There is no sex in this court," he declared. "The Fifth Commandment and the laws of Pennsylvania do not allow women to kill. The public has complained against maudlin sympathies of juries. The district attorney is not a persecutor. I am not bloodthirsty for an innocent victim. Someone has taken that stand and sworn to God to a downright lie. I'm convinced, as I believe you are convinced, that the had that shot down Alfonso Bove was the hand of the defendant. Why did she live with him all these years if what she says is true?"

Concluding, Haggerty vigorously asserted, "If you believe the testimony of these witnesses and return a verdict of acquittal, you may as well stop the wheels of justice and shatter them, spoke by spoke, into a million splinters. Scatter them on the winds to the four corners of Allegheny county bearing the message that justice is a mockery and exists in name only." The address of Haggerty was declared by experienced observers to be one of the best ever delivered in a murder case here.

BARES DISCORD

A singular tale of six years domestic strife and discord, culminating in the tragic events in the Bove home, 7014 Agnew street, the evening of September 29, formed the defense. Filled with repulsive details, this tale was recited by the defendant during nearly five tense hours on the stand in the crowded courtroom. Standing almost alone and uncorroborated, it constituted virtually the sole defense of Mrs. Bove to the accusation of the state that she killed her 37-year-old husband, Alfonso Bove, Jr., deliberately and maliciously.

Several times she was moved to a heated reply to the rigid questioning. Then for a brief space she awoke from the air of listlessness and a fire flamed in the dark eyes dulled by tragedy on the threshold of life.

She remained unshaken when Haggerty read to her a statement prepared by the homicide squad, some of which she admitted and some she could not remember.

OIL MAN IS DROWNED IN LAKE

International News Service.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 5.—Milton J. Beatty, 42, of Warren, Pa., a prominent sportsman and wealthy oil operator, is believed to have been drowned in Chautauqua Lake. He went for a trial spin in a new speed boat and has not been seen since. The boat was found today overturned on an ice floe.

Beatty was well-known as an operator in the Pennsylvania and Oklahoma oil fields. He leaves a wife, Ruth, and two children.

He had just returned from Miami and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where several of his horses had won ribbons in horse shows. The horses also were entered in shows in Cuba.

He was a director of the Warren (Pa.) National Bank and was connected with the Texas Oil Company.

walter, Braddock township, after, it is alleged, the principal whipped Mrs. Showalter's son, Forrest, for using a mirror to reflect sunlight into a room in which she worked. Justice of the Peace George C. Blair, Wilkinsburg, held Mrs. Schoemaker for court after, it is alleged, she declined to apologize to Mrs. Showalter in the courtroom.

"The matter is now in the courts," Mr. Dickey said. "However, I do not believe the grand jury will indict Mrs. Schoemaker. In the meantime, she will not be suspended, but will continue her duties in the school." Mrs. Schoemaker has been principal of the school for eight years.

At the hearing before Squire Blair, Mrs. Showalter alleged that her son had gone home, changed his clothes and returned to the school grounds to play when Mrs. Schoemaker whipped him. She denied the principal's jurisdiction and on this basis demanded an apology.

"The entire incident," declared Mr. Dickey, "is regretable. I am convinced that it could have been settled by someone at the time it occurred. I am sorry I was not there. However, in nearly every case like this there is certain to be other things aside from the incident itself. There undoubtedly was other provocation besides the mirror."

ORDEAL FAILS TO UNNERVE WIFE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

Woman is indeed fickle. A creature of emotion. And no one who is really wise pretends to know how she will react to certain circumstances. Angeline Bove—on the witness stand where she is being tried for the murder of her husband, Alfonso, last fall, for instance.

The day the trial opened little Angeline, frail and weeping, worried everyone who had anything to do with the trial for fear she wasn't going to be able to go through with it. Her attorney, Charles B. Prichard, believed she might have to be carried in on a stretcher.

But—no woman ever told a harrowing story with greater calm. It was impossible for Assistant District Attorney Haggerty to break her down, or in any way confuse her.

Angeline might have been playing a part in a show that she had rehearsed very carefully. She wasn't a pathetic leading lady—or a dramatic one. Just a clever star who sat up firmly as much as to say: "This is my story and I'll stick to it." And let it go at that.

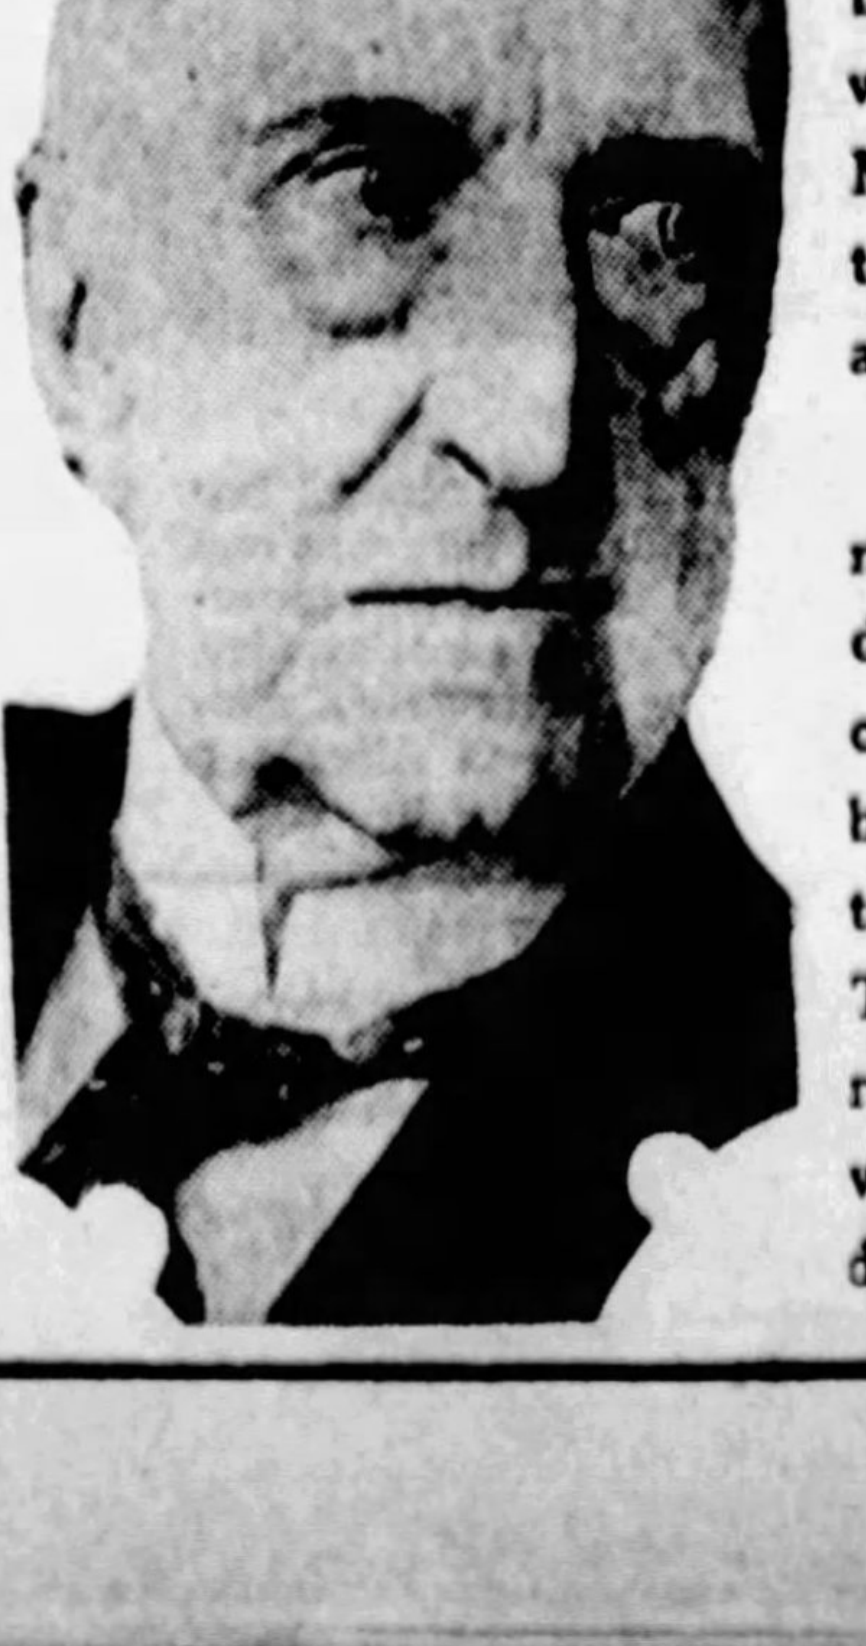
Even those who would have broken her down—gladly, had to take their hats off to her. They admitted so themselves. For Angeline was not "hard-boiled" or calloused or "fresh"—just firm and determined.

Low voiced, it was impossible for anyone to hear her testimony beyond the press table. The four women of the jury unconsciously kept their hands over their eyes. One could see their job was distasteful and that the phrases from the little killer's lips framed a picture they never had seen in their family lives.

For two hours, without a rest, Angeline related her story—one in which other women brought by her husband right into her very own kitchen, where he made love to them —a waitress and her child that she claims he kept.

But weak and bordering on a breakdown as she is—the little self-made widow was her best witness. No court ever got a greater surprise. Such is the "weaker sex."

Depew's Sermon on Road to Health; 'Curb Your Appetite'



"I AM KNOWN as an after-dinner speaker. I hope I also am known as a man who works," said Chauncey M. Depew on his eightieth birthday. "My dinners have never interfered with my business—they have been my recreation. Most men get their relaxation in cards. That makes them keep late hours, and they sit in a room with bad air and drink too many cocktails. They die young.

"When I was very young I decided to make dinners my recreation. Speaking was easy to me. My digestion might have bothered me if I had not been careful. I experimented to find just what I could eat best. I soon determined to play with everything, but to eat nothing except the roast and game courses. The trouble with the average man is that he cannot restrain his appetite. But a public banquet, if eaten with thought and care, is no more of a strain than a dinner at home."

WILKINS SET FOR FL!GHT OVER POLE

SEWARD, Alaska, April 5.—(AP.)—Lack of news from Point Barrow, Capt. George H. Wilkins' Arctic exploration headquarters, was taken here as an indication that he was going ahead with plans for a flight across the top of the world to Spitzbergen, 2,100 miles away, beginning at 6 o'clock this morning (8:30 a. m. Pacific time). So far as was known here, only adverse weather would prevent the take-off.

In a wooden monoplane piloted by Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, his companion on two Arctic explorations, Wilkins expects to chart the upper air currents and take soundings of the Arctic Ocean. He hopes to find the fabled lost continent which most Arctic explorers have reported sighting, but which has never been reached.

Wilkins planned to radio his take-off and report the progress of his flight with a 33.1 meter radio set. During his 17-day stay at Barrow the explorer has had much difficulty communicating with the outside because of his unfamiliarity with radio, motor generator trouble and frequent interference of amateur stations sending on his wave length.

For these reasons it was admittedly conceivable that word of his take-off might not be received until the slow Arctic communications systems carry out the word. News from Point Barrow, under favorable conditions, will reach the outside in about a month.

LOADPLANE WITH FUEL FOR4,500 MILES

DUBLIN, April 5.—(AP.)—The German airplane Bremen today was fueled at Baldonnel airdrome and ready to take off at a few hours notice. The field itself was still soft from recent rains and authorities said there was little chance of the heavily laden plane being able to take off for New York before tomorrow.

The gas tanks in the wings were filled with the benzol primed with ether, upon which the Germans depend to carry them 2,500 miles over the Atlantic. With the wing, regular and emergency tanks filled, the Bremen carries 2,500 pounds of fuel. This is considered sufficient to keep the plane in flight for more than 40 hours and give a flying radius of 4,500 miles.

WALSH BRANDS SMITH-M'ADOO OIL LINK BUNK

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Lauding the public careers of Gov. Al Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo, Senator Thomas J. Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, today brandad as "piffle" the attempt of Senator Arthur R. Robinson (Rep.), of Indiana, to link all three with the oil scandals.

Walsh declared he could see no "culpability" in Smith's appointment of Harry F. Sinclair as a racing commissioner in New York. He also said he could see no wrong in McAdoo accepting employment from Edward L. Doheny.

Touching on his own part in unearthing the oil scandals, Walsh accused Robinson of seeking to "snatch away" from him the gratitude of the American people.

APPOINTMENT OF COOPER PUZZLE

The appointment of Alexander Cooper, third entry in the Magee-Estep congressional battle in the Thirty-Fifth District, as attorney for the Board of Mercantile Appraisers, was announced today. The appointment was made by Auditor General Edward Martin.

Cooper today was non-committal as to the effect the appointment would have on his candidacy. The fight in the district is a close one between Congressman Harry A. Estep and former Congressman James M. Magee. In political circles today considerable doubt was expressed whether Cooper, by withdrawing, would aid or hurt Estep's cause.

"The big question is whether the organization, in making the appointment, is recognizing Cooper's loyalty in entering the contest or is hoping to persuade him to get out of it," said one politician.

WORDS FLY OVER IRON DEAL BY SUCCOP

Sale of city-owned material henceforth is to be by competitive bid.

Following a heated hearing, enlivened by a controversy between President of Council James F. Malone and Director of Supplies B. L. Succop, Council yesterday decided to push through an ordinance stopping private sales of scrap iron and other material and requiring bids.

The Malone-Succop melee started when the latter took exceptions to charges preferred by J. P. McCann, secretary of the United Iron and Metal Company, to the effect that his concern's bid of $865 for scrap iron at the filtration plant had been refused and the material sold to Joseph Mallinger for $162.

"The director told me he had to take care of his friends and that was the only reason he gave for refusing our offer," charged McCann.

Succop retaliated with the c that, when the offer was mad Cann knew the material ha sold and he would not have the money.

"He told me he was a p friend of the President of C cil, who would do anythin him," said Succop.

"When did he tell you tha snapped Malone.

"After your election. Before that he told me the same thing about President Winters, but Winters paid no attention to him. He told me that about the present president and here I am at this hearing."

"Let's look at this calmly," said Malone. "No one is trying to pick on you, Director."

"And I won't stand for it if they are," said Succop, heatedly, rising to his feet.

"I don't think the Director's accusations are worthy of a denial," said McCann.

Succop admitted that although $162 had been paid for the material on February 23, he did not turn the money over to the city controller or make a report until April 2. He added that he thought he was within his legal rights in keeping the money in his own safe, but that he had looked into the law and found that he "might" have been wrong.

Mallinger, he said when questioned, was the only firm to whom he had sold material on private sales. The councilmen admitted that he was within his legal rights, but felt that the system was wrong and should be changed.

DAUGHTER'S HOME

WOULD TAKE PARENTS' HOME

THE CAUSE

These modest buildings, the property of Adelbert B. Rohrbach, and his wife, Marie S. Rohrbach, at Hatteras and Froman streets, Troy Hill, are the pivot about which a most unusual story has turned. Mrs. Gertrude L. Braun, the Rohrbach's daughter who holds a mortgage of $6,500 over the property, has sought to evict her parents and brother and sister through foreclosure proceedings. A jury in Common Pleas Court decided in favor of the parents.

THE EFFECT

For many years Adelbert Rohrbach had a properous business. The daughter's action caused him to lose his health and his business. Doctors deplore of saving his life. Yet the daughter insisted on foreclosing the mortgage. Unable to live there, Rohrbach and his wife (above) rented the place and moved to humble, uncongenial surroundings. The daughter would take the revenue from the old home. Nathalia (above), another daughter, is still in school.

MEAN ABODE

Here, up dark steps and through narrow passage between two buildings, Adelbert Rohrbach, his wife and son and daughter, are forced to live. Mr. Rohrbach has lost his health and his voice and doctors say he cannot live. Mrs. Rohrbach is broken-hearted over her daughter's unnatural action. "Why, oh why, does she treat us so?" Mrs. Rohrbach sobbed. "It is unbelieveable!"

COMFORTABLE ABODE

Here, in the sunlight, with all modern conveniences and luxuries, lives Mrs. Gertrude L. Braun and the husband, A. E. Braun. Six years ago, the girl married 71-year-old August Braum, West Elizabeth, and he presented her with the mortgage he held on her parents' property. She left Braum three months later, he died the following year, and she married Braun. By pre-nuptial agreement, the court held, the parents were to retain possession of the property during life.

DAUGHTER AND HUBBY

"I'm not interested in them," Mrs. Gertrude L. Braun, 479 Norton street, Mt. Washington, said about her parents, when asked why she sought to evict them. Her husband advised her what to say and what not to say about the affair. Attorney Franklin A. Ammon represented the parents during the strife.

OCEAN CITY SET AFIRE

$200,000 BLAZE IS BLAMED ON INCENDIARY

International News Service.

OCEAN CITY, N. J., April 5.—The torch of a pyromaniac is believed to have been responsible for this resort's second disastrous fire along the boardwalk here within the last five months, which early today consumed two buildings and partially destroyed another, causing damage estimated at $200,000.

The Doughty and the Johnson buildings were destroyed and the Gardiner Building badly damaged as the flames raced along the boardwalk.

Fear gripped residents as police announced discovery of oil-soaked excelsior and other inflammable refuse at the scene of the fire. The blaze today was one block north of the supposed incendiary blaze which wiped out eight blocks last October, causing nearly $3,000,000 loss.

Mayor Champion and the city tax collector recently received letters in which the writer declared the "rest of the town" would be burned if the mercantile tax was passed by the city commissioners. City and police officials, however, scoff at the reference to the city tax and expressed the belief that the "firebug" is a "crank" who delights in seeing fires.

The flames today were discovered simultaneously under a Japanese casino and in the Doughty Building. An explosion shook buildings within several blocks.

A number of apartment houses were damaged by water and smoke and several occupants were rescued by firemen before the blaze was brought under control.

¶ —never before have you seen such a certificate published in a Pittsburgh newspaper.
¶ —never before have you seen U. S. Government "93" score butter publicly advertised—Why?
¶ evidently, because no one has ever had it in sufficient quantity to publicly advertise the fact.
¶ To the uninitiated, perhaps, the magic words—"U. S. Government '93' score butter" does not mean a great deal—
¶ but to the butter maker, to the butter dealer "93" score butter carries a world of meaning—it means a goal often sought but rarely attained—it means butter of superlative quality—than which there is no better.
¶ It does not mean "Extras" or "Fancy Extras" which are generally accepted as being the highest possible quality and score "92" by U. S. Government score. These really are very fine quality and are sold by only a very few stores.
¶ U. S. Government "93" score butter means that the store that offers you it is offering you the "ne plus ultra" of the butter maker's art.

FOUR ARRESTED IN AUTO THEFT RING

Wholesale theft of automobiles and auto parts in Pittsburgh is laid to three men arrested by city detectives late yesterday along with John Leck, 72, owner of a store at Freeport, who is alleged to have lent his store for the sale of the stolen machines.

Arthur Astridge, 32, of 522 Kendall street; William Newin, 42, of 6021 Kendall street, and Charles Hasselman, 27, of Dickson street, Homestead, were arrested by detectives tracing accessories worth more than $1,000, stolen last October from the automobile store of D. A. Gallagher, 5305 Duncan street.

Detectives Frank Malone and Michael Tortelli say they found much of the loot at Leck's store, and also uncovered the ring by which many cars were stolen in Pittsburgh, to be taken to Freeport, wrecked and sold for parts.

Some of the stolen cars, detectives say, were repainted and changed, and sold as second-hand machines. The men arrested were given hearings last night before Alderman F. T. Holleran and held for court.

For all this talk of divorce, there has been a tremendous increase in the happiness of home life."

COMMODORE VANDERBILT ACQUIRED THE NEW YORK AND HARLEM RAILROAD—128 MILES OF "JUNK," AS HE AFTERWARDS DESCRIBED IT. HE CALLED UPON DEPEW AND OFFERED HIM THE POSITION OF GENERAL COUNSEL AT A SALARY OF $7,500 A YEAR, BUT THE YOUNG LAWYER PROMPTLY INFORMED THE FINANCIER THAT HE WAS TO RECEIVE A MUCH HIGHER SALARY AS MINISTER TO JAPAN.

"IT'S UP TO YOU," VANDERBILT REPLIED. "RAILROADS ARE THE CAREER FOR A YOUNG MAN. THERE IS NOTHING IN POLITICS. DON'T MAKE A FOOL OF YOURSELF."

DEPEW TOOK THE JOB

Some of his beliefs on business and the United States included:

"Our natural wealth is greater than that of all Europe and is owned, in a greater or less degree, by an overwhelming percentage of our population.

"The greatest and most beneficient change which has occurred in our time is the improvement of the relations between capital and labor."

"Most successful men have owed their success to their absolute confidence in the future of the United States."

HIS FIRST MEETING WITH PRESIDENT LINCOLN OCCURRED DURING THE CIVIL WAR. HE HAD GONE TO WASHINGTON ON A MISSION CONNECTED WITH THE NEW YORK NATIONAL GUARD, BUT UPON ENTERING THE WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION ROOM AND SEEING THE KIND-HEARTED PRESIDENT SURROUNDED BY SCORES OF OFFICE-SEEKERS AND OTHER FAVOR-HUNTERS, DEPEW TURNED TO GO.

"JUST A MOMENT, YOUNG MAN," SAID TH PRESIDENT, "WHAT DID YOU WANT?"

"NOTHING," REPLIED THE NEW YORKER.

"WELL, THIS IS A LUXURY," LINCOLN REPLIED. "NO ONE HAS EVER BEEN HERE BEFORE THAT DIDN'T WANT SOMETHING. I WISH YOU WOULD REMAIN UNTIL I HAVE ATTENDED TO THE WANTS OF THESE PEOPLE, FOR I WOULD LIKE TO TALK TO YOU."

The Montauk Club of Brooklyn marked time for him by giving a dinner in his honor on every birthday for nearly 30 years. The extent of his participation in notable dinners was emphasized in 1910, when it was found that eight large volumes were required to contain his speeches, which were published in a private de luxe edition at that time.

AS A LAWYER HE EARNED HIS FIRST FEE—$1.75—FOR AN OPINION THAT REQUIRED SEVERAL DAYS TO PREPARE.

Depew gave up red meat because it didn't agree with him. He had to give up tea. He gave up champagne. Then in his ninety-second year he had to give up coffee.

But he said it was worth it.

ONE OF HIS FAVORITE ADMONITIONS WAS:

"HAVE A HOBBY, BUT NEVER A FAD."

"KEEP FAITH, HAVE HOPE AND BE CHARITABLE TO ALL," WAS ANOTHER.

Explaining his rules for eating, he said:

"I have never experimented with strange foods. My health and longevity are due, more than anything else, to the fact that I have been very careful what goes inside of me. At a very large dinner I do not take the oysters. I merely touch the soup. I skip the fish. I skip all dishes upon which the chef has exhausted his art. I eat the roast, if it is lamb or a fowl, and skip it if it is beef. If there is terrapin, I take that because it is very digestible, and I take the game. I do not smoke and I never drink anything but champagne, and very little of that. The next day everything with me, head and vitality, is as usual. There never was a man yet whom drink did not dull or deaden."

"Flapperism" held no terror for him:

"The younger generations always have been about alike. Flapperism is a style, I think. I have gone through the period when the glory of a woman was to have her hair down to her heels. That will come again. I have seen the hoopskirts, the bustles, the wasp waist which ruined the digestion of the women at the time, and I feel no terror about flapperism."

Three gems from his views on life:

"THINGS THAT MAKE YOU UNHAPPY SELDOM HAPPEN."

"If there is anything you like too much it is well to watch it."

HE MOURNED THE LOSS OF CUPID'S ALLY, THE HORSE AND BUGGY, AS THE AUTO "ARRIVED."

"THE AUTOMOBILE HAS WIPED OUT ONE PICTURESQUE, CHARMING AND DELIGHTFUL FEATURE OF AMERICAN LIFE AND THAT IS THE FAMILY HORSE. THE FAMILY HORSE AND BUGGY DID MORE THAN ANY OTHER ONE THING TO PROMOTE MATRIMONY AND HAPPY DOMESTIC LIFE."

"the Liberty Bridge saves us money"! Yellow Cab.. users report

YELLOW Cab users in the South Hills tell us the new Liberty Bridge has cut the cost of Yellow Cab rides to Dormont, Mt. Lebanon, Beechview, Brookline and other sections reached via the new bridge and the tubes.

Some report savings of 20 cents per trip, others 10 cents, while some go even higher than 20 cents.

The difference in cost is due to the elimination of traffic jams. Traffic tie-ups over the Smithfield Street bridge were constant with resultant waiting time expense.

Now all this is over. You can get to and from the South Hills sections in Yellow Cabs more quickly and more conveniently......and while we can't guarantee a definite saving, the free flow of traffic is pretty good insurance that you'll ride for less than you did around the old way.

An Announcement by the NEW MANAGEMENT of the WILLIAM PENN and FORT PITT HOTELS

THE EPPLEY HOTELS COMPANY, the new owner, has now taken over the management of the William Penn and Fort Pitt Hotels. With the completion of the six-hundred room annex to the William Penn Hotel, scheduled for the latter part of this year, and the redecoration and refurnishing of the Fort Pitt Hotel, already an accomplished fact, the two hotels will be on a par with the finest in the country. These improvements will help us carry out an ambitious program of usefulness to the people of Pittsburgh and to the traveling public.

Eppley Hotels have long enjoyed a reputation for hospitality. To establish that same reputation in our Pittsburgh hotels, it is our intention to provide a comfortable, friendly place for travelers, characterized by many refinements of service and every consideration for their convenience; to provide adequate convention accommodations commensurate with the vast industrial importance of Pittsburgh; and finally to provide for the people of Pittsburgh a center for community life, an attractive and interesting rendezvous for the socially inclined, a convenient meeting place for luncheon clubs, business conferences, and other groups.

That the Eppley Hotels Company desires to serve the people of Pittsburgh and those who visit here in a hospitable and efficient manner, will be evidenced by the pleasant welcome and the alert, courteous attention of every employee in our organization. However, we do not ask you to judge us by our promises, but by our performance. While the transfer of management takes place today without ceremony or interruption of service, within a short time, we earnestly believe, the people of Pittsburgh will realize that this change marked the beginning of a new era in the hotel history of the city.

300 COLLEGIANS IN PAGEANT

The Rev. John F. Malloy and Prof. Paul G. Sullivan, both of the English faculty of Duquesne University, have just finished writing, in collaboration, the golden jubilee pageant of the university, which will be produced as one of the chief features of the fiftieth anniversary celebration to take place during commencement week at the close of the present school year.

The piece, entitled "The Spirit Giveth Life," will represent allegorically the foundation of the various schools of the university and the work they have accomplished.

The pageant will be the students' chief contribution to the jubilee celebration. A large cast, probably 300, will be required to produce it. Tryouts will be held immediately after the Easter holidays. Dr. Clinton E. Lloyd, dean of the drama school, will direct the pageant.

SEYBOLD HEADS CITY'S NEW BUREAU

The appointment of P. D. Seybold, of 816 South Evaline street, as supervisor of the newly created Bureau for the Handicapped, and of Miss Bertha M. Lichnovsky, of 5521 Fifth avenue, as field worker, were announced last night by Mrs. Enoch Rauh, head of the Department of Welfare.

The bureau will start functioning April 16 in rooms 808-809 City-County Building, Mrs. Rauh said, adding that the bureau will face one of the hardest tasks of social service, especially when the amount of unemployment among normal people is unusually large.

Data from other cities, Mrs. Rauh said indicates that if positions were obtained for 25 per cent of the handicapped persons who apply, the work is considered successful. She added that, through the co-operation of Dr. Frank W. Leavitt of the Board of Education, classes will be organized for handicapped persons seeking special training.

The supervisor will get $3,000 a year and the field worker $2,400.

DRY AGENTS RAID HOME STILLS; GET WOMAN

When prohibition agents raided the home of Mrs. Concetia Mascata at 54 Frazier street, McKees Rocks, yesterday, they say they found her busily working at a five-gallon still. Besides the still the agents said they discovered a barrel of mash and a gallon of moonshine. Mrs. Mascata, alone in the house, was arrested.

Adjoining dwellings in Bustrick way also were raided, a small still being discovered, agents say, at each house. Joseph Mowa was arrested at 1015 Bustrick way and Tony di Panto at 1017.

Other places reported raided, the material confiscated and those arrested, were: Dwelling at 1313 Collier street, 150-gallon still, 45 gallons of moonshine, 19 barrels of mash, Rosario Battalo; 2616 Fifth avenue, second floor rear, two barrels beer, F. C. Maher, and 2246 Bedford avenue, 100-gallon still and 65 gallons of moonshine, Samuel Dotson.

When the children cough, rub Musterole on their throats and chests. No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt relief.

As first aid, Musterole is excellent. Keep a jar ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. KIDNAPED BOY FEARED SLAIN

BODY WRAPPED IN PAPER GIVES POLICE CLUE

LOS ANGELES, April 5.—(AP)—The disappearance of a 9-year-old Los Angeles boy almost a month ago, coupled with reports of a mysterious automobile bearing the newspaper-wrapped body of a boy about the streets of the city, developed into what police today believed was a kidnaping coup, executed for the sake of vengeance.

The vengeance motive entered into the case yesterday when police announced they had been given a letter, written by Walter J. S. Collins, father of the boy, in Folsom Prison to his wife here suggesting that enmity might have provoked the kidnaping of the youth, Walter Collins.

Why the youth or his mother should be victimized was not revealed and the letter was not made public. The elder Collins is serving a long term sentence in Folsom for robbery.

Indiana Should Run Humorists, Says Col. Will

WILL ROGERS

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 5.—Indiana is noted for its great crop of humorists, George Ade, Kin Hubbard and a flock of others. Indianians jealous of these mens' reputations used to say, "We have people in Indiana besides humorists." And sure enough they did have, but they were all in jail but the humorists. So why don't they elect some of them. George Ade would redeem your state in national esteem. He is a graduate of Purdue, a university that can't beat Amherst doing anything. You would have to draft him the same as the Republicans will do with Coolidge. Abe Martin for Lt. Gov. in case Ade laughed himself to death when he saw the inside workings of the state. Yours for candidates that can win.

WILL ROGERS.

GAS EXPLOSION WRECKS WALL

Residents of the 1500 block, Spring Garden avenue, were awakened early this morning by a gas explosion which occurred in an alley in the rear of 1516 and 1518 Spring Garden avenue, which damaged a retaining wall in the front of the two houses. The wall was cracked and fell into the yards of the houses occupied by Mrs. Robert Nill at 2116 Spring Garden avenue.

WIDOW ASKS $35,000 FOR MINE BLAST DEATH

Adda M. Beck has brought suit against the Valley Camp Coal Company for $35,000 damages for the loss of her husband, killed in the explosion of the company's Kinloch mine, near Arnold, February 20, the first day he worked there. It is averred in the bill of particulars filed in Common Pleas Court, that the explosion was the direct result of the wilful neglect of the company to properly equip the mine with machinery necessary to prevent sparks from being generated from electrical devices on motors and cutting machines.

HIT-RUN DRIVER KILLS BOY

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 5.—All Washington joined today in the search for the hit-and-run driver who last night killed John Haney, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Haney, who reside just north of this city.

A woman is said to have stepped from the car long enough to toss the crushed body of the child to one side of the highway. She then got back into the machine and it sped away.

Don't Be "Skinny" and Scrawny!

Build Up Weight in 3 Weeks With New Combination of YEAST and IRON—or Pay Nothing

No Woman is Beautiful Who is Skinny

Underweight People Lack Pep, Vitality and Charm

Pleasant Because Tasteless

"I Gained 10 Pounds"

"For over a year I had no energy or ambition. My complexion was muddy. I could not sleep at night. I fell off in weight until I was but a shadow of my former self. After taking one treatment of IRONIZED YEAST I feel like a new woman. My complexion has cleared up wonderfully. I have gained 10 pounds and I am full of energy."—(Mrs.) M. B., Chicago, Ill.

It seems incredible how fast IRONIZED YEAST adds pounds of good firm flesh—on women and men, children and old people. Doctors know the value of vegetable iron and yeast in building up and improving the body. IRONIZED YEAST, in a highly concentrated form, contains all the blood-building properties of vegetable iron with yeast.

New Complexion For You

People ask—what is the magic in IRONIZED YEAST that transforms sallow, lifeless, faded complexions into the fresh, smooth, lovely skin of early girlhood? Wrinkles disappear. Eyes renew the sparkle of youth. Hollows fill out.

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening value of Yeast. That's why IRONIZED YEAST works so quickly. So get a generous test treatment—nice, tasty tablets in a handy bottle. No nasty, pasty taste. Do not cause gas or bloating. Safe for everybody—containing no harmful drugs.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Go to any drug store and get a full size treatment. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with effects, ask for your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 319-E.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal—Copyright I. Lenten Sermonette

By HENRY LINFORD KRAUSE, Pastor of Reformed Church of the Ascension.

WHO ART THOU, JESUS?

Jesus! Art thou a myth, deceiver of heart and mind these many years, false nourisher of faith, hope and love in God and man? How odd we continue to study and write and talk more about thee than any other person or interest!

Art thou a freak of nature, swept into a strain of ancient blood by accident of mechanistic universe, sent to scorn and torment the frailties of flesh we must accept? Strange that we feel the silent impulses of thy love and power within a weakening zeal; and pray to thee!

Art thou a lucky paragon, born with perfect glands, free of mental complexes, and swept above the sordid clash of human woe by health and health alone? Bewildering phenomenon to choose the bitter cup of death at 33 and dream of kneeling worshippers!

Continue on thy way, myth, deceiver, lucky paragon! Whatever thou art, shrines and temples still arise to bless thy coming; little children learn to love thy tenderness; and when the shadows of night creep over the closing day of life, we shall sink into the golden dream built of thee and trust to know who thou art beyond all doubt. Until then, we shall work, play, love and worship believing more than we may know or see, believing where we cannot prove.

BROOKSIDE TO HONOR TWO KILLED IN BLAZE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., April 5.—(AP.)—Business activities will be suspended Friday afternoon in tribute to two volunteer firemen of Brookside killed in a fire here Tuesday. Joint funeral services will be held at Brookside.

WOULD BAR ARMS IN INTERSTATE TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(AP.)—A bill to regulate interstate shipments of firearms and ammunition was introduced yesterday by Representative Crail, (Rep.), California. The measure would prohibit their transportation from one state to another except for military and official purposes.

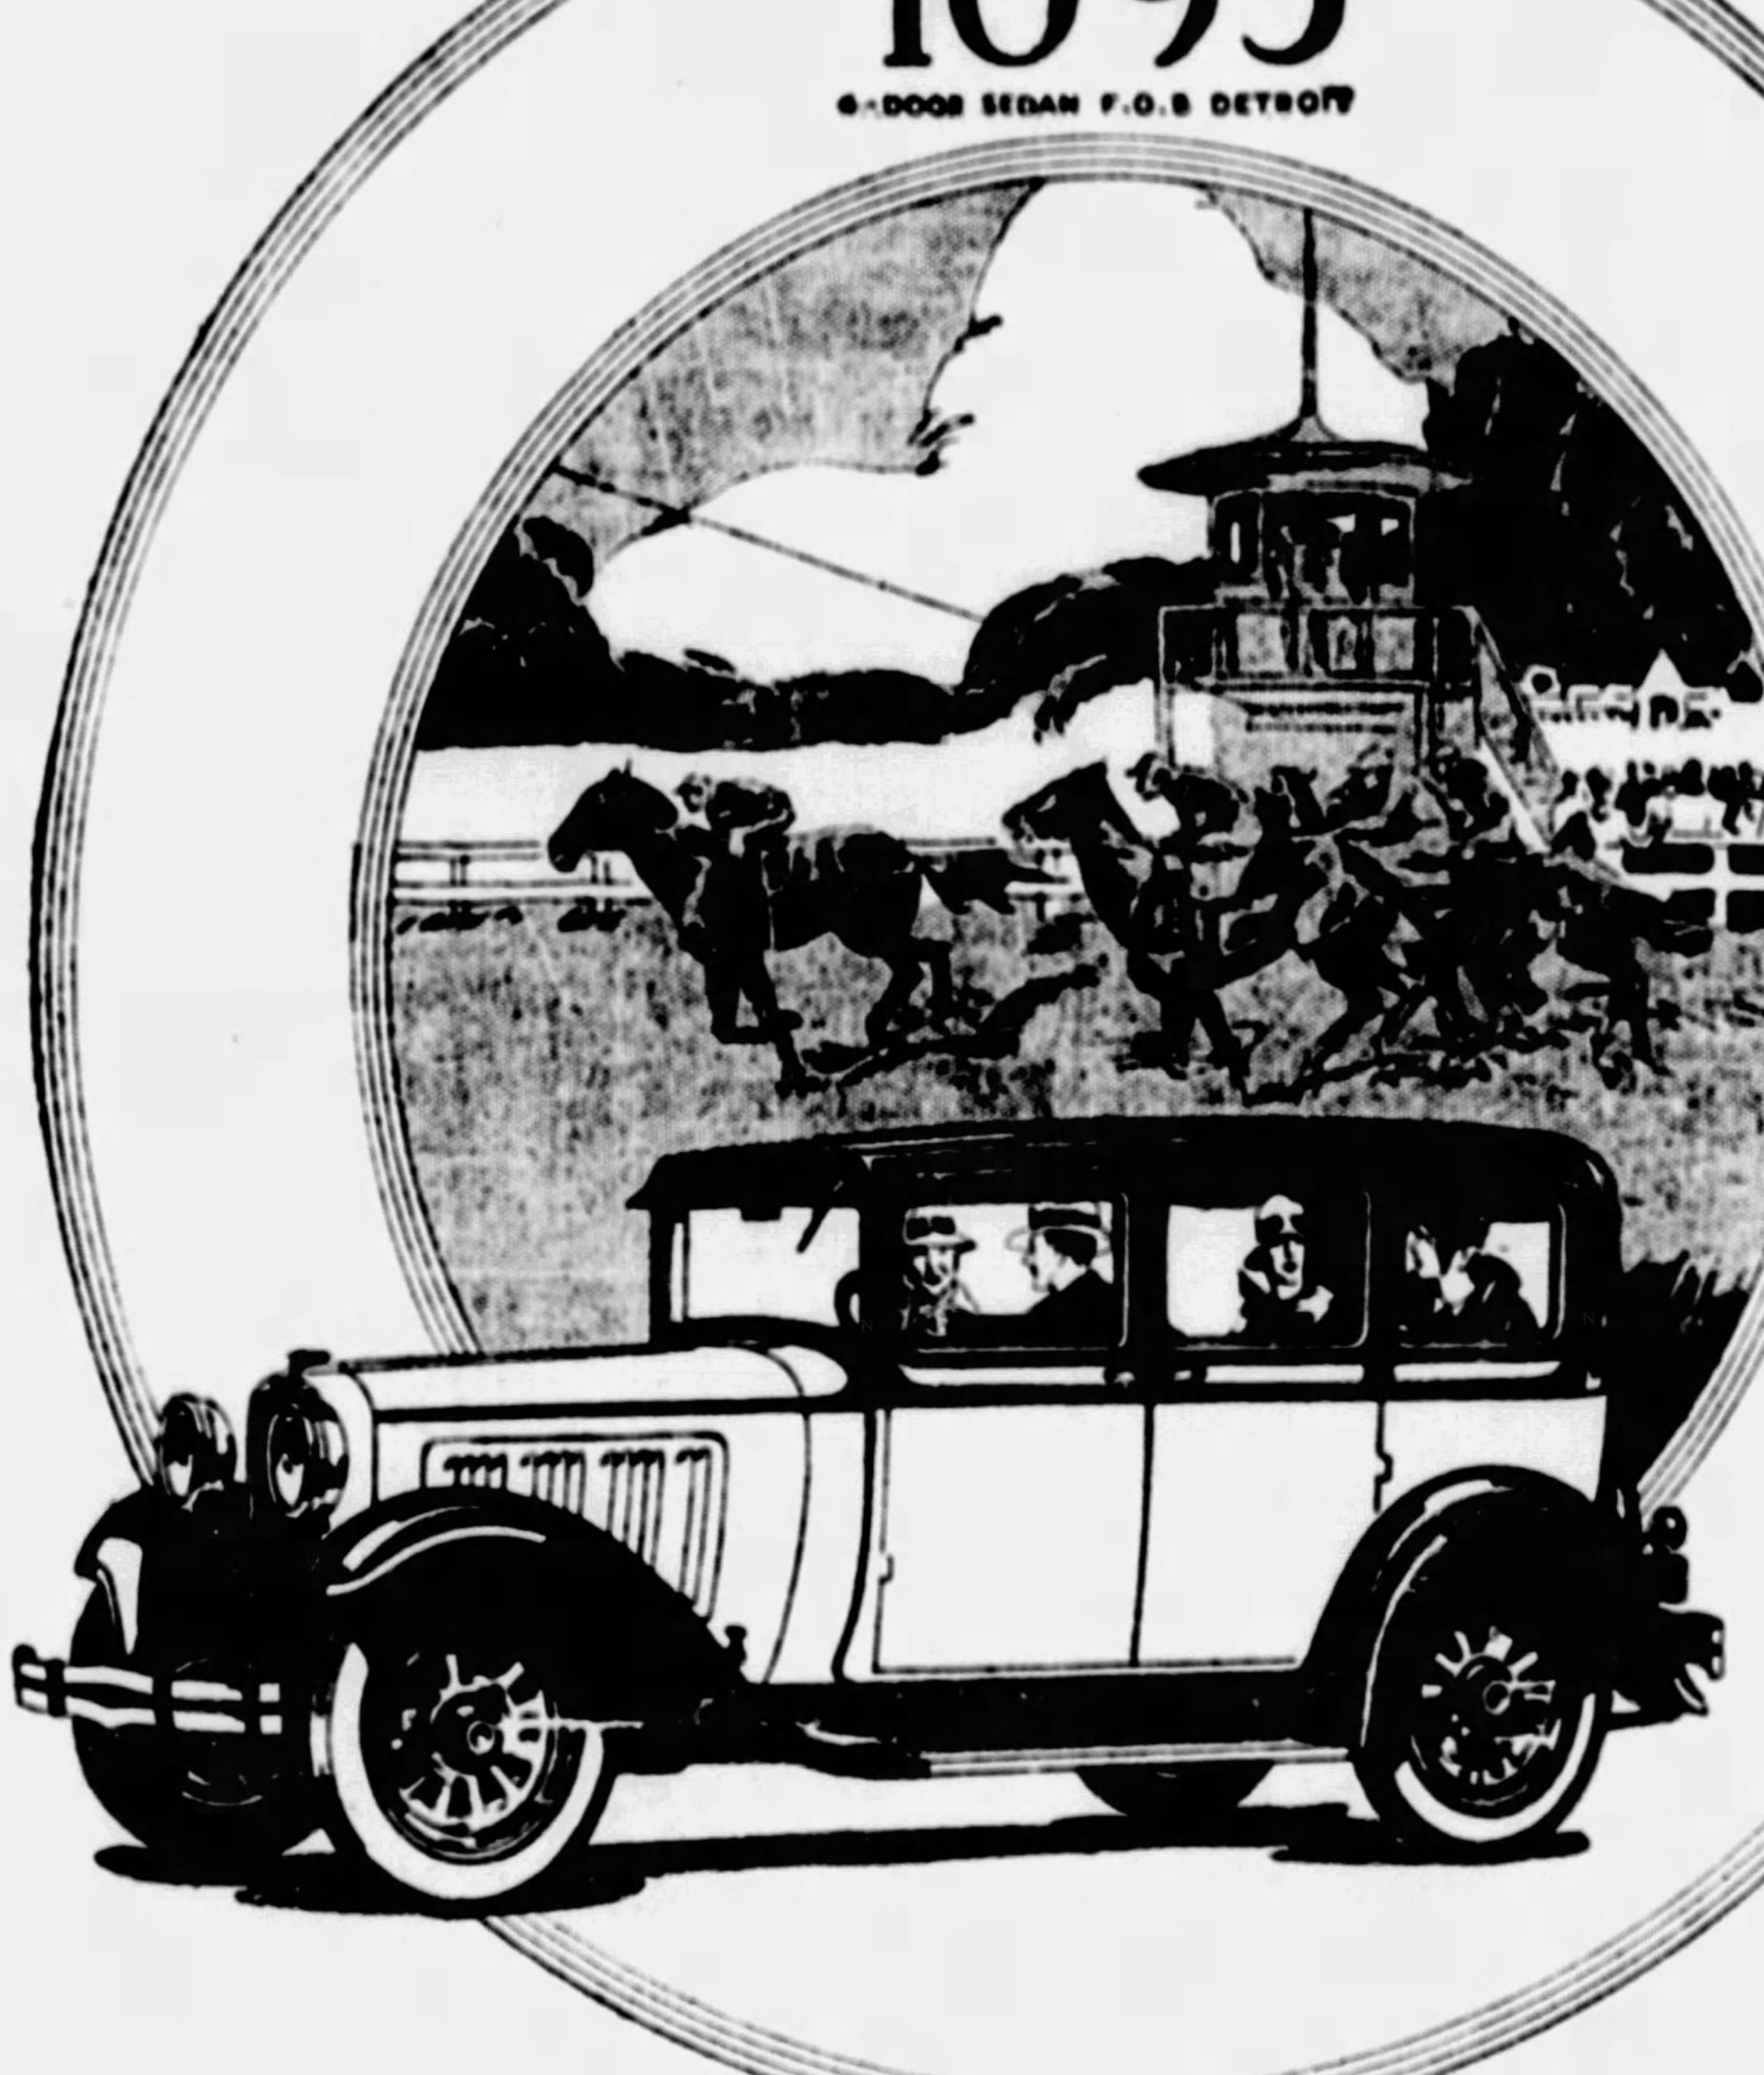
4-DOOR SEDAN F.O.B. DETROIT



First at the get-away First on the straight-away

No car in the Victory price class can match the all around brilliance of Victory performance.

The Victory is first at the get-away and first on the straight-away—faster on the hills, faster in traffic—smoother on rough roads.

And accelerates as no other car at the price has EVER done: 5 to 25 miles in 7¼ seconds! 10 to 45 miles in 13½ seconds!

The public discovered all this even as the stop watch proved it.

More power per pound of car weight made it possible. Rugged Dodge construction made it practical. And the Victory's unusual design made it SAFE.

For the Victory gravity center is lower and there is no body overhang . . . . The chassis frame is the full width of the body—and the body sills are eliminated.

Exceptional charm of line and more headroom and seat width are further vital results of this unique construction.

Drive the car today and make your own comparisons.

The Plays Stage and Screen And Players

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

AMUSEMENTS VARIED

Seats are on sale for "The Love Call," which begins its engagement in the Alvin Tuesday night. It will play matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Berna Deane is the prima donna. Sigmund Romberg wrote the music.

"Take My Advice," the opening attraction of the George Sharp Players in the Pitt, Monday, is from the pen of Elliott Lester. The play has for its hero a man who is long on theories and short on practical experience. Ralph Morgan and Anne Forrest will play the leads.

The aerial situations in "Wings," which begins a limited engagement in the Nixon next Monday night, with matinees daily thereafter, were enacted by men who had been fliers in the World War. John Monk Saunders, who wrote the story, and William Wellman, the director, were airmen in the World War. The cast is headed by Clara Bow, Charles Rogers, Richard Arlen and Jobyna Ralston. Seats are on sale.

Billy and Elsie Newell, who will appear in the vaudeville program at the Davis next week, are sister and brother. When they went on the stage they disguised this fact by calling themselves Newell and Most.

The Aldine will have as an entertainer on its stage next week James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champion of the world, who appears with Bobby Barry in a comedy act.

Clara Bow, the madcap of the screen, in "Red Hair," new picturization of the American flapper, is booked for the Stanley next week. She has the role of Bubbles McCoy, a manicure.

Attractions in Loew's Penn next week include a photoplay, William Haines in "The Smart Set" and stage show, "Sun Shades," featuring Joe Jackson, tramp comedian.

Jack LaMonte, Irish tenor, is with "Merry Whirl," next week's attraction at the Academy. He sings ballads and popular songs.

The vaudeville feature in the Harris next week is "Tango Shoes," a pair of shoes mechanically fixed to make anyone an excellent dancer. The screen feature is "Alex The Great," with "Skeets" Gallagher as the star.

Harold Lloyd will be seen in the Grand next week in "Speedy."

Victor McLaglen in "A Girl in Every Port," comes to the Olympic for one week, beginning April 9.

Roscoe Ails and his company is a booking at the Sheridan Square next week. The two screen features will be "Woman Wise," featuring William Russell, and "The Leopard Lady," featuring Jacqueline Logan.

Western

BERNA DEANE

Miss Deane is prima donna of "The Love Call," coming next week to the Alvin. The operetta, with Sigmund Romberg music, is a musical version of the western melodrama, "Arizona."

The Audience Is the Soil In Which Actor's Art Grows, Is Craven's View of Films

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

FRANK CRAVEN, author and star of "The 19th Hole," is one actor who has never appeared in moving pictures and probably never will. He has been on the stage since he was three years old—he went on first as one of the children in "The Silver King," in Boston, where he was born—and the spoken drama seems to him like home. He cannot think of himself away from the audience.

"There," he said, "is the real reason why the pictures can never drive out the actors. Not even if they perfect the vitaphone idea and have the figures on the screen talking as they would in real life, can the picture do away with the human personality.

"It's like pulling up a plant by its roots. The plant will look all right for a day or two; then it will begin to dry up and wither and die. It has been removed from contact with the soil in which the sap of life resides. The audience is the soil in which the actor has his roots. Take him away from that soil, and he soon dries up—he gets into a rut—he learns nothing new—his contact with the life-giving humanity of the audience is broken. He gets into a routine—his dependence is on the director who does the thinking for him—and after awhile he is no longer an actor, he is just a gentleman getting his picture taken and looking pleasant at the photographer's command.

"At any rate, that's how I feel about it," concluded Mr. Craven. "I don't consider myself anybody of particular importance, and maybe that's why I like to keep in close touch with my helpful friends on the other side of the footlights. Their interest and their laughs tell me a lot about my play or my acting. It's from them I learn, every day in every way. In the pictures I could only forget—and acquire a mechanical carelessness that would be like the plant drying up when away from the soil."

Frank Craven has the true instinct of the theater, as might be expected, for he comes of a theatrical family, both his father and mother being honored members of the profession. It was his mother's theatrical instinct that caused her, on her deathbed, to advise her son to accept the part of Brother Jimmy in "Bought and Paid For," the first role in which he made a hit. Rehearsals were scheduled to begin in Pittsburgh. "Accept the part," she said. "You'll have an assured future if you get a chance at that part. And by the time those rehearsals open, I'll be out of the way."

The dying woman saw the future clearly. She was buried before the rehearsals began. And her son did make the hit she had foreseen in "Bought and Paid For." It paved the way for his own venture in his own first play, "Too Many Cooks."

IRISH MINSTRELS OPEN ENGAGEMENT SUNDAY

Emmett Moore and his Irish Minstrels will open an engagement in "A Night in Ireland" in the Epiphany Auditorium Sunday night. The presentation includes the showing of a seven-reel motion picture of Irish life, followed by the appearance of the minstrels, who will dance and sing. Jack Olcott, Irish tenor; Eileen O'Dare, harpist, and Nora O'Connell, heralded as Ireland's champion step dancer, will be featured. A playlet also will be presented.

Neighbors Assist Langdon Film Comedy

Harry Langdon has found one location for a production that has proven itself to be of inestimable value. It is in the heart of the residential section of Hollywood, where all the neighbors are apparently trying to outdo one another in assisting the funster make his picture.

When a "prop" is needed in a hurry, one of the property men will make a dash for a house, either across the street from location or adjoining the set, and will return with the desired piece of merchandise.

Cakes and coffee are an afternoon event on the set, served by one of the neighbors, who, it is stated, jokingly phoned to a friend in a distant part of town and advised that she was "helping Mr. Langdon make his current production."

Griffith to Put Amebas on Screen

HOLLYWOOD, April 5.—Love scenes between amebas, microscopically enlarged 5,000 times, will form the novel introduction to D. W. Griffith's new film, "The Battle of the Sexes," being made at the United Artists studio.

The ameba, described as one-cell organisms of which there are billions to a drop of water, are to be photographed in cooperation with the biology department of a local university. They are to be employed in an allegorical sense, illustrating the fact that love exists in even the lowest forms of animal life.

"The Battle of the Sexes" will have a cast composed of Jean Hersholt, Phyllis Haver, Belle Bennett and Sally O'Neil, and will be a somewhat modernized version of the four-reel picture of the same title made by Griffith in 1913.

SWEDISH GOVERNMENT TO RETAIN COAL MINES

STOCKHOLM, April 5.—(AP.)—The Swedish coal mines on Spitzbergen, containing an estimated reserve of 1,200,000,000 tons, will remain in Swedish hands, the Riksdag having voted overwhelmingly for a new government loan.

After a fire in the mines two years ago, operations were suspended and it was proposed to dispose of the mines. However, in view of a possible coal shortage, it was felt that Sweden should keep these natural resources, especially since fuel oil may be distilled from the coal.

LEGION AIDES GIVE RADIO TO VETERANS' HOSPTAL

A radio set was presented the veterans at the Marine Hospital yesterday by the Sewickley Valley Auxiliary No. 4 of the American Legion. The set was presented by Mrs. Harold Grubbs, president of the auxiliary, and accepted by Col. C. M. Gardner, in charge of the hospital.

DR. PATTERSON, 'COUNTED OUT,' RUNS AGAIN

Pledging his support for all legislation that would assure "an honest vote and count," Dr. B. H. Patterson of Wilkinsburg today announced the platform on which he is seeking election as representative in the General Assembly from the Tenth district.

Dr. Patterson, who served in France during the World War, was a member of the Legislature during the sessions of 1923 and 1925. In 1926, seeking re-nomination, he lost out in a close fight which resulted in open charges that he had been "counted out."

Dr. Patterson cited the fact that Wilkinsburg, with 30,000 population, as well as the entire northeastern part of the Tenth district, is without representation at Harrisburg.

"On moral issues dealing with law enforcement my vote always had been four square," he said. "I have worked to protect the industries of my district and state. I have voted for progressive school legislation and for all humane legislation to give a square deal to working men and women and for the best interests of all veterans."

MAN PERISHES IN BRUSH FIRE

HAZLETON, Pa., April 5.—(AP.)—Andrew Wydock, 73, who lived on an isolated farm near Pond Creek, was burned to death late yesterday in a fire which he had started while clearing brush on his farm.

State towermen watching for forest fires, observed the fire and notified Forester Shellhammer, who went to the scene to investigate. He found the body burned to a crisp. It is not known if the aged farmer got too near the blaze and his clothing ignited or whether he suffered a stroke and fell into the flames.

What's Best For Acid Stomach?

Nearly all stomach troubles—indigestion, sourness, gas, bloating and pain are caused by "too much acid" in the stomach.

Artificial digestants are not needed and may prove harmful. Neutralize the Stomach Acid, sweeten the stomach and then pain, sourness and gas will stop and your food will digest properly and naturally.

From May Drug Co. or the nearest drug store, get a little Bisurated Magnesia—either powder or tablets. Do not confuse with liquid Citrate Magnesia or Milk Magnesias that are strongly laxative. Insist on Bisurated Magnesia, especially prepared for neutralizing acid stomach and promoting healthy natural digestion. For quick positive relief from Acid Stomach troubles

SEES THE BRIGHT SIDE OF LIFE NOW

Pittsburgh Lady Relates How Ten Herbs Banished Years of Suffering.

"Ten Herbs proved to be just the medicine my system needed, and I cannot praise it enough, after what it has done for me," was the statement of Mrs. Robert Gamble, 712 Oakwood Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this popular medicine. "I do not worry any more, as life looks brighter," Mrs. Gamble continued.

MRS. ROBERT GAMBLE

"I had suffered with my stomach for years, and got so bad that I had to be very careful what I ate. The lightest kind of food would cause gas and bloating. Food did not give me proper nourishment, and my system finally became very much weakened and run down. Every afternoon I had a gnawing feeling in my stomach and it was not relieved until I ate a couple of mouthfuls of food. Any little exertion would cause me to get short of breath. I lost weight, and was on the verge of having a nervous breakdown. My nerves were so unstrung that the least noise would make me jump. I was always constipated and my liver was very inactive. I had dizzy spells and sieges of terrible headaches that would last for several days. My complexion was sallow. I lost all ambition and sometimes felt that life was not worth living.

"I tried many kinds of medicines, but never got satisfactory results, until I started taking Ten Herbs. Your medicine put my stomach in such good condition that I can eat anything I want without distress. Gas does not form, and I do not have shortness of breath. I sleep soundly, as my nerves are quiet. My bowels are regular, and my liver is working properly. I have not had a bilious attack, dizzy spell, or headache since I began using Ten Herbs. I arise in the morning feeling as though I had gained strength during the night. I have gained in every way, and feel like a new woman. Friends remark about the change in me, and I tell them that Ten Herbs did it, and I gladly endorse your medicine to the public."

A door-step was her cradle —and happiness came too late!

POOR little outcast! Other girls in the home called themselves only "half-orphans," because they had a mother or a father to come and see them.

But Maurine had no one, and everybody called her a "whole orphan."

Visitors' Day—the day that brought candy and smiles and kisses to all the others, to her brought only loneliness and heartache.

She even thought her alluring, timid beauty must be ugliness, since they all seemed to hate her for it!

Years passed and they found her a home . . . with a work-weary doctor and his spoiled, bored, unfaithful wife.

So this was the glamorous world she had dreamed about! A good, kind man bowed down by work and worry—how Maurine adored him!—and tending the sick while his wife received a lover!

All before her eyes, but she dared not tell!

Until one day—a terrible scene. She heard the doctor's cold, bitter words accusing his wife—and then the woman's voice—

"I tell you it's your darling little orphan that brought him here!"

Too bewildered to defend herself, she had to go.

Nothing seemed to matter after that. Nothing in life seemed true. And then, when she found the guilty man pursuing her—

But we cannot tell you this wonderful true story as Maurine herself tells it in the May number of TRUE STORY magazine.

It is the true story of her life—"such a pathetic little life, now that I have time to think of it," she writes.

Read this vivid, gripping story—"When a Girl Doesn't Know"—with 13 other great stories and exclusive features—in May TRUE STORY—now on the stands. Get your copy today.

THE DIARY OF TWO MILLION PEOPLE

Perhaps in your world, experiences like Maurine's do not happen—yet they do happen—and how much richer life is when a big part of it is in knowing and understanding the experiences of others!

That is why TRUE STORY magazine means so much to the 2 million people who read it. For these are the people who tell of their problems and greatest experiences, who pour out their inmost thoughts and feelings in TRUE STORY'S unforgettable pages. No American home should be without this great magazine.

TRUE STORY is helpful because it is genuine and real. It is frank because life is frank—and many of life's greatest problems and bitterest misfortunes are the result of ignorance and concealment.

TRUE STORY is the greatest of all magazines for young men and women, young married people, and parents—because its sincere, vivid pages teach a better understanding of life through the lives of others.

It is the diary of 2 million real people! Read it today!

WARD BANDITS' AUTOMOBILE FOUND IN DUQUESNE

ASK MEDAL FOR MARINE HERO

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(AP.)—The Congressional medal or honor would be awarded to Capt. G. D. Hatfield of the Marine Corps under a bill introduced today by Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico.

The bill recites that Hatfield is entitled to the award "in view of extraordinary herosim in action on July 16, 1927 while he was in command of a small force of Marines at Ocotal, Nicaragua."

Sandino sent a flag of truce and demanded surrender, but instead Hatfield sent word that "the Marines never surrender" and the fighting continued. About two hours later two Marine planes observed the situation and, after obtaining aid from Managua, bombed Sandino's forces until they withdrew.

BANK CHANGES NAME TO ALIQUIPPA NATIONAL

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., April 5.—The First National Bank of Woodlawn today became the Aliquippa National Bank, the change having been authorized by the comptroller of currency. With the consolidation of Aliquippa and Woodlawn under the borough name of Aliquippa, stockholders of the bank approved the change of name. A new banking house is being erected at Franklin avenue and Church street.

DETECTIVES HOT ON ROBBERS' TRAIL

County detectives were believed on the trail of the Ward Baking Company bandits today with announcement by Chief George W. Murren that the sedan in which the robbers fled had been found abandoned in Duquesne.

Finding of the car, coupled with the discovery Tuesday of the empty coin bag which had contained the robbers' loot, $5,500 cash and $11,000 checks, in a woods near Kennywood Park, caused detectives to redouble their efforts in the vicinity of Duquesne.

The machine bore Pennsylvania license plates 842-480, identical with the number noted on the car which sped away from Thirty-first street and Spring way, last Monday after the robbers had held up two men carrying baking company deposits to the Franklin Savings and Trust Company.

The car had been stolen from the Hillman Coal and Coke Company, with offices in the First National Bank Building, detectives said.

CUMBERLAND BANKER DIES IN WASHINGTON

CUMBERLAND, Md., April 5.—Frederick Mertens, Sr., 84, formerly a leading banker and businessman of this city, died yesterday at Garfield Memorial Hospital, Washington. In recent years he had operated a boat line between Washington and Marshall Hall.

TRANSFER TROOPERS FROM BUTLER STATION

BUTLER, Pa., April 5.—Corp. W. W. Peck, state trooper, attached to the Wesleyville station, has been named to succeed Corp. W. J. Constantine of Butler barracsk, who has been transferred to Warren. Troopers J. V. Baker and P. J. Faranek will go to New Eagle and Brownsville, respectively.

THREE WOMEN, MAN FILE DIVORCE LIBELS

Libels in divorce have been filed in Common Pleas Court before Judge James H. Gray as follows: Thersia Jurison of 703 Hickory street, Braddock, against William J. Jurison, cruel and barbarous treatment; Lucille L. Gardner of 1218 Illinois avenue, Dormont, against William T. Gardner, desertion; Margaret Dunmyer of 26 East Marshall avenue, against Claude Dunmyer, cruel and barbarous treatment, and Cecilia Boslow of 73 Cherry street, Whitaker, against Edward Boslow, desertion.

300 SWILL PIGS MAY LOSE OUT

Three hundred pigs, working in eight-hour shifts to dispose of garbage collected in Wilmerding, will be looking elsewhere for employment if S. T. Barnes and William Hinkel, citizens of the borough, are successful in obtaining an injunction restraining the borough officers from carrying out a contract with David H. Chambers for the collection of the refuse.

Barnes and Hinkel, citizens of the borough, have petitioned for the injunction in Common Pleas Court on the grounds that the contract was not awarded to the lowest bidder.

Chambers, in court, testified that he has 300 pigs which eat the garbage, 100 at a time in eight-hour stages. At night he has the pens illuminated with electric lights.

WITNESS WHO SENT 2 TO DEATH HELD IN RUM CASE

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 5.—Alfonse Halifrone, Canonsburg Italian, whose testimony sent two Blackhanders to the electric chair, was arrested last night for bootlegging. State highway patrolmen took 20 gallons of whisky from his car near Hendersonville, they reported. A few years ago Halifrone, who confessed being a Blackhander, testified against Marcantonio Daniel and Antonio Fragassa, of Canonsburg, in a Blackhand case and both were executed.

S.S.S.
the great tonic

Growing Children

sometimes require a tonic as do their elders

The physical welfare of the child is being given more attention by school authorities. Failure to keep up with class work and absence from school is probably due to a nervousness and run-down condition that may be largely attributed to a deficiency in red blood cells.

—purely vegetable

GIVE your child the right chance to develop, and you will not reget it in later years.

Many children become under-nourished due to lack of appetite. Keep the appetite keen. Food nourishes the body and makes it grow.

Also watch Nature's warning for changes in the system. Skin troubles—pimples, boils and that sallow complexion—all foretell a body weakness.

In such cases, S.S.S. is the proper tonic. It improves the appetite; helps Nature build rich, red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

For more than 100 years, S.S.S. has been helping children and their elders regain strength and vitality.

Children like S.S.S. It is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

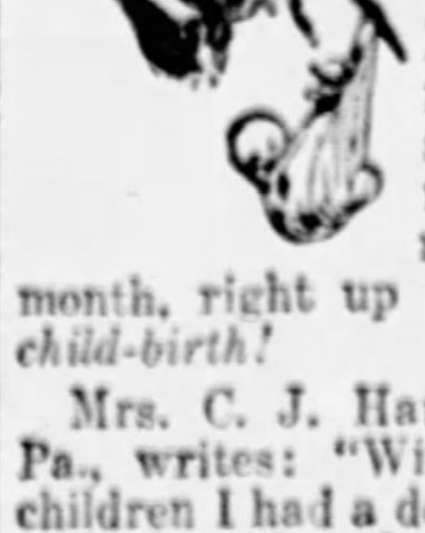
Good News for Expectant Mothers

Doctor's Discovery Relieves Much Unnecessary Suffering



IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth, is entirely unnecessary.

Dr. Holmes' discovery, "Mother's Friend," aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth!

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used "Mother's Friend" and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Start using Mother's Friend tonight—the sooner the better and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all drug stores. Bradfield Regulator Co., Desk 21, Atlanta, Ga.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

WOMAN-STUFF

SOMETIMES it takes nearly all the honeymoon to cure a bridegroom of the headache and the pessimism created by a fashionable wedding.

Nothing, outside of the Broadway Limited, covers more ground in a few hours, than a woman's imagination.

Give your husband a spring tonic if you must; but don't be surprised if it makes him forget his bald spot, his rheumatism and his wedding vows. Many a woman who has piled her husband with iron and quinine to pep him UP, has had to wait all summer for him to RUN DOWN.

HELEN ROWLAND

When that brain-to-brain wireless by which we can read each other's thoughts, is perfected, many a woman who fancies her husband is working out some mighty business problem will be shocked to discover that he is merely trying to think of some alibi for getting out of the house.

This is the wanderlust season, when every mortal one of us has moments in which he longs to buy a ticket for Nowhere, hop off at an unknown station, and walk—to the end of the rainbow!

When a woman speaks wistfully of the time when she was "young and foolish" you may know that she is getting along toward the decrepit age of twenty-five. After forty, no woman ever begins a sentence with, "When I was a girl—"

It is a dreadful shock to a girl who has married a man twice her age, expecting to be a stimulant to his heart, to discover that he has merely taken her as a tonic for his vanity or his arteries.

The most dangerous woman in the average man's life is not the hard-hearted gold-digger who may "get him," but the soft-hearted coddler who has GOT him.

Why Is Fat So Rare?
There's a reason

Do you realize how uncommon are the people with excess fat? At one time there were many times as many. But men and women came to realize that fat blighted beauty, efficiency and health.

One great factor in this change is a discovery made some two decades ago. Research men found a cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of some elements which turn food into fuel and energy. They found a way to supply those elements.

Twenty years ago that discovery was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People began to use them back in 1907. They told others the results. Thus the use has grown to millions of boxes. You can everywhere see the slender figures which today prevail.

Users of Marmola are not forced to abnormal exercise or diet. They combat the cause of obesity. They simply take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. And they gain at the same time new health and vitality.

The formula of Marmola comes in every box. Also the reasons for results. We do this to ward off any fear of harm. You know what you are taking, and why.

Excess fat blights beauty and health and efficiency. If you suffer from it, learn the right way to combat it. Do this now. Order a box of Marmola and let the results tell you how long to continue. You will be amazed and delighted in many ways. And you will learn that excess fat is inexcusable today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out he will get them at once from his jobber.

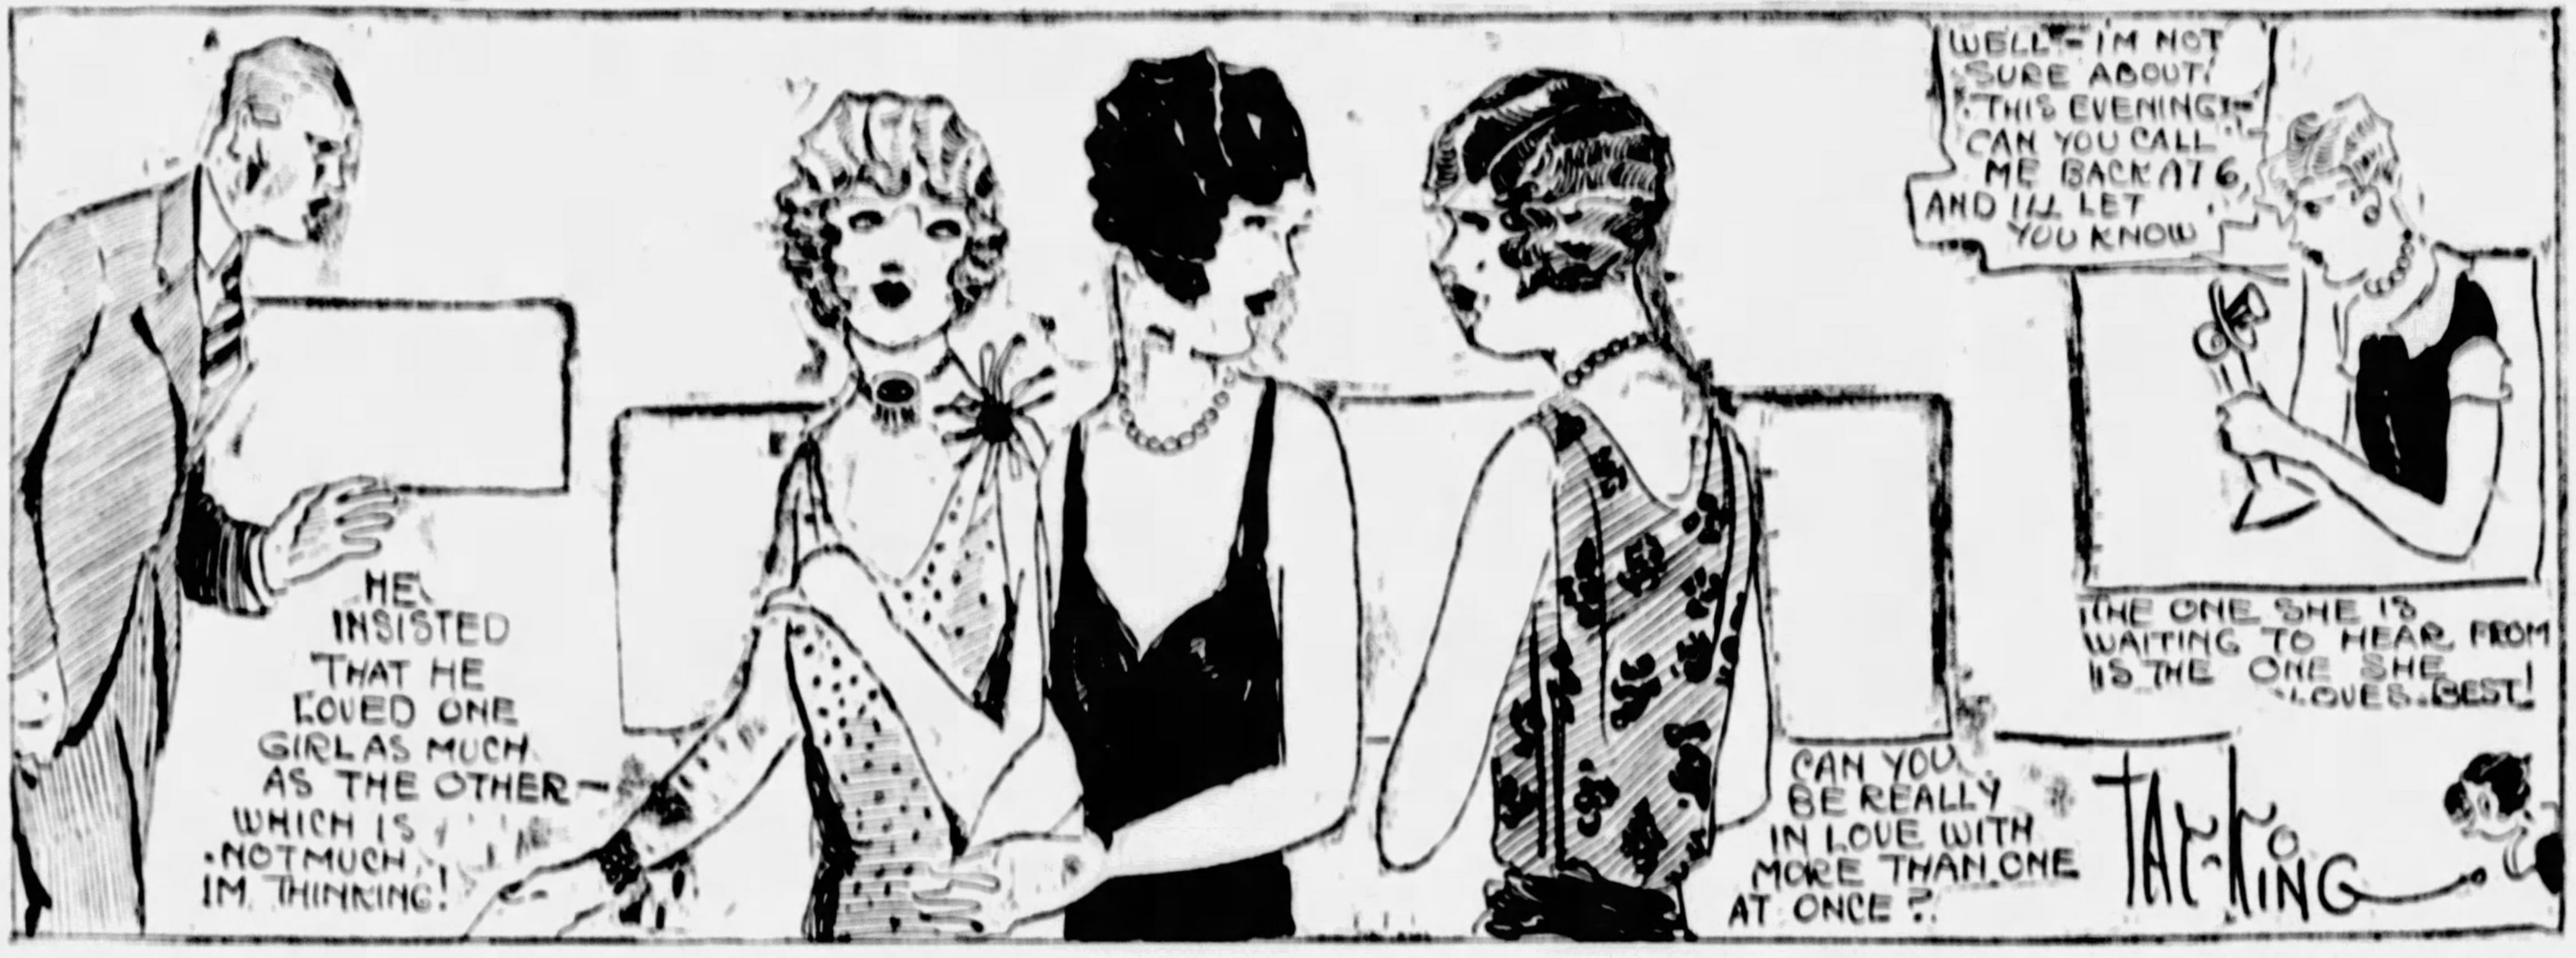
Loving Two at Once Unlikely, Says Fay King



HE INSISTED THAT HE LOVED ONE GIRL AS MUCH AS THE OTHER— WHICH IS NOT MUCH, I'M THINKING!
WELL—I'M NOT SURE ABOUT THIS EVENING— CAN YOU CALL ME BACK AT 6, AND I'LL LET YOU KNOW
THE ONE SHE IS WAITING TO HEAR FROM IS THE ONE SHE LOVES BEST!
CAN YOU BE REALLY IN LOVE WITH MORE THAN ONE AT ONCE?
FAY KING

By FAY KING

SOME persons insist that you can be in love with more than one person at the same time. I do not think so. Nor has anyone yet convinced me that they can be.

Anyone who thinks they are just as much in love with two persons are not really in love with either one.

Once, on a trip in our group, was a man who faithfully wrote each day to three girls! We kidded him about it, of course. He insisted that he loved each girl exactly as much as the others.

We argued the point.

To prove it, he showed me the letters. They were the same to each girl!

"But which girl do you think of when you write the first letter which you copy?" I asked.

He insisted he thought of all three of them. I am afraid he was only in love with himself and thinking of the thrill his letters would give the girls.

Another man once insisted to me that he loved two girls.

To prove this to me I asked him to invite both of the girls together and let me see for myself.

He called them, but I noticed that he did not mention to either that the other was invited also.

When the first one arrived and found the other was coming, she was furious.

"That one loves you best!" I whispered to him. When the other arrived, she paid no attention to the first and was willing to have her along.

"She knows that you love her best, and is triumphing over her rival."

I think my case was proved when he later married this one.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Interest Lengthens Life; Ennui Hastens Decay

EMERSON said, "Ennui shortens life, and bereaves the day of its light."

Some of my younger readers may not quite grasp this golden truth. I hope no one of them will ever suffer from that mental weariness and indifference that comes to people who have overplayed the game of life.

DR COPELAND

No punishment can quite equal the deadly dullness of ennui. There must be enthusiasm, the opposite of ennui, or all the sparkle of life is gone. It has become flat, stale and unprofitable.

I truly believe that to be constantly bored and depressed will actually reduce the period of your life. Each day will seem long because you are so weary of existence, but the actual duration of life will be decreased. Emerson is right, as I view it, in saying that ennui shortens life.

Enthusiasm is like sunlight. It illuminates and brightens your surroundings and everything you do. It puts a golden glow upon everything within your field of vision.

Ennui is the opposite of enthusiasm. It robs the day of its brightness. As Emerson says, in his quaint language, ennui "bereaves the day of its light."

The only dread I have of the present age is that our young people, sophisticated as they are, may become the victims of ennui. Instead of being youthful and enthusiastic, overflowing with good nature and joyousness, they might become bored and weary and indifferent.

That would indeed be a pity. To be bored will slow the heart's action, halt digestion and impair the health. We need to have the stimulation of human interest and eagerness. They set the heart to pounding and exercise every vital function.

There is no doubt that length of life is associated with cheerfulness and good nature. You will make no mistake in the long run to retain and practice all the youthful impulses.

Let the glow of your nature drive away all the gloom of your surroundings. Live all the time in the brightness of happiness. By doing so, you will live longer and be more useful while you live.

There is another side to the problem. When you are bored and grouchy, the rest of the family will be upset. One such person in a household will put all the rest on edge.

There can be no health and vigor in a family if one of its members suffers from chronic ennui. For the sake of your relatives and associates, I beg of you to throw off this attitude of mind.

IT TAKES ALL-BRAN TO RELIEVE CONSTIPATION

More and more people are eating bran for "health's sake" these days. And it's a fine thing. But not everybody realizes what a difference there is in so-called "brans." Doctors say it takes 100% bran to supply enough roughage to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only be partly effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. It does a work part-bran products cannot hope to equal. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN often. With milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Be sure you get genuine Kellogg's though—in the red-and-green package. Use it in cooking. Sprinkle into soups. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Troubled

DEAR MISS GALE:

I need your help before I can do anything at all. Here is my trouble. I love a girl, like everyone, but a certain girl that lives on the same street as I do, seems to give me the most heart trouble. When we first moved there I saw her walking up and down the street very often during the day, and soon took a great interest in our front porch. We passed each other often but we never said a word; so I started it by saying "Hello," and she answered. Ah! How sweet; she looked like a million when she smiled. I have had one date with her since and that was over a year ago, and when I would call her on the phone she always told me that she was busy. So I thought that it was all over, and we did not speak again to each other for quite a while, but her sister told me that she is kept busy by her school work, and different meetings, so the next time I saw her I spoke to her and she answered. I called again and she said the same thing. So Miss Gale, what would you do? I wish to take her out, but still I can't. Won't you please give me your good advice, and thanking you in advance, I am

TROUBLED.

Perhaps this girl has changed her mind and wants to go out with you again, so have her sister act as go-between. Try again, Troubled, and I believe she will let you call.

Troubled Blonde

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am just in my teen age and am in love with a boy in my classroom at high school. He barely talks to me, but when I am studying he keeps watching me. Tell me please, Miss Gale, how to win his love. I have not been making any efforts to meet him. I am going to be introduced to my girl friend's fellow. Should I show him I love him? Miss Gale how can you attract a fellow's attention anywhere? I am old enough and would like to be going out like my girl friends, who are much younger, so I am told. I am pretty and have manners. Please advise me.

TROUBLED BLONDE.

Be pleasant and friendly and the boys will like you as well as the girls do. Why should you show this girl's boy friends that you love him? You don't and you would only antagonize the girl if you showed much interest in him.

Wondering

DEAR MISS GALE:

There is a fine young fellow whom I love very much. He has taken me out several times, but just seemed to slip away. Miss Gale, this fellow has my class ring and at present I would like very much to have it. In what way would be best to ask him for it?

WONDERING.

Next time you see him, just ask him if he will please return your ring. If you never see him, it would be all right to write him a note about it.

MYSTERY SHROUDS TROTZKY "SHOOTING"

DO you brush your teeth because it is a habit?

SOME people may brush their teeth merely as a matter of habit. But a constantly increasing number of men and women are brushing their teeth because they have learned that not only sound teeth and healthy gums, but health itself depends upon mouth hygiene. . . . And they choose their dentifrice carefully.

One product on the market answers to all the qualifications of a good dentifrice—Squibb's Dental Cream. It is made with more than 50% of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia. Each time you use it it reaches into every pit on your teeth, and into the crevices at The Danger Line—where teeth and gums meet. It neutralizes the acids in these dangerous places. And particles stay in the mouth, giving protection afterwards.

And in addition, Squibb's Dental Cream is mild, non-abrasive, non-irritating. It soothes the delicate gum tissues and polishes the enamel, leaving it clean and lustrous. You will enjoy using it. On sale at all druggists—only 40 cents a large tube.

BORAH FUND FOR MINERS INDORSED

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(AP.)—Whether the needy families of unemployed soft coal miners of Pennsylvania ultimately will receive the $160,000 Borah oil "repudiation" fund is a question soon to be decided by the Idaho Senator.

A suggestion that the money he is raising should not be returned to Harry F. Sinclair because the bonds in that amount the oil operator donated to the Republican party did not belong to him, but should be turned over to miners' families or some other group out of work, was received by Senator Borah yesterday from Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, president of the Chicago City Woman's Club.

MINERS WELCOME PLAN

The proposal that the Borah oil "repudiation" fund be used to relieve the suffering of the striking Pennsylvania miners' families was received here with varying degrees of interest.

"The union miners loyal to President John L. Lewis welcomed it. The rebels spurned it.

Most of the operators were reluctant to talk.

Members of the miners' relief committee said the money, if devoted to the miners, would be well spent, but questioned the propriety of the plan.

Officers of the business men's relief committee thought the proposal required study.

Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America:

Philip Murray.

"There are two ways money or relief of any kind can be distributed fairly among the needy miners of Western Pennsylvania. Either the Central Labor Union, with headquarters at Pittsburgh, or the American Federation of Labor at Washington would, I am certain, distribute such a fund fairly and wisely."

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and John Hoehs, secretary of the Central Labor Union at Pittsburgh, both have administered relief here since the strike situation became acute. Mr. Morrison distributes contributions made directly to the United Mine Workers.

Vincent Kemenevich, secretary of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Miners' Relief Committee:

"The proposal, made by Mrs. Longworthy that the 'conscience fund' of the Republican party be devoted to miners' relief is merely adding insult to injury. In the state of Ohio hundreds of miners are being evicted from their homes because the conscience of a Republican judge decreed that the operators had a right to evict miners from the company houses who refused to 'scab' on their fellow workers.

"The Republican party has no conscience as far as the needs of the miners and the workers in general are concerned. Neither has the Democratic party. Both are agents of Wall street and the big financial and industrial bosses of the United States."

Horace F. Baker, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, said:

"I think it would be a fine thing if this money could be used for the relief of suffering among the miners' families, provided it is distributed through the organized charitable agencies now in the field. I do not think it would be proper to let some agency not familiar with the situation distribute the relief."

J. D. A. Morrow, president, and Carl E. Lesher, executive vice president of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, and B. H. Canon, formerly president of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, said they preferred not to express an opinion.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, chairman of the Clergymen's Committee for the Relief of Destitute Miners:

R. B. Urmy.

"I think it would be better to devote the money which Senator Borah is raising to the relief of the destitute miners' families than to send it to Sinclair. I have never been in sympathy with Senator Borah's plan. It is a poor way to meet the situation. Nevertheless, if the money is to be collected and distributed, no better use can be found for it than to apply it to the relief of suffering in the mining camps. It would have been better never to have attempted to raise the money."

The Rev. Dr. W. I. Wishart, a member of the executive committee of the Clergymen's Committee:

W. I. Wishart.

"I, of course, don't know just how the Republican party will be able to make the money serve the purpose for which it is collected if it is used for some other purpose. To give it to the miners would be a worthy thing indeed. But would it relieve the Republican organization of the criticism of taking 'tainted money'? I don't see how it would clear the conscience of the party if the money is not returned to Sinclair. It will be a wise disposition of the Borah fund to turn it over to the destitute miners if the donors will agree to it."

The Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson and the Rev. Dr. L. Walter Mason, members of the executive committee of the Clergymen's Committee, said they were not sufficiently familiar with the subject to be able to express their views.

A. K. Oliver.

Augustus K. Oliver, chairman, and Arthur E. Braun, treasurer of the Business Men's Committee for Miners' Relief, said they would have to think the matter over before saying anything about it for publication.

PATRICIA PITT'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Social Insurgents Depart From Holy Week Mandate While Awaiting Close of Lent

LONG ago Pittsburgh social leaders issued the mandate—"Thou shalt give no entertainments during Holy Week." This insurgent generation has had the courage to depart a bit from this tradition. But it really is a very small departure. Now one may entertain during the early part of Holy Week without receiving cold frowns, but on Holy Thursday or Good Friday, never!

Even school group luncheons will be held after Lent. On Monday the Masters' School Society will hold its annual luncheon, I hear, in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. This group includes many who take a prominent place in social circles.

Miss Evelina Pierce, the new headmistress at Dobbs Ferry, will be the guest of honor at the luncheon.

The officers of the society include such well-known society folks as Miss Marjorie Kimball, president; Mrs. James P. McKinney, Jr., vice president; Miss Clarissa Reed, corresponding secretary; Miss Elizabeth Lupton Scott, recording secretary, and Mrs. Malcolm W. Leech, treasurer.

At noon on Holy Saturday the long six weeks of lent came to an end for another year. The striking of the hour of 12 will have a startling effect upon the social world, quite different from the striking of the hour of 12 in the Cinderella story; for instead of a return to the drab existence that the midnight hour meant for Cinderella, the hour of noon on Saturday will mean the beginning of many a dance and party. And these social events will have all the more allurement after the "social fasting" during lent.

At noon on Saturday there will begin a series of entertainments for the O'Bryan-Nugent bridal party. Mary Beatrice O'Bryan, daughter of the E. Garrick O'Bryans, of Bartlett street, will wed Frank J. Nugent, son of Mrs. Mary V. Nugent, of Bartlett street, you will recall, on Thursday, April 19. And the ceremony will be a most impressive one that morning in the St. Paul's Cathedral.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. James Callahan will give a luncheon in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club, to be followed by bridge.

Two sisters of the bride-to-be, Henrietta and Rosemary, and her brother, Garrick O'Bryan, Jr., will entertain with a buffet supper in the O'Bryan home Sunday evening.

On Wednesday, Dorothy Weinberg will entertain at a bridge and supper in her home on Bartlett street. Of course there would have to be dancing provided for any bridal party. So the T. E. Dauers will give a supper and dance in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association on Thursday evening.

Arnold Hooper and Virginia Spahr will be joint hosts at a dinner and bridge in the Shannopin Country Club on Saturday, April 14.

Another bridge luncheon is being planned by the William L. Henrys for Monday, April 16. The last entertainment of the long series will be, of course, the rehearsal dinner, to be given by Mrs. L. V. Walsh the night before the wedding.

All the debutantes of the 1927-1928 season are returning to the city. That charming bud, Mary Louise Johnson, daughter of Mrs. William Terrell Johnson, will be home soon, I hear. She and her mother, who have been abroad several months, are expected home for Easter.

Virginia Louise Johnston, daughter of the Charles Howard Johnstons, has returned from Washington, D. C. There she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Wilson Kennedy Ray, the former Elizabeth Close Johnston.

Mrs. James W. Hamilton and James W. Hamilton, Jr., are spending the week in Atlantic City, which many Pittsburghers, recently back from the South, are finding most attractive as usual.

Pittsburgh folks make frequent visits to New York, but in the spring, just before Easter, that city is especially popular. Mrs. E. D. Gilmore of Sewickley is in New York now, stopping at the St. Regis.

The Theodore W. Friends of Shady avenue at the Barclay, as is Mrs. Henry M. Curry, Jr., of Beechwood boulevard.

William J. Crittenen is also in New York.

A comedy, "A Full House," will be presented April 18 by the Acorn Club of Oakmont in the Oakmont High School for the benefit of St. Ireneaus' Catholic Church. Edward M. Cavanaugh is directing the cast, which includes Mary Malloy, Mary Desmond, Helen Leahy, Anna Favo, Nicholas Favo, Jr., James Morgan, John Desmond, Thomas Yeaglin, Edward Carey, Rose Favo, Alberta Yeaglin, Michael Malley, Rachel Favo and Thomas O'Neil.

The Alumnae Chapter of the Theta Phi Alpha fraternity, University of Pittsburgh, will give its annual bridge party for the benefit of the Margaret Enright Memorial Fund Saturday afternoon, April 21, in Kaufmann's. Mrs. Charles Vincent Doherty is chairman.

* * *

St. Norbert's Church of Overbrook will give a bazar and card party April 11 and 12 in the school building. Bernard Englert is chairman for the affair and John J. Dempski is treasurer. Euchre and "500" will be played.

* * *

Mrs. John Keiser, of Aylesboro avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Jane Keiser, to William Galbraith Stewart, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Stewart, of Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg. The wedding will take place April 26.

Mrs. B. Franklin Campney III, of Locust place, Sewickley, and Miss Geraldine Smith will leave tomorrow to spend Easter in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. J. Andrew Craig, of Braddock, and her mother, Mrs. Mary A. Torrance, of Wilkinsburg, are at the Wiltshire, in Atlantic City, over Easter.

FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW HEARS GARDEN TALK

It was a most charming talk in equally charming surroundings that Mrs. J. B. McFate gave yesterday on "The Little Garden" before the Woman's Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon. "Wilfern Gables," Mrs. W. M. Holtz's lovely home with its many flowering plants that give it the semblance of a "little garden," was the setting for the meeting. Mrs. McFate talked to the attentive group of enthusiasts on the setting out of gardens, saying any woman can set out a formal garden if she will but do it in relation to the house, studying it from all the windows and from every approach. "The question of soil" was also discussed, Mrs. McFate advising each gardener to make her own soil. She also advised special care in the setting out of trees, that they, when grown, might not obscure a beautiful vista. Unless one has a trained gardener or can devote a great deal of one's own time, she recommended that plants be chosen from "an iron clad list" of hardy ones that sow themselves. Of "memory gardens" and "friendship gardens," Mrs. McFate had some amusing observations to offer, but she said these should be "friendly spots that reach out," and for the busy person's garden, she stressed the "sweet fragrant things that bloom in the evening."

Mrs. McFate answered the questions her hearers put to her and the program was concluded by banjo solos which Mrs. Van H. Eshelman offered. The tea hour followed.

Mrs. Mary Jones Sherrill will direct a production of Essex Dane's charming comedy, "Wrong Numbers," which will be given in the fourth amateur players' contest of the Drama League, on April 19 in the East Liberty Carnegie Library. The cast will include Miss Mary Clancy, Miss Martha Raab and Miss Catherine Cox, members of the dramatic organization of Seton Hill College, Greensburg.

The South Hills Repertoire Players will present "The Release," a strong play of gang life in the Bowery, written by the late Edward H. Smith. The scene will represent the interior of a jail and the staging will be directed by Charles W. Van Essen. The members of the cast are Howard R. Eulenstein, Frederick G. Clerihue, William B. Stricker, William C. Roe, Jr., and C. Paul Crofford.

Both the South Hills Repertoire Players and the Seton Hill College Players have received awards in previous contests held by the league.

The Poetry Society met at luncheon in the Congress clubhouse yesterday. Among the members present were Mrs. Marie Tello Phillips, president; Mrs. Galen C. Hatrman and Mrs. Lillie McMasters, who have recently returned from Miami Beach and who will be leaving the city again next Tuesday to attend the national convention of the League of American Pen Women. All are delegates and will read selections at the poets' luncheon. Mrs. Phillips also will speak at the forum on "Poetry Groups." Mrs. McMasters' poem, "Tapestry," won in the poetry contest conducted at yesterday's meeting.

Mrs. George L. Gearing, who was chairman of the building committee, treasurer for seven years and is a charter member of the organization, was elected president of the Carrick Mothers' Club yesterday. Mrs. John Robson and Mrs. Robert A. Schneider are the new vice presidents; Mrs. Mildred Reinheimer is the recording secretary; Mrs. John P. Miller, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William Azsman, assistant, and Mrs. Harry New, treasurer, while Mrs. Howard H. Parker and Mrs. John Rossiter are directors.

The monthly business meeting of the Nurses' Club of Pittsburgh will be held in the clubhouse, Fifth avenue, on Thursday evening. Preceding it Dr. Thomas H. Dr. E. N. Clopper, head of the Federation of Social Agencies, addressed the Allegheny County Council, American Legion Auxiliary, at its meeting in the Congress of Clubs yesterday. In his address, the keynote of which was co-operation and service, Dr. Clopper told of the employment bureau, which is a new feature of the organization.

BISHOP ASSAILS RULE BY CASH

JERUSALEM, April 5.—(AP.)—A report on the relation of Christianity to industrial rural problems was presented to the International Missionary Council yesterday by Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Pittsburgh.

The report emphasized that all social and economic systems must be tried by the standards of Christ, the essentials of which are sanctity, brotherhood and corporate responsibility.

"We acknowledge with shame," says the report, "that churches everywhere, and especially missions, are coming in contact with an economic order which is almost entirely dominated by a motives of profit, and they are not mitigating the evils growing out of industrialism."

The report asserts that private investors have no right to exercise political control over Christian bodies. Native welfare always should come before mere economic development and there should be no forced labor except in unforseen national emergencies.

Red Letter Days

By Edna Wallace Hopper

For very special occasions, "when one simply must look her best," the skin needs freshening and toning. And a "facial" comes to the rescue.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

Some women look young and carefully groomed for a night or two. Then their skin gradually lapses back into muddy, dull hue . . . until another important event.

You can give your face the firm, flawless tone of youth. You should keep it in this condition, not only for important engagements but every day because you're just as closely scrutinized day in and day out.

This is the simple treatment I have found really necessary for youthful skin:

Apply my White Youth Clay once a week, twice a month or as often as your skin requires. After washing it off you will feel the pleasant sensation of a real astringent. The clay rids your skin of blackheads and similar blemishes, gently purging the pores of their accumulated impurities which sometimes sink so deep, especially in oily skins.

My White Youth Clay is the only dainty, agreeable clay pack I know. You can get it at any toilet counter.

WRITING TO DADDY

It's a happy day for Beatrice Lillie, actress, who is really the Lady Robert Peel, English, when she's able to get home to her little son, Robert, Jr., the sixth of that name and heir to Drayton Manor, Staffordshire, England. They're together in Chicago—which, this time, is "home"—and Bobby above is writing to Daddy, Lord Peel.

Capt. Wilkins is a veteran explorer. Above he is shown as he looked just after he had returned from a long expedition.

CLARK TO TAKE TIME ON EL TOWER DECISION

Public Safety Director James M. Clark will take his time deciding whether El Tower, Squirrel Hill's much discussed apartment hotel, is to have a dance permit in the future. At the close of a three-hour hearing in Council chambers yesterday, Director Clark was requested by Council to review the testimony and make an early decision in the controversy.

"I have asked for a transcript of the testimony taken at the hearing yesterday," said the Director.

Director Clark pointed out that Councilman John S. Herron during the hearing moved that a dinner dance permit be issued under strict conditions, but that no definite action was taken.

President of Council James F. Malone said a motion would be introduced as a resolution on the question of issuing a permit at the next meeting of Council.

Democrats Demand Big Tax Cut

WASHINGTON, April 5.—(AP.)—A real row on tax reduction was assured today with the announcement by Democratic members of the Selnate Finance Committee that they would seek a total slash of at least $300,000,000 as opposed to the $200,000,000 maximum proposal by Secretary Mellon.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, carried this program to the committee room today upon instructions of a conference of minority members last night, but he faced an apparently futile fight with the Republican majority of the committee lining up solidly behind the Treasury suggestions.

The Republican majority showed its strength yesterday in turning down two Democratic proposals which would have put a crimp in the demand of Mr. Mellon that the $290,000,000 House bill be pared down to $200,000,000. Attempts to cut the 13½ per cent corporation tax to 11 per cent and 11½ per cent—the figure accepted by the House—were rejected by the Republicans in favor of a 12 per cent rate.

An early decision is due in the committee on the total reduction to be allowed. Chairman Smoot, leader of the Republican majority, has endorsed the $200,000,000 Treasury limitation and his party is expected to support him in the committee against the Democratic demand for $300,000,000.

Democrats also have decided to ask for brief hearings to permit the automobile manufacturers to answer the contention of Secretary Mellon that only manufacturers were behind the "propaganda" for repeal of this 3 per cent levy. They also would permit others interested in the bill to come before the committee, including the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which has opposed the Treasury.

RUTH'S BODY BURIED IN UNMARKED GRAVE

International News Service

NEW YORK, April 5.—The body of Ruth Snyder has been secretly removed from the receiving vault in Woodlawn Cemetery, the Bronx, and buried in an unmarked grave in the cemetery it was learned today.

Since January 10, when Mrs. Snyder's body was brought to the cemetery, the burial ground has been filled with morbid curiosity seekers hunting for its grave. Failing to find it they devoted their attention to the grave of her father, John Brown.

It now appears probable that no headstone will be placed on Ruth's grave.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LI.D.

As for Progress, We Jog Along in Well Worn Ruts

We Boast of Our Wisdom and Lag Many Decades Behind It In Practice

In yesterday's chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," Dr. Dorsey defined character, reputation and personality in their relations to human behavior. "They" cannot be picked out by their looks; a "square chin" may be a very weak sister and the worst hen-pecked man in town.

Capitalizing Ages' Experience

CHAPTER L.

LIFE is easily destroyed, but the matter of life is indestructible. Life easily tires, but the energy of life is not lost. Life is dynamic. When struck—as by blow of slipper or by a chuck under the chin—a chemical reaction takes place; that reaction alters its nature. It is now something else. The change may be slight; it may be so great that its very dynamic nature is altered—the change endures for life.

Life is impelled to action because it is a reacting mechanism; certain stimuli impel it to action. What life does depends upon what life is; and that, in turn, depends upon what life does. The life that climbed up to man never ceased to recreate itself on higher levels. The oftener it reacts, the greater the ease of action; practice makes perfect. But life itself is not moved by perfection; with too much practice it grows fatigued.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Had life been content with mere perfection, it would have stopped with bacteria and algae. It essayed more difficult roles and by greatly daring became man. It could not have built up a nature so imperious for power or so keen for experience had it been content to say: I desire nothing more: I am perfect.

A perfect man is as finished a product of Nature as a bacterium and may be fit for Nirvana, but not to rule or to lead men. For men are of the stock that moved up out of the slime and set no limit to their desires. They insist on action because action is the nature of their inheritance. But they must have new stimuli or they fall asleep with ennui.

We're Always Changing

We begin our life with a semi-fluid body of 20-odd chemical elements which surrender their original nature in becoming welded into a compact organic system. This body builds itself up into a vastly complex machine of billions of individual bodies, each retaining something of its original nature, each surrendering something of its original nature that we may function as one individual being. The energy which drives this machine is chemical, the impulse which drives the machine to secure this energy is inherent in the living protoplasm of our body.

Chemical reactions in a chemical body. Of some reactions we are conscious, of most of them we are not conscious. But the living mind and the living body are inseparable and together make up the individual. We never know what is in our "mind," for the mind is the living body which, because of its nature, must react to every vital change in its environment. We can recall to memory only a few of these reactions—those burned in. We cannot recall countless memories; we have no machinery or organs for forgetting. Nevertheless, they have left their mark; each reaction alters the protoplasm for further reactions; it is never the same again. As the universe itself is not made, but is continually being made, so with man.

This view of universe and man is repugnant to many; it disturbs the serenity of their belief in the absolute and eternal and the simplicity of their thought that earth and man were created, as a magician conjures goldfish out of nothing and rabbits out of an empty hat.

Man's chief impulse at each moment of his existence is for life: self-preservation. At certain moments food-hunger dominates the self-preservation impulse, at other moments sex-hunger dominates. But because of his capacity to supplement his motor mechanism with tools, weapons and appliances, he was able to give his biologic impulses ever-changing outlets. He also developed language into a definite means of communication and thereby further extended the range of possible responses to living impulses. Thus, on his repertoire of animal adjustments to vital conditions he superimposed a repertoire of human adjustments. The rise, development, spread and decay of these purely human adjustments make up the story of the history of human culture.

The culture of any people, tribe, race or nation at any given time is a historical problem. Memphis, Troy and Carthage, of the Old World or the New, are riddles apart from their setting, apart from the historic factors which conditioned their development. The lives of Buddha, Confucius, Socrates, Mohammed, Tamerlane, Elizabeth, Napoleon, Washington and Frank Smith are also riddles without their setting.

Each age carried its loaded situation to which huban beings responded in obedience to the impulse to live. Every age had its modes, norms, habits, opinions, manners, customs, taboos, and its written and unwritten codes of behavior. Mohammed, born on Beacon street, would have gone to Harvard and been a Unitarian.

Egotistic Laggards

Every age thought itself wise and prattled of "progress," and lagged from one to 100 decades behind its own wisdom. Our own national habits and social, education, legal and governmental institutions jog along in ruts worn smooth by our forefathers. There is not a city in the United States organized as a community for the purposes of living, almost no individual that practices what he preaches or puts to useful purpose a tenth part of his brains.

A hand-fitted by nature to swing from limbs and catch fleas learns in five years to drive a nail and in 15 years to drive a car it took culture 100,000 years to make. One wonders that culture required so many years to produce the car; but one is amazed that so many children can learn to drive a car in such a short time. In other words, our civilization as the "product of all the ages" loses much of its glamor when viewed against the background of what an ordinary boy or girl can learn in twoscore years.

Tokio, Pekin, Delhi, Cairo, Rome, London, New York, Main Street: random sample worlds. Into these life comes in small packages called babies, fundamentally all alike, all human, all blood-kin, all of one species. They have the same general adjustment mechanism in the same excitable protoplasm, with the same instinct for life and the same emotional-drive equipment. And all have parents to tide them over the infantile period until such time as their motor mechanism will enable them to seek their own food, water and shelter, and in general make their own adjustments, including picking a mate.

These same babies one, five, twenty, fifty years later show differences more than skin deep, differences burned into the very protoplasm of their bodies. Which means: Their habits are different, their thoughts are different. They doff their hats to different gods and play the game of life in different ways and for different stakes.

Contents of their mind? We can only answer that as we know the conditioning of their mind: what they jump at and why. Always remembering that individual variation sets a limit to our jumping mechanism; also that we know little of that limit because it is restricted by fears and hemmed in by taboos.

Into each home the baby comes as a loaded stimulus. It may be hailed as the watcher greets the dawn; or with, "Well, here it is;" or as another mouth to feed. Its arrival is a complex of stimuli. Out of these the baby is often made or broken the day it is born—a chance that must be taken these days as the price of the opportunity to become civilized.

Most of them do. Some never become adjusted. They die, as Socrates, Savonarola, Lavoisier; or they are fed to the lions by Nero, disappear on Saint Bartholomew's Day, or work in a factory. They borrow, beg or steal. There are as many ways and degrees of unadjustment as there are of adjustment, all graduated to the ways and degrees to which adjustment is demanded.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

IN WHAT was to him strange terminology, at times highly technical in dealing with that strange realm of the brain, the boy defendant, aged 14, heard his counsel wrangling with the prosecution and both with witnesses. He was being tried for murder. A drunken man had been sent staggering on his way to eternity, beaten to death, with robbery as the motive. And now a boy, one of an accused pair, had come to face the finger of retribution which society points at the suspect.*

HIS hair was brushed pompadour. He had a straight nose and generally even features. There was nothing to set him apart, apparently, from any of those boys of that age that you see playing commies, riding bikes, or walking to their classrooms. A blue suit and a boyish gaudy necktie emphasized his everyday appearance. Yet here he was the center of a drama, interesting to the casual observer, and fraught for him with immense possibilities.

A YOUNG lady was junior defense counsel. Mr. Coleman conducted the defense. One must not slip into the common error of visualizing the woman lawyer as a modern Portia. Portia as a lawyer was entirely spurious. She never had passed the state bar examination in Venice and merely posed, in men's clothing, as a barrister on that day when, somewhat unfairly, she proposed that Shylock win or lose his case by a surgical performance that would have defied success even in a skilled surgeon. So Miss Friedlander, junior defense counsel, was even superior to the fabled Portia as she sat next to the boy, made notes and whispered to Mr. Coleman.

ON THE side of the people—organized society being represented as combining its forces against the 14-year-old boy—was Mr. Langfitt, capable assistant district attorney, whose relentlessness was somewhat heightened by severe tortoise shell glasses, and then somewhat lessened by passing moods which showed him jocular in a skeptical way.

Plainly, Mr. Langfitt placed no confidence in one of the defense witnesses. Of course, on an inconsequential matter, Mr. Langfitt was willing to assume that the witness had in him a modicum of truth, but, once a grave matter came up, Mr. Langfitt, without saying so, almost lost patience with the way truth and sincerity, to his mind, was being manhandled.

OFTEN, Mr. Langfitt, with open astonishment, registered to the observer that he had a great fear that truth, bag and baggage, had disappeared from this cosmic sphere, never to return. His search for truth led him by easy stages to astonishment, incredulity, anger and despair. Finally, he decided that, since truth had taken wing, one must not weep over spilled milk, but make the best of a world gone suddenly awry. This philosophy would produce a humorless smile, which he aimed now and then at the jury.

CATCHING Mr. Langfitt's varying moods, we ourselves began to fear for the safety of the cosmic scheme in this important matter of truth, but a couple of reporters nearby comforted us with the assertion that, when the prosecution witnesses were on the stand, Mr. Langfitt was a different man. During those periods Mr. Langfitt seemed to have an inspired faith in the veracity of mankind in general. However, as luck would have it, Mr. Coleman in those moments was not quite so certain truth was promenading.

MR. LANGFITT was tolerantly amazed by the testimony of an alienist. He was bepuzzled and, in solemnly trying to unravel the testimony, was forced to admit that some of this sort of stuff was way over his head. The expert had produced a book which contained absurd sentences. Mr. Langfitt did his best to make sense out of this book and he called upon the jury to help him, but one could tell he didn't expect any great results from collaboration.

Not once during two hours did the small boy ever look up from the floor. What a strange crystal ball that courtroom floor was for the boy who buried his eyes in that fashion.

"MAMMY" SAW 19 PRESIDENTS

A Negro "Mammy," Mary Ann Fletcher, 95, whose early childhood was spent during the days of slavery, died yesterday at the home of a granddaughter in Seventh street, Elizabeth. The aged woman had spent most of her life at Fort Stevens, D. C., her birthplace. She remembers the invasion of Confederate forces at Fort Stevens and often related a story of how she routed a soldier who tried to steal her ironing board.

"Mammy" Fletcher boasted that she had seen 16 presidents, from the time of Franklin A. Pierce to Warren G. Harding. For more than 50 years she was housekeeper for the same family, and she had a certificate to prove it, given her by the Federated Women's Clubs of Washington.

She will be buried tomorrow afternoon from the Allen Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church. Beside her granddaughter she leaves a grandson and three great-grandsons.

Reiss, secretary and treasurer of the bank, a third defendant, was exonerated by Leslie and Umstead.

Calls Doctor Who 'Treats' Burglar

Margaret Flood, who lives in a third-floor apartment at 853 Beech avenue, is convinced that a doctor's treatment for burglars is good for her health.

When Miss Flood heard somebody trying to force the front door of her apartment early today, she telephoned Dr. F. Horace Ritter, who lives on the first floor.

Dr. Ritter jumped from bed and, in his pajamas, met the intruder in the third-floor hallway. Dr. Ritter, who is 63, swung a left to the visitor's jaw and the butt of a revolver to the stranger's skull. The stranger went to sleep.

In Allegheny Police Station today the man said he was Justin Shubarica, 32, of 1007 Strong street. He blamed his actions on the demon rum. He was fined $25.

Poor Complexion?

Skin quickly becomes soft, clear, lovely

. . . with this healing toilet cream used by hundreds of nurses

DOCTORS first prescribed this healing cream for chapping, burns, eczema, and other skin troubles. But it was such a dainty cream—snow-white, greaseless—and it made the skin so soft and white that nurses soon began using it as a powder base, and as a massage cream at night.

They found that its soothing, healing medication cleared away blemishes—refined coarse pores—made the complexion glow with new loveliness. Joyfully they told their friends about it.

The fame of Noxzema Skin Cream has spread until today two million women use it as their exclusive beauty cream. There's nothing like it for quickly restoring troublesome skin to normal healthy beauty.

If you want your skin to be clearer, finer and lovelier—by all means try Noxzema. Get a small jar first, and use it for just ten days—and note the difference in the texture and beauty of your skin. All good drug and department stores carry Noxzema.

JERRY The Epic of a Girl Who Had to Wait · by Elenore MEHERIN

Jerry Goes to a Party With Hugh in Hopes of Meeting Saxon There

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. She decides to give Saxon up. She discovers that Marza has another daughter of whose existence her husband had been ignorant. Marza tells Jerry that this sister of hers is dying and needs them both. Stephanie recovers and they go back home. The months pass, and Jerry has not seen Saxon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

SHE had wished to. She had felt a scorn for the half-hearted half-portion people who postpone and dally and wait for all the secondary things like money and bread; who let the flash and fervor dim before they take their love. Oh, seize today—joyously, utterly—

She drew hot, shaking hands over her face. Would that have kept him? Would that have given what she wanted—the dream—the enduring richness?

Presently she was walking about the room, surveying it with cold, practical eyes. "I'll junk that—hideous thing—"

She stopped before the fireplace: "That wasn't what I wanted. That's why I didn't take it," she told herself quietly. "I would have been but another episode to him; but another excitement."

The image of Mary Eunice haunted her. She had beauty, a little coarse-grained perhaps with that faint thickness about her nose and lips. But there was appeal in the shadowed eyes and full, inviting mouth—the whole softened by the willow-grace of her form.

But Mary Eunice was not better looking than Jerry. She hadn't the ardor nor the color. Not very dynamic; not even vital enough to surround herself with beauty when she had all the money in the world.

"You choose it," she had said. "I can't be bothered."

What was it—what was it he found in her? There must be some brilliant charm that made Saxon Rhodes step to her tune.

Thursday in the following week, Jerry stood before the portrait that Sylvia was doing.

"You've made her awfully flat looking, Sylvia. Drab—no sparkle."

"I'm making her as she is—attractively wrapped but empty—a contradiction that constitutes the sole mystery of many women as May Sinclair points out."

"She seems highly attractive."

"Which makes me doubt that men are intelligent. They fall for such obvious tactics. The same old lures that have been worked for centuries get them. And they think these lures are new—inspired by their unique charms! If fish were as conceited as men, the sea would be empty!"

Added Sylvia with one of her quaint drolleries: "That's why the intelligent woman so often fails in the love game. She credits the man with sense. She'd be afraid to use the tricks Mary Eunice practices. She imagines a man would see through her as she knows a woman would. But they don't!

"If I ever sat before a man in the intriguing poses of Mary Eunice: if I ever made eyes and brought velvet tones into my voice and slithered my hands here and there the way Mary Eunice does and found the man falling for it, I'd roll on the floor in laughter. The salvation of Mary Eunice and the source of her attraction is her utter stupidity."

"I can't believe it," said Jerry.

"Well you watch—you'll have a chance to see her in action Saturday night."

"Will she be there?"

"Of course. Saxon is about as close a friend as John has. And it's the week-end—he'll come up for it. Whom else would he bring, since you've given him the gate?"

Saturday, Jerry suffered a near panic with her excitement. It was John's birthday. Rod Porter was giving this party for him in a great studio home that he had builded in Belvidere.

Jerry was going with Hugh Hammond.

And she would see Saxon—their first meeting in five months.

She kept recalling the day in August when he rode across the bay with her . . . recalling that he said: "Not mad with me now, Jerry. Going away but not mad, are you?"

"No—but you're free of me—free as the air."

"I don't want to be free of you. I won't be free."

She had believed. And hoped.

Stephanie pushed her chair to the bureau, following each move that Jerry made with warm, glowing eyes: "You like this Hugh, don't you?"

"Yes."

"Do you like them all a little bit? You're that brilliant kind of person, aren't you? Oh, Lord, I'm longing to get on my feet again. Jerry—I've never been to a real fast party with people getting vastly tight and doing scandalous, hair-raising things." Stephanie gave a little gurgling laugh: "You'll take me, won't you?"

Suddenly a color went splashing to Stephanie's temple: "Do you like Heinie better than Hugh?"

"No—differently."

"Heinie's rather wonderful, isn't he? He's terribly in love with you?"

It came out softly in a little throbbing rush.

Then Stephanie was laughing and pressing a finger against her short upper lip: "Why hasn't Saxon been around? Oh, because he's been in Los Angeles? I wish he'd hurry up and come back. I want to see him . . . see if he's as good as Heinie for you."

"Indeed. And is Heinie good?"

"For anyone, I should think. Coming up here almost every afternoon—all those books and all the candy. Doing that for a mere stranger like me. Jerry, is Saxon as good looking as Heinie?"

"Heinie—good looking? What do you mean?"

"Don't you think Heinie handsome? Why his eyes are perfectly beautiful. I adore to look in them. Oh, here—you've a big daub of powder on your neck—let me wipe it off."

The small hands were hot and trembling. Heinie handsome—Jerry wondered.

"There—now you look dark and beautiful, Jerry. You look very supreme."

Jerry gave a quick kiss to her sister. "I hope so. I want to look that way tonight!"

She wore a dress of Holland blue. Hugh brought deep purple orchids. The colors that brought the odd lavender glow to her cheeks and eyes—that made the dark hair bluer than it was black. His fine intelligent eyes gave her eager tribute.

"Hugh loves me—but I don't care," she thought moodily. "Nothing matters but him. And he will only keep me from life—keep me from living. Ah—tonight—"

The moment she entered the room she saw him. He saw her. He came with a swift eagerness. He came gaily and caught her hands, awakening the old pang, the flush and joy.

"At last! Jerry, at last!"

CHAPTER XLII.

SHE found the light thrilling eyes warm on hers: found him looking with soft astonishment as though her beauty and her young, high radiance were new and startling.

"Take a good look, big boy."

"And a great deal more than that, if Lady Luck is with me. She mostly is! Miss me, Jerry? Here, I want that little brown hand."

She gave a soft, rippling laugh and let her hand be tucked in his. Sweeter than she had dared to dream. New and sweet.

She stole a look at his profile with the strong line of the jaw, the vital, uneven sculpture of his nose and chin. A slight heaviness about his neck—oh, very slight. A weariness showing in tiny lines about his eyes.

But he grinned—grinned happily in her face: "You're still a darling thing, aren't you? And it's going to be a lot of fun getting acquainted all over again. What say to that, Jerry?"

She blew cigarette smoke in his face and answered breezily: "All clear ahead!"

They sat in the leafy dark of the porch. They talked eagerly, swiftly. He wanted to know what she was thinking; what she was doing. If she liked her job; if she liked her new cousin. Had she missed him—thought much of him? Some of those letters—now they were pretty matter-of-fact and cold. Took a crimp in a fellow, reading them and remembering.

In the music of that voice humming with its deep, secret hilarity; with his warm, rough cheek coming near to hers and with this soft, eager murmur: "We've a few things to remember, Jerry—dear things—" With this, she was helpless. The months and the discords between them vanished. She let herself down in the ache and tumult.

They danced. Again, then again.

He glanced down, swooping her to him with a teasing: "We like each other. I guess that's all there's to it. You've changed, Jerry. You've a dark, mysterious air like Marza."

"Ah," thought she, "that comes of unrequited love. That comes of anguish and responsibility. But you, Saxon Rhodes may wonder! You shall never know again: never be sure of me again. To make a man sure, is to make him another's."

"And you wouldn't break that date. That got under my skin. You hadn't seen me for five months. And you wouldn't break a date. A person would do that even for a friend."

"And some friends would wait up till 11 o'clock."

She began to whistle—a gay lilt against his heart: "Keeping Y. M. C. A. hours, are you?"

"I was sore," said he, brushing his chin in the soft wave of her hair. "Are you telling me the truth, Jerry? Is all really clear ahead?"

"How about one Saxon Rhodes since this is the night of confession?"

"You should know. I follow the father of the country and avoid entangling alliances. Good way for the nation to keep peace and mere man to avoid wars."

"And I'm not having the slightest trouble, Jerry!" He was suddenly lowering his head, suddenly whispering with his lips against her cheek. "I was never in danger but once, Jerry, don't turn away. Look up, please. I want to look in your eyes and tell you this—your blue, sweet eyes . . . "

"No—don't—Saxon—"

"Yes—there—look up!" And with the old caressing sweep of his eyes over her face: "Jerry, there was never a girl before you. I mean really. Never one that counted more than an hour, before you. And I'm beginning to fear, beginning to know there won't be one after you—"

Bathing her in the thrilling flame of his eyes; bringing her to her knees in hope and worship. She stood motionless there in the shadowed porch; motionless in his arms.

She stood white and smiling, feeling the world obliterated with the touch of his lips on hers.

If he had taken her hand then she would have followed wherever he led. She would have gone with him—unquestioning—anywhere.

Her whole being became passive, unresistant, flowed out to him in a soft, undulant flame.

In a dream, lost in a dream, she watched opalescent clouds drifting about the dark peak of Angel Island. She listened to music. Tears filled her eyes and a strange pang and rapture mingled in her heart.

She could not return to the dancing—could not go back to the others.

Love's Embers Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" By Adele Garrison

Philip Veritzen Surprisingly Concerned About Eleanor's Promise to Pose

OF course we all accompanied Eleanor Lincoln and young Mr. Jackson to their car. Dicky was the last to speed them on their way, and I am sure that it was not jealousy but accuracy of vision which told me that his farewell was a lingering and flamboyant one. But I was annoyed when I caught Mr. Veritzen's eyes watching me, and realized that he shared my observation and my opinion.

He fell into step beside me as we returned to the veranda. Noel pointedly waiting for Dicky, thus leaving Mary to Lillian. I heard my friend laughing and talking rapidly behind me, and guessed that she meant to abet my employer in his very patent desire for a few words alone with me.

Mr. Veritzen walked with me to the far end of the veranda, glanced around to see that we were out of earshot of Lillian and Mary—Noel and Dicky had not yet come in—and said tensely:

"What is this about your husband drawing Miss Lincoln? Is he going to paint her portrait?"

I looked at him in astonishment. There was in his voice an imperiousness which I rarely had heard, and in addition a tensity which appeared absurd considering the subject of his query. I did not attempt to keep a tinge of resentment out of my voice as I answered.

"Oh, no! Dicky is not so fortunate—or so ambitious. He does not do portraits."

He barely waited for me to finish before voicing an excited expostulation.

"But what is it then? For what is she going to sit tomorrow?"

I raised my eyebrows a trifle and felt a strong desire to tell him that he would better put his inquiries to Dicky. But the remembrance that he was my employer, and that I had no desire as yet to put my work for him in jeopardy curbed my speech.

"I do not know," I told him, "but I think she has promised to sit for the illustrations for a forthcoming novel which he has been commissioned to illustrate. He does a great deal of that work, you know."

He brushed my assumption away with an impatient wave of his hand, and his eyes were hard and arrogant as he looked down at me.

"But this is monstrous," he said. "Surely Miss Lincoln does not understand that her face is to appear in drawings as if she were a paid model!"

I caught my breath in anger that dwarfed my astonishment at this odd championing interest in Miss Lincoln's affairs. Gone for the moment was all thought that the man standing before me was my employer. My wounded vanity as well as my pride for Dicky's good breeding were aflame.

"It is not the same thing at all," I flared. "It is considered a great compliment for my husband to ask a girl to pose for an illustration. You cannot imagine how many angle for an invitation, and how rarely he finds a type which suits him. And—I have posed for him several times and I do not consider it 'monstrous' nor do I feel like a 'paid model.'"

Mr. Veritzen gave a sudden shocked exclamation, then seized both my hands.

"Oh! believe that I am bowed with remorse," he exclaimed extravagantly. "I did not dream! Don't you know that I would not offend you for the world?"

His eyes were filled with a contrite concern that went far to appease my wounded vanity. But something emphatic, compelling, drew my gaze away from his, and I saw Dicky glaring at me from the doorway.

Careless Washing Spoils the Hair

If you want beautiful hair, ordinary old-time methods of washing will not do. To bring out the real beauty, the hair must be shampooed properly.

Proper shampooing is what makes it soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft, silky and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

by TOM BIRKS

MANAGER CUM POSEY of the Homestead Grays has announced the signing of a new pitcher for this season's campaign. The new man is Speed Radcliffe of Durham, N. C. Reports state that the new twirler has plenty of stuff and the April schedule should give Manager Posey plenty of opportunity to see just what he has.

The Grays will open the season against the McConkeys at Wheeling on Sunday. The Posey aggregation will stay in the West Virginia town next week in heavy practice sessions getting primed for the local opener against the Eastern Ohio League stars at Forbest Field the following Saturday.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Bellevue Athletic Association will be held this evening in the Borough Hall. It is expected that all of the preliminary business connected with the running of the club will be settled, and plans laid for the season's opener.

That demon publicity man, Harry Yerkes, has not made his annual visit to the office telling the world that Bellevue will be champion, but that will come following this important session.

Most of the success of the Bellevue club can be laid to the efforts of Yerkes. Harry never has been a "yes" man and has fought hard when anything comes up affecting Bellevue's policy.

The Monessen K. S. has placed a first-class club on the diamond this season and wants to book all teams in the district. For games write Joe Kotch, 313 Second avenue, Monessen, Pa.

A peculiar situation might arise in the regular sandlot campaign this season with two umpire associations in the field ready to work in the interests of the leagues.

Some of the league presidents who have no ax to grind and care little for the interests of either organizations have not committed themselves as to who shall work the games under their control. Now what will be the situation should one of the league prexy's assign a man from each of the umpire associations to work one game? What would be the attitude of the umpires themselves when the thing comes up, as it may?

Without trying to separate the wheat from the chaff it must be stated that both organizations have some real capable men, men that can step out in any league and work a real ball game. In some quarters it is figured that the umpires would be foolish to refuse to work with any man, whether he belonged to the opposing organization or not. But the situation is rather ticklish and it should be weighed carefully.

Tommy Martin kicks in with a little communication to the effect that the Homestead Aces will start practice for the season next Monday. The Aces will be members of the Greater Pittsburgh League this season and also play independent baseball.

The season will be opened at East Pittsburgh April 29 with the Versailles A. C. May 2 will find Jack Fertig's stars meeting St. Vincent's College nine at Beatty, Pa.

Homestead is going to book most of the leading clubs in the tri-state district, and games are pending with Bellevue, Franklin and the Akron Firestones. For games write Tom Martin, Box 112, R. F. D., Homestead, Pa.

FRANK PACKARD HOME

Frank Packard, of the East End, third baseman of the Greensburg club, Pennsylvania League champions last year, has been unconditionally released by the Buffalo club of the International League, with which he had a tryout. He returned home last night and is dickering with the Waterbury (Conn.) club of the Eastern League.

MEXICANS 1ST FOES IN ZONE PLAY

MEXICO CITY, April 5.—(AP.)—Bill Tilden and Junior Coen played three fast practice sets yesterday in preparation for the Davis Cup matches between the United States and Mexico, beginning tomorrow.

Tilden won, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5, but Coen's skill aroused much enthusiasm from the Mexican spectators. Tilden said that the high altitude of Mexico City has not affected him. He is well satisfied with his condition and that of his fellow tennis players from the United States.

Only Tilden and Coen played yesterday, the other members of the team working out informally, as did the Mexican team.

It was agreed that the Davis cup play will get under way tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with a singles match between John Hennessey and Ricardo Tapia. Later in the afternoon Tilden will meet Robert Kinsey.

Unless the present plans are altered in the meantime, Tilden and Arnold Jones will play Kinsey and Alfonso Unda Saturday afternoon in the doubles.

If the Americans win the singles matches tomorrow and doubles contest Saturday, Mexico will be eliminated from Davis cup play, and Sunday's games will be exhibitions. Kinsey said that he is hopeful that the Mexican team may win one of the events of Friday or Saturday, thus carrying the Davis cup play into Sunday.

BOUCHER BIG ACE OF N.Y. TEAM

NEW YORK, April 5.—(AP.)—Out of the welter of preliminary rounds in the National Hockey League battle for the historic Stanley Cup, the world series of the ice firmament, Frank Boucher, diminutive center ice star of the New York Rangers, has come to stamp himself as one of the greatest players in the game.

Boucher will lead the Rangers on the ice of the Montreal Maroons in the Canadian metropolis tonight for the first of the final five-game series for the professional hockey title. The New Yorkers dusted off the Boston Bruins five goals to two in the two-game American division final, while the Maroons took the measure of the Montreal Canadiens, 3 to 2, in a similar joust for Canadian division honors.

BOUCHER MAIN THREAT

The brilliance of Boucher stands out above all others in a composite score of the preliminary efforts of the two teams fighting tonight for the championship. Boucher tallied three goals, assisted in the scoring of three others, and spent no time in the penalty box. The Rangers scored 11 goals and seven assists in the first elimination series with Pittsburgh, and the division final against the Bruins.

Boucher, recipient of the Lady Byng trophy for combining effectiveness with sportsmanship, played through the four games without once incurring the displeasure of the referees.

In addition to leading all scores, Boucher was a tower of strength on the defense, his sweeping pokecheck smashed dozens of attacks of Pittsburgh and Boston forwards.

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

VETERAN baseball fans have often brought up the question as to what sort of averages hitters like Honus Wagner, Napoleon (Larry) Lajoie, Ed Delahanty and other star swatters of the bygone would have been able to pile up if they had been privileged t obat against the lively ball of recent years instead of the much "deader" ball of their time.

Larry Lajoie.

There isn't much doubt that the old-time sluggers, who hit from .350 to .400 without the aid of a rabbit ball, would have "murdered" the lively pellet and would have kept infielders dodging and sidestepping to escape being maimed by line drives or vicious grounders when they were not landing long wallops against or over the fences.

MEN who hit .300 in those days were outstanding players. You could count them on your fingers. Nowadays a club like the Yankees or Pirates may have more .300 hitters on the team roster than could be found at one time in a whole league.

Lajoie himself was asked if he thought the lively ball would have made much difference in the hitting of the stars of his days.

"It is hard to say what some of the old boys would have done with the present ball and the present style of batting from the end of the handle. You don't see much variety in hitting now. You rarely see a man choke his bat. They

CHILLY SAUCE

BY CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 5.—Late this week, the Pittsburgh management expects to farm out three of the club's surplus pitchers. Present conditions indicate that Roy Mahaffey, George Peery and Charles Walsh will be sent away from the club for further seasoning.

WALSH the tall New Yorker, who twirled in the New England League last summer, did not expect to remain with the club this year. The other two perhaps had visions of staying with the Bushwhackers.

MAHAFFEY was regarded as one of the best recruits of the 1927 crop, but he has been given only a small part in the cast this season. Peery also was favorably mentioned, but the doings of Lester Bartholomew has clinched the extra southpaw job for this boy.

BUSH is expected to carry 11 pitchers until some time after the season gets under way. The 11 likely to be retained are, Kremer, Hill, Meadows, Grimes, Miljus, Dawson, Brame, Tauscher, Spencer, Fussell, and Bartholomew.

AFTER he gets his fences fixed, Donie may cut to nine sharpshooters. Brame, Tauscher, Spencer and Bartholomew are apt to battle it out for the two permanent jobs. The latter, however, has actually shown more than Fussell, but Fred has been doing his trick for many years, and as the Buccos paid a heavy price for his purchase, it is quite proper to regard him as a regular.

INFIELDER Cobern Jones also will be "planted" in some convenient spot. The actions of this peppery little Welshman has won him the right to go out with a Pirate string, and if it is possible to dispose of him, this will be the procedure.

EDDIE MULLIGAN, Dick Bartell and Joe Harris will be kept for infield utility roles, with Harris available for several positions, including outfield posts. Pete Scott also will be a utility player.

THE fact that Ralston Hemsley has been given so much attention indicates that Bush is not overly impressed with Scott's action behind the plate. Pete's throw seems to be a drawback to him.

ALEX RELY STOPPED

BUENOS AIRES, April 5.—(AP.)—Miguel Bonaglia, of Italy, scored a technical knockout over Alex Rely, Negro light-heavyweight, of Peru, and champion of South America, in the ninth round of a scheduled 12-round bout here last night. After Rely had been floored repeatedly by the hard-hitting Italian, the referee stopped the bout to save the Peruvian from further punishment.

Risko Alternate For Tom Heeney

By SID MERCER,

International News Service, Special Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Should anything happen to prevent Tom Heeney from meeting Gene Tunney in a title match next July, Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, will substitute for the New Zealander.

Risko was named as an alternate yesterday after a conference between his manager, Danny Dunn, and Jess McMahon, representing Tex Rickard.

McMahon holds that Risko's record entitles him to this rating, and while no contracts will be entered into, Dunn will hold his man in readiness for any emergency.

Meanwhile Dunn announces that he isn't tied up with any promoter and is open to all offers. Before calling on McMahon Dunn dropped in on Humbert Fugazy to inquire if there is any work for Risko in the heavyweight jousting the Signor contemplates promoting next summer.

Fugazy said there might be a spot for Johnny, since he is one heavyweight who doesn't pick his shots. Heeney and Risko are two lads who have never quibbled about their opponents and consequently they are at the top of the heap now while their more brilliant but temperamental rivals are getting nowhere.

INCREASES DUCKPIN SCORES

Note the thick rubber bands on the duckpins above. The addition of these bands is mainly responsible for the larger scores and frequent perfect counts these days. The sport has become exceedingly popular since the rollers find that with the rubber band pin 300 scores no longer are beyond their grasp.

The barnstorming Buccos were within a silk thread of another defeat yesterday when they grabbed for rafts that carried them safely to the port of victory. Imagine their embarrassment, folks, as the scoreboard showed two out in the ninth, nobody on the sacks and the San Antonio club three runs to the good. Just when it looked as if the Pirates were to look as foolish as Congressman Frisby they staged a three-run rush of tallies, tied the game and then won out in the eleventh, 10 to 6.

Now that they have won one in succession the Pittsburghers are confident that the worm has turned. They are all set today to take on the local Texas League team in another tussle before heading for Dallas where tomorrow they play the Detroit Tigers.

KREMER TO HURL

Manager Bush stated this morning that Remy Kremer would work the first part of the game against San Antonio, one of the younger twirlers will wind up the struggle. If Kremer feels strong enough he may go the seven-inning route.

John Miljus was ticketed for seven frames yesterday, but the tall Serbian was whacked in the leg with a pitched ball in the sixth inning, the accident forcing him out of the ball game. It is not believed he will be held back in his slab work, although John had to go through some pain-will be only a question of a short time until eevry department is able to present its full strength, and I am confident that when that time comes the Pittsburgh team will prove itself the best in the National League.

ONE SLOW STARTER

"Looking over the regular lineup, only one man appears to be playing below the form he ought to be showing, but I have no doubt that Manager Bush soon will have that player going at his normal gait.

"One other player, Glenn Wright, has worked so hard that he is slightly oertrained, but he will be rested sufficiently to make him 'just right' when the season opens.

"Pie Traynor is suffering from a lame back, but most of the other ailing players are members of the pitching department. Some have suffered from illness and others were held back by those five straight days of idleness enforced by rain. These include Kremer, who was an influenza sufferer early in the training period; Miljus, who has been afflicted with boils; Meadows, who, on account of a sore arm, has not had a ball in his hands since the first time he tried to pitch; Hill, who is having trouble with his back; and Fussell, who is nursing a lame arm.

"It is Manager Bush's intentention to send Hill home in order that he may have his back treated by aff specialist, but his ailment is not seriousv, and I believe he will be able to rejoin the team in

by HARRY KECK SPORTS EDITOR

ONE reads a lot these days about 300, or perfect, scores in duckpins. Until a year or so ago they were scarcer than the proverbial hen's molars.

What is the explanation?

It's very simple. The duckpin game has been made easier for the bowler. And, in being made easier, more attractive and popular.

The thrill that comes of rolling a topnotch score is sweet nectar to the pin-shooter. He'd rather roll 300 than be President—that is, unless he COULD be President.

ANXIOUS to learn why the scores have been going up in duckpins I made some inquiries among men who should know, alley owners, manufacturers, etc., and I have learned that experimentation has brought about the desired effect. The game owes a lot to the addition of the rubber bands on the small bottle-like pins. The first bands were one-half inch in thickness, but recently the standard size has become five-eights of an inch and there are some pins with three-quarters of an inch of rubber encircling them. (See photo elsewhere on this page). Reducing or rounding the bottoms of the pins to make them tumble easier also has helped.

One of the objects of the American Duckpin Congress, which opens its first National tournament next week on the Haus alleys, North Side, will be to standardize duckpin bowling. It will investigate all reports of perfect scores, measuring the alleys on which they are rolled, the ball and the pins. The equipment will have to be standard or-

She defeated Miss Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, 6 up and 5 to play.

SIANOS TAKE P.-O. TITLE

Taking the lead from the start, mainly through the splendid playing of Willie Cotz, the Siano basketball team clinched the P. & O. League title by defeating the J. J. Melles in the final and deciding game of the play-off series. The score was 22-14.

The Melles won the first game of the series, after winning first half honors in the league, and then dropped the second to the Siano quintet. The team strove manfully last night to win its second consecutive league title, but the Sianos were too fast and too good.

The victors led at the end of the first period 7-2 and at the end of the half, 13-4. The Melles rallied strongly in the third session and managed to cut down the lead by outscoring the Siano passers 8 to 5, but faltered again in the last period and were outclassed 4-2.

Cotz was high scorer, getting a field goal and 5 out of 6 fouls.

Changes Aid To Sluggers

NEW YORK, April 5.—(INS.)—Disputes concerning the interpretation of baseball rules by National League umpires are expected to be decreased this season by the annual instructions sent out today by President John A. Heydler to his staff of 14 umpires. President Heydler laid down concise and clear interpretations of points which puzzled some of his arbiters last season.

One ruling probably will increase the number of home runs in the senior circuit this season. President Heydler told his umpires that a ball hit into any stand or over any inside fence at least 250 feet from the home plate should be called fair or foul according to where it passes from the actual playing field. The front of the stand or the inside fence, instead of the spot where the ball strikes the stand, will guide the umpire in determining whether the hit is fair or foul.

MORE HOMERS LIKELY

This means that hits which curve into foul territory and strike some visible object will be legitimate homers provided they are fair hit when they pass the actual playing field. Sluggers such as Chick Hafey of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose hits travel close to the foul line and hook or slice like golf drives, will benefit by the ruling.

A ball hit outside the grounds is to be judged from the point where it disappears from the umpire's view.

President Heydler enjoined his umpires to "keep their eyes on the ball," warned them not to call plays too quickly and advised them to study the rules daily. Other instruction were:

"Do not turn away too fast when a fielder is throwing to complete a double play.

"Watch out for those dropped balls after you have called a man out.

"If you are sure you got the play correctly, do not be stampeded by the appeals of players to ask the other umpire for his decision on the play.

"Keep your temper. Be courteous, but firm."

SCORING RULE CHANGED

President Heydler ruled that when a scoring runner passed the all like to take the giant swing.

"I wish that Joe Jackson and Charley Hickman were back to clout the ball that the big leagues have been using in the last seven or eight years.

"JACKSON hit about as hard as anyone who ever played baseball. Ruth no doubt is in a class of his own at his specialty, but Jackson was a great all-around hitter. He socked the ball a mile in every park around the circuit and made the longest drives on record at the Polo Grounds, in New York, hitting the ball over the clubhouse roof.

Trave Waner

"I have no doubt that if Ruth went in for batting averages instead of home runs he would hit over .400. If he choked that bat and crossed up the enemy he would paste many a ball into left and center.

"But I guess he has doped this thing out for himself. The money seems to be in home runs.

ONCE he got started on the job of pruning down the Pirate squad, Donie Bush did not permit any grass to grow under his feet.

Nine men have already been released to a wide variety of leagues, as follows:

Infielder Joe Cronin to Kansas City, American Association.

Catcher Bill Haeffner to New York, National League.

Pitcher Johnny Morrison to Montreal, International League.

Pitcher Regis Leheny to Salisbury, Piedmont League.

Pitcher James Lindsey to San Antonio to Houston, Texas League.

Infielder George Gottleber to Fort Worth, Texas League.

Outfielder Parker Brewer to Salisbury to Tyler, East Texas League.

Pitcher John Deming, released unconditionally.

Outfielder Traven Waner, released unconditionally.

WHETHER it will come as a disappointment or a relief to sport followers in this section is a point that is open to debate, but the announcement is authorized from official sources that there will be no six-day footrace in Pittsburgh.

Jack Kathisk.

Manager John L. Hernon of Motor Square Garden planned to stage in May the first six-day go-as-you-please held in Pittsburgh in nearly 30 years, but last night he announced that the booking of another kind of show for May 15 and the fixing of tentative dates for other exhibitions would leave no time open during the month for the proposed competition in pedestrianism.

So it's going to be at least one more year before Pittsburgh gets another look at go-as-you-please racers of the kind that used to while around the track at old City Hall night and day for six days three decades back.

WITH the six-day race off the calendar, it is the intention of Manager Hernon to devote his entire attention to the final boxing show of the indoor season, which is to be held on the night of April 16, one week from next Monday.

He will not depend solely upon the attractiveness of the main bout, but will round out the card with some of the most promising preliminary events arranged here in a long time.

All around, the closing show bids fair to be a hummer, and it will not be surprising if the final indoor card draws the largest crowd of the entire local season.

GERALD FITZGERALD, the Brookline boy and former star baseball player for Union High School of Knoxville, continues his brilliant work as an outfield candidate on the Newark (N. J.) club of the International League at such a rate that he appears to have "made the team."

One of Fitzgerald's performances in a practice game was commented upon as follows by Frank B. Ford, one of the Newark critics with the team:

"GERALD FITZGERALD, III, the semi-pro from Pittsburgh, continues to crash the spotlight. The flashy outfielder appears to be a diamond in the rough, and with a little polish will shine brightly. He is almost certain to be a fixture with the Bruins.

Gerald Fitzgerald.

"The protege of Lee Magee and Hans Wagner was nearly the whole show in a practice game. His great hitting helped the Polars to wallop the Bears in a seven-inning game, 13 to 8.

"Fitz contributed a triple, double and a single and his catch off Lee's bat robbed Cliff of a homer. Coach McBride and President Sinnott marveled at Jerry's performance. Fitz covers ground rapidly."

There appears to be little chance of the Pittsburgh boy getting away from the Bears. Although a little fellow he packs a tremendous wallop. His triple off Zubris would have cleared the right center field fence at Newark.

WEST NEWTON GETS BERTH

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 5.—West Newton, recent N. B. F. champions and recognized as one of the best ball towns in the Western Pennsylvania district, has cast its lot for the first time with league baseball and this summer will be a member of the new Pennsylvania League, it was announced today following a meeting of the circuit here last night.

The franchise of the Yough Valley town will be held by Billy Hammers, a veteran player of West Newton, and he will have the assistance of W. L. (Bill) Goehring, former manager of the great teams that town has turned out in the past.

Five other towns gave definite assurance they would be represented in the league this summer. They include New Kensington, represented by Fred Broad; Latrobe, by Judge Head; Monessen, by John McIlvaine and Dennis Oates; Blairsville, by Al Gormley, and Greensburg, by Dick Guy. Monongahela City may also be admitted to the league, while Vandergrift is withholding its application for a few days until the status of the ball park can be determined.

Judge Head and Al Gormley have been named as a committee to draw up the schedule, while Dick Guy will prepare a new constitution and by-laws. The utmost harmony prevailed at last night's meeting and a successful season is anticipated.

PIRATES

ful contortions after reaching the bench.

Lester (Lefty) Bartholomew, one of the most impressive of the younger society of pitchers, relieved Miljus and the strong boy was on the hill when the victory was recorded. Bartholomew continued his recent good work against the Cubs by working three hitless frames in a row.

Brother Paul Waner, coming out of his batting slump, started the rally that kept the Buccos on even terms with the foe and sent the contest into extra rounds. Paul belted a clean single to left with two out in the ninth. Wright walked. Traynor singled and when Boots Grantham doubled, Pie carried the fast mail home like Paddock.

Dan Fillingim, one of the few registered spitball pitchers of the sport, twirled four rounds against the Pirates and held them to one tally. Recruit Newman bothered the Pirates a lot up to the two-out-in-the-ninth pass when he weakened. Watt was on the mound for the Bears when the game ended.

Leo Najo, a Mexican star of the national pastime, and Chief Nason, an Indian, hammered out a homer and a three-bagger that almost spilled the beans for the Pirates. The boy from across the border drove the ball over the left field wall with one out and the red man tripled with the bases loaded, all of this occurring in the first round. It was a hard blow from which to recover, but the big leaguers finally made the riffle. The dark shadows were falling on the ball orchard when the last out was made.

Steel ships are built by men's muscles

531 men in the Sun Shipyards relieve muscle lameness this way

IT'S A REAL man's job—the work of the men on the ways in the big shipyards. It takes all the strength—the skill—the courage a man's got.

Big wages—adventure—the spice of danger! Yes, and stiff backs—occasional wrenches, sprains, bruises—and rheumatism when you've been riding the girders or running the big traveling cranes out in a drizzling rain all day.

How do men who do this heavy work relieve the effects of strain and exposure? How do they treat the occasional minor injuries that are bound to occur?

We made a canvass among the workers in the yards of the Sun Shipbuilding Company of Chester, Pa., one of the largest shipbuilding concerns in this country.

531 told us, "We use Sloan's."

One of the men in the Sun Shipyards who told us that they use Sloan's to relieve strains, colds, rheumatism

Miners, steel workers, policemen, firemen, stevedores, farmers—all who do hard muscular work know Sloan's. It is the liniment that always kills the aches that come from exposure to cold and wet, from heavy lifting—from strains, sprains and wrenched muscles.

Workers in every trade praise Sloan's

Read what this garage worker writes: "One night when I came in from my work my left leg pained me and the next morning it was swollen up and worried me when walking. I applied Sloan's Liniment to it that night and the pain nearly all left, but the swelling was still there so I applied it again and the next day the swelling was all gone. For aches and pains I find nothing to beat Sloan's Liniment. I keep a bottle in the garage where I work." T. E. Jacob, 1213 Reynold St., Shreveport, La.

Sloan's Liniment is pleasant and clean to use. You don't even have to rub it in. Just pat it on gently. At once you feel a tide of fresh, healing blood rush to the aching spot. Sloan's heals by helping nature. It isn't a drug—it is absolutely safe and cannot harm anyone. Keep a bottle always in the house. All druggists—35 cents. Use it for:

Rheumatism Lame muscles
Sciatica Stiff neck
Lumbago Colds and congestions
Neuralgia
Sprains and bruises

The company doctor of one of the biggest industries of the country says of Sloan's: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

SOUMINEN RETAINS LEAD

By LELAND C. LEWIS,
International News service.

AMARILLO, Tex., April 5.—C. C. (Cross Country) Pyle's 91 bunion derbyists dug their toes deep into the soil of the Texas Panhandle today as they scampered toward Amarillo, their thirty-third control, 35 miles from Vega.

Arne Souminen, Detroit naprapath, leader in the race with an elapsed time of 189:45:10 for the 1,152 miles from Los Angeles, had an edge of 5 hours 15 minutes 32 seconds over Andrew Payne, youthful Oklahomian. Payne's margin over Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, was cut to 1 hour 53 minutes 59 seconds when the latter traversed the 27.2 miles from Glenrio, N. M., to Vega, Tex., in 5:14:10.

Olli Wanttinen, 96-pound New York Finn, continued to forge ahead, finishing but 29 seconds behind Gavuzzi and thus bolstering his race position.

Neither Earl Dilks, of New Castle, Pa., nor Paul Simpson, of Burlington, N. C., had checked in up to the time this dispatch was filed. Both had been out 12 hours.

The next stop after Amarillo will be Groom, Friday; McLean, Saturday; Texola, on Texas-Oklahoma boundary, Sunday; Sayre, Okla., Monday; Clinton, Tuesday; Geary, Wednesday; El Reno, Thursday; Oklahoma City, Friday.

Here are the 10 leaders in the bunion derby, with their elapsed times for the 1,152 miles covered since leaving Los Angeles on March 4.

Arne Souminen, Detroit, 189:45:10.
Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 195:00:42.
Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, Eng., 196:54:41.
John Cronick, Saskatoon, Sask., 215:50:25.
John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 217:27:30.
Ed Gardner, Seattle, 218:17:56.
Philip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 219:02:20.

catcher, but fails to touch the plate, the catcher or fielder does not need to chase the runner to the bench. The runner should be declared out on appeal to the fielder.

One new ruling is: There is a runner on first base and three balls have been called on the batsman. The runner starts to steal on the next pitch, which is called a ball, and he oversides second base. If the catcher's throw gets him before he gets back to the bag he is out.

If ropes are stretched around the field to hold back an overflow crowd, a fielder cannot jump over or climb under the ropes to catch the ball. He may reach over the ropes, however. Similarly, a catcher or fielder cannot jump into the stand or a box to catch a foul ball.

FLOOR COACHES MEET TO DISCUSS RULES

CHICAGO, April 5.—(AP.)—The one-bounce rule, stalling and the center jump were subjects for airing today at the annual meeting of the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

While having no power to make rules, the coaches may make suggestions to national rule committee. The coaches were divided on the question of stalling and the center jump, while it was regarded as doubtful if the adherents to the one-bounce rule had sufficient strength to turn the vote of the association in their favor.

Forrest Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas, is president of the organization.

SPEAKING of SPORTS

by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

the scores will not be officially recognized.

RAE GARBER, veteran alley owner, told me of one of the best games he ever saw rolled, a 297, back in the days when duckpin rolling was a tough sport insofar as high scoring was concerned. It was turned in by one Zebo Perry, now part owner of the Iroquois alleys in Frankstown avenue, in a match with George Hastie on the Auditorium alleys in the East End, in March, 1922. The pins had one-half inch bands, and the match was rolled late at night, finishing up about midnight. Perry, of course, rolled 11 straight strikes and got seven out on his last ball. By that time, according to Garber, the gallery had crowded down on the alleys to such an extent that they were even lining the gutters beyond the foul line. That 297 score was a SCORE in those days.

HOW many games can a good basketball official handle in the course of a season?

I have some interesting statistics on the activities of the Tri-State Officials Association, which has just completed its second season. More than 1,000 games were handled by the body during the 1927-28 campaign, averaging 15 per night. Bill Griffith led the group with 120 games. Sully Ross worked in 92 and Leo Mackey in 90, the latter's string being interrupted when he had to go South to take up his baseball duties. Dave Mervis officiated in 67 games and Al Speer in 65. Others over the 50 mark included: Chester Briggs, Bill Sterling, Al Callahan, Elmer Haenel, Harry Levine, Dr. Sarraf, Ham Wayman and Larry Greene.

PITT is in the midst of its spring football training and Carnegie Tech begins its preliminary gridiron work next Tuesday. I always have been skeptical of the value and necessity of such drills, in view of the fact that the weather is unseasonable and the players hardly can become interested in their work. However, I may be wrong and I hope I am. In this connection, here are five good reasons advanced by the Harvard News, the official publication of the Harvard Athletic Association, for the continuation of spring football practice by the Crimson at a time when many of the colleges and universities are giving up the idea:

"It affords enjoyable exercise in the spring.

"It affords opportunities for experiments which the intensity of the fall season does not permit.

"It enables men to get more individual training in specialities such as kicking and passing.

"It enables the 'unheralded' players to get closer contacts with the coaches than is possible in the fall.

"It gives to these same players a fairer chance to show their ability than can be given in the fall."

Oil Well bowlers second with 2,117. The P. A. A. No. 3 and P. A. A. N. 2 teams finished third and fourth.

In the doubles, Eckhart and Mearkle were high with 969. Marrone and Johnson were second with 848 and Caldwell and Leonard third with 840. McHogh and McGraw followed with 824. All were P. A. A. bowlers.

In the singles, Wilden's 522 was good for high for the day. Mearkle was second with a 483 and Eckhart third with 475. Caldwell hit 443 for fourth and Shafer 433 for fifth.

Although he won no event, H. B. Votel emerged the big winner in the annual singles and doubles tenpin tournament of the Carrick Eagles, the official prize list, announced today, reveals. Votel placed second in the singles, second in the all-events and paired with Pefferman to gain second honors in the doubles. Jack Vantine, first in the all-events and, with W. DREYFUSS

St. Louis for the opener next week.

DEPEND ON YOUNGSTERS

"The condition of the regular pitchers means that we shall have to depend largely upon the younger hurlers at the start, apart, of course, from Grimes. Burleigh is in fine form and I feel sure that he will have a big year for us. In his game last Sunday against the Cubs only one ball that he pitched should have got past the infielders.

"Among the younger men we have found some real pitchers in Bartholomew, Brame, Tauscher, Spencer and Fussell. The only trouble with them is that they have been wild. That applies to our whole staff. It has given more than 100 bases on balls this spring. That fault may be traced to the bad weather and idleness."

From President Dreyfus' remarks about the pitchers the inference might be drawn that at present Grimes looks like first choice for the opening game.

OUTFIELD RACE

The Pittsburgh magnate says Manager Bush has not yet reached a final decision on the matter of filling the vacant post in the outfield.

"It's between Comorosky and Barnhart," he said, "and there is no telling how the fight will turn out. Comorsky looks great in fielding, running and throwing, and I am confident that he will hit well, too, though he has been batting in hard luck up to date, driving the ball 'straight at' some one almost every time up. Barnhart is beginning to find his stride after his usual slow start, and his batting is keeping him in the race for the place.

"No matter whether Comorosky or Barnhart is chosen, the successful candidate will play left field. There will be no moving of Lloyd Waner from center field, as was once considered by Manager Bush, the little fellow having convinced every one this spring that he can throw well enough for all requirements in the position. He has caught every player whom he tried to catch on a throw so far.

"Grantham has not been hitting, but of course that is only a temporary slump. It is much better for him to have it now than after the season opens.

"Adams looks great at second base and he and Wright will show Pirate rooters plenty of double plays this season.

HEMSLEY TO BE KEPT

"We have found in Ralston Hemsley the makings of a great young catcher. In fact, he is so good already that we are going to keep him and within a short time he ought to be an outstanding performer behind the bat. Scott also looks good as a maskman.

"All around, I am perfectly satisfied with the team, and I know that our patrons also will be satisfied with it. The Pirates are better than in 1927 because they have a stronger infield and more good pitchers. Besides, perfect harmony prevails and the club's morale is high. Don't worry about the Pirates."

GROVE CITY SPORTS STAR IS HONORED

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 5.—Harold Briggs, star on Grove City High's football and basketball squads, will be one of the Pennsylvania National Guard members to take a free trip to France this summer. Briggs won the honor through his work as a member of the local company.

KATKISH IN FINAL SHOW

JOHN HERNON, manager-matchmaker of the Motor Square Club, is working on what may be the last boxing show in the East End arena this season, to be held one week from next Monday. Jack Katkish will be seen in the main bout against the best available opponent, and the windup will be well backed up. Joe Louder will make his second appearance in one of the prelims.

Jack McFarland, veteran heavyweight boxer of Braddock, whose "comeback" a little more than a year ago was cut short by the death of his young daughter, now is mourning the loss of his mother, Mrs. Catherine Dufalls, of Braddock, who passed away Tuesday night.

Tommy Crowley is home from Indianapolis for the Easter holidays and has a battle awaiting him when he returns to the Hoosier capital. He reports the boxing game flourishing there. Tommy left here almost three months ago and has had three bouts in Indianapolis and one in Chicago. He defeated Danny Budd in eight rounds and Jackie Purvis and Jack Duffy in 10 each at Indianapolis and lost a four-rounder with Ray Miller in Chicago. His victory over Duffy was scored a little more than two weeks ago, and last Tuesday night Duffy handily defeated Tod Morgan, the junior lightweight champion, in a nontitular bout at Toledo.

Mike Moran, Mt. Washington bantamweight, is about to branch out as a manager. He probably will handle Monte Sirko, the featherweight, and a welterweight to begin with.

Jim Corbett, former heavyweight champion, is booked at Loew's Aldine in an act next week.

A letter awaits Jack Burke at this office.

It is reported that Ray Shafer, Lawrenceville middleweight, will return under the management of Tom Bowler, whom he left to go with Red Mason.

Young Bailey, Negro welterweight, of Herron Hills, is anxious to box anybody his weight. He has met Freddie Star, of Atlanta, Bob Jones, of San Antonio, and Young Calloway, of Los Angeles. His manager may be reached by calling Montrose 8062.

STEEPLECHASE ADDED TO PENN RELAY CARD

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—(AP.)—In an effort to aid the Olympic committee in developing athletes for the 3,000-meter steeplechase race, Lawson Robertson, head coach of the American Olympic team and also of the Pennsylvania track team, has had the event placed on the program of the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival, April 27 and 28.

The event will run on the inside of the cinder path on Franklin Field. Every quarter mile will be a water jump, with three feet hurdles firmly fixed on the edge of the jump. The hazard will be 14 feet long with 3 feet of water at the deepest point.

Each competitor must jump over or go through the water. Stepping aside will automatically eliminate the contestant.

SIMPSON, FAMOUS KING OF TRAPSHOOTERS, DIES

ROSELLE, N. J., April 5.—(AP.)—William J. Simpson, 61, a three-time holder of the national trapshooting championship, died here today.

Mr. Simpson was a national figure in trapshooting circles in 1897, 1898 and 1899 and at that time was considered the greatest live-bird shot in the country.

Business Is Enterprising, This Experience Reveals.

By B. C. FORBES

IF employment is not booming, it is not because manufacturers, merchants, tradesmen and others are not striving strenuously to boom business.

The writer recently filed plans for a modest addition to his home.

Followed a deluge of offers of merchandise and services of every conceivable kind. Clearly, most elaborate systems have been devised for obtaining business "leads" and of utilizing them.

THE following gives a general classification of communications which poured in by the score:

- Mortgage and finance.
- Furniture.
- Furniture specialist.
- Heating apparatus.
- Heating regulators.
- Wallpaper.
- Shingles.
- Plumbing fixtures.
- Cabinet work.
- Burglary insurance.
- Copper and brass.
- Fencing.
- Construction.
- Linoleum.
- Hardware and locks.
- Trees and shrubs.
- Radiator enclosure cabinets.
- Fireplace furnishing.
- Lighting fixtures.
- Plaster and cement.
- Tile.
- Painting and decorating.
- Electric cooker.
- Weather stripping.
- Garden pottery.

"MONEY is hard to get," you often hear. To me, the most interesting of all the letters were from people anxious to lend money. Some of the letters indicated that security was a matter of no consideration. They simply had so much money that they couldn't find enough people willing to accept some of it. Solemn assurances were given that the rate asked would astonish and delight me by its sweet reasonableness.

The money-lenders stand prepared not only to finance the building operations, but some are quite sure there will be lots of little things my wife will want and they are most eager that she should get them even though I haven't on hand the necessary wherewithal. Just let them do it. It will be for them an extreme pleasure. They are so very anxious to make us all happy and to enjoy our home to the full. The amount desired doesn't matter in the slightest. One lender gives the assurance, "I represent a syndicate of private lenders who have unlimited funds" which he is anxious to have me share "under a very liberal arrangement and at the lowest obtainable interest rates."

TAKING the letters as a whole, they are effectively written. Most of them start out informally and pleasantly. Some express the hope that the "new home" will be showered with blessings. Then they adroitly go on to explain how the concern sending the letter is prepared and fitted to sell the desired blessings. Few of the letters are starkly formal.

One impression conveyed is that apparently a very large part of the buying of things connected with a home is done on the installment plan. A great many of the letters emphasized that the matter of payment could be arranged without the slightest trouble. Not only furniture, but fancy stuff of various descriptions was offered on easy payment plans.

THE incident forcefully illustrates the alertness of modern American business. Obviously, no possibility of obtaining a new account is overlooked. It is manifest, also, that small communities are thoroughly covered, for all this occurred in connection with an addition to a home in a suburb of moderate size.

I NOTICED that the communications which received the most favorable attention were those which looked best. Cheap, shabby-looking envelopes containing correspondingly cheap and shabby-looking enclosures were given short shrift. On the other hand, some of the well-illustrated ones compelled attention and aroused discussion.

Where the unit of sale is at all sizeable, it would seem that mail sales efforts should be made as attractive as possible. A cheap letter or circular suggests a cheap concern behind it.

THE homes of the masses in America are admittedly more attractive than those in any other country. For this we have mainly to thank high wages, of course, but at least some credit is due the enterprising business concerns who bring their appealing wares to the attention of prospective buyers.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 5.—General selling of wheat resulted today from rains in the Southwest, and prices underwent an early setback. Moisture appeared to have been supplied during the night to sections which yesterday were untouched. Opening ⅝ to 1c lower, wheat subsequently showed additional downturns. Corn, oats and provisions were also weak, with corn starting ⅝ to 1⅛c down, and afterward continuing to drop.

At noon wheat was ¼ to 1c net lower and corn down 1 to 1¼.

Declines in wheat values today, which were associated with more ample moisture for dry territory southwest, came in the face of authoritative advices indicating that Europe will need to import substantial quantities of wheat between now and the end of August. In this connection estimates were current that world shipments will have to keep around 18,000,000 bushels weekly to satisfy the prospective demand.

Corn prices went downward with wheat, despite word that there will be no carry-over of corn this season in Argentina. Scarcity of old corn on Illinois farms was likewise reported. Near Champaign, Ill., a count made on a 26-mile trip showed 36 cribs empty and nine full, whereas in a previous season a similar count showed 33 full and only 13 empty.

CARRIERS LEAD ADVANCE OF STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 5.—(AP.)—Speculators for the advance continued in control of the price movement in today's stock market, which was featured by the heavy buying of the railroad shares. Extreme gains in the active issues ranged from 1 to nearly 12 points, with more than two score individual shares mounting to new high ground. Trading showed a moderate expansion in volume, with every indication that the day's sales would cross the 3,000,000-share mark for the nineteenth consecutive full session.

Eastern railroad executives adjourned without making any announcement regarding their consolidation plans, but the persistent accumulation of the carrier shares indicated that progress had been made. Call money advanced from 5 to 5½ per cent in the early afternoon, as banks called loans in anticipation of heavy week-end demands for currency.

Delaware and Hudson assumed the leadership of the railroad group by soaring nearly 12 points. Pittsburgh and West Virginia extended its early gain to nearly 8 points, and Hudson and Manhattan, Reading, Texas and Pacific, Wabash and Lehigh Valley climbed 2 to 5 points.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe was run up 10 points, Dupont and Purity Baking B each advanced 8 points, Interborough Rapid Transit 7, and General Motors, Continental Can, Abraham & Straus, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit and Schulte Retail Stores sold 5 or more points higher.

There were a few soft spots. Wright Aeronautical, after climbing 5½ points to 137¼, dropped to 128⅛, and Curtiss Aeroplane sold down 3⅝ points.

Coppers were in brisk demand in the early afternoon. Greene Cananea jumped 5 points, and Anaconda was turned over in large volume, touching a new high at 65¼.

The closing was strong. More varied buying came into the market in the late afternoon when huge amounts of popular shares were turned over, including General Motors which sold as high as 194½. Pittsburgh and West Virginia reached 154, making the week's gain 30 points. Gains of five to six were recorded by Wheeling and Lake Erie pfd., Adams Express, American Zinc pfd. and Greene Cananea Copper. Total sales approximated 4,000,000 shares.

Solving the Problems that Confront Your Estate

Money Takes Wings

FEW who are left the proceeds of life insurance in cash invest it wisely or keep it long. The temptation is to spend it quickly. That is why so many women and children for whom life insurance was purchased as a protection find within a few years that the money has taken wings and flown away.

The wise plan in buying life insurance is to create a Trust to receive the proceeds of policies in order that the estate may be carefully invested and conserved for the real protection of those for whom it is intended.

Our Trust Officers will be pleased to give full particulars regarding Life Insurance Trusts, small or large.

COKE OUTPUT SHOWS GAIN

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 5.—The Courier says: The greater activity at the plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company was alone responsible for the gain in coke production which took place last week. Had the situation been dependent upon the merchant producers exclusively there would have been a slipping back from the high level attained during the week ended March 24.

The estimated production of coke during the week ending Saturday, March 31, was 70,570 tons, divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 35,220, an increase of 6,260 tons; Lower Connellsville, 35,350, a decrease of 2,390 tons, or a net increase of 3,870 tons, as compared with a total increase of 2,530 tons during the preceding week.

The market remains quotable as follows:

Spot foundry	$3.75@4.25

Monthly averages of prices have shown scarcely any variation, as follows:

	Fur.	Fdry.
January	$2.70	$4.00
February	2.68	4.00
March	2.70	4.00

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The raw sugar market was easier early today prices declining 1-16 of a cent to the basis of 4.52c, under increased offerings, brought about by the decline in futures. Sales included 14,000 bags of Philippines and 22,500 bags of Porto Ricos for April shipment at 4.52c.

Raw sugar futures opened weak at declines of 2 to 5 points under more active liquidation promoted by more liberal offerings in the spot market and easier London cables. Prices at one time showed losses of 4 to 6 points on active positions, uncovering considerable stop-loss orders. After their execution, a steadier tone developed with rallies of 2 to 3 points on covering and trade buying. The market at midday was 2 to 4 points net lower. The earlier selling was active and the sentimental influence of the break in rubber attributed to the removal of restrictions on shipments of that commodity by the British government may have been a factor following recent reports that President Machado proposed to discontinue the restrictions on sugar production in Cuba.

No changes were reported in refined sugar, prices ranging from 5.95 to 6.00c for fine granulated. The recent buying movement by the trade evidently had supplied their requirements for some time to come and little new business was reported.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

New York Tractions Spurt.

New York traction stocks came into sudden favor today and vied with General Motors and the merger rails for market prominence. Wide gains were established in Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Interborough, while Hudson and Manhattan Railway followed the move with a five-point jump. The Street is not hopeful of the success of the movement to obtain a 7-cent fare on the New York lines and for this reason there was considerable uncertainty as to just what was behind today's upturn in the stocks. One suggestion was that a consolidation of interests will take place whether or not the fares are increased, and it is thought material economies may result from elimination of duplicated overhead charges.

Easter Bonuses.

The stock exchange will put up the shutters for a three-day layoff this afternoon, but the suspension does not mean that the overburdened staffs of the brokerage concerns will loaf from now until Monday morning. Nineteen days in a row of more than 3,000,000 shares a day has taxed the facilities of even the most efficient organizations and most of the clerks as well as the officials of the various firms will spend a good part of the holiday at the offices catching up on detail work which has been piling up for three weeks. There is a silver lining to the situation, however, and that is that many of the brokerage houses have distributed extra compensation to their employes. Several local firms have given their staffs Easter bonuses of from one to two weeks' salary, and it is understood many of the houses in New York have done likewise. The three-day suspension will not include the banks of the Chicago Board of Trade. These institutions will be closed tomorrow, but will be open as usual on Saturday. The stock exchanges throughout the country will remain closed until Monday morning.

The previous record total was 195,993 on January 31, 1928. These figures do not include the General Motors plant in Canada or the overseas assembly plants and warehouses.

Northern Pipe Line Company has called a special stockholders' meeting on June 12 to vote on reducing the capital from $4,000,000 of $100 par to $2,000,000 of $50 par, to permit distribution of assets, which would probably be $50 a share in cash.

Glass Demand Fair.

Demand for window glass was fair during the first two months of the year. Generally quiet months, the trade required in each of them about 650,000 boxes. The jobbing trade is looking forward to a good volume of business this year, according to the National Glass Budget. It has been predicted there will be $4,000,000,000 of new construction and remodeling in which window and sheet glass mainly will be used for glazing. The beginning of the second quarter of 1928 finds window glass stocks in the manufacturers' and jobbers' warehouses below normal. Stocks in the producers' hands are estimated at about 2,500,000 boxes. Plate glass is in good demand with a promising outlook. There is a firmer tone prevailing in the wired and rough rolled glass industries.

J. C. Penney Sales.

Sales of J. C. Penney Co., Inc., for March and three months, new stores included, compared as follows:

	1928.	1927.
March	$13,134,178	$9,968,057
Three months	29,774,543	23,789,552

Total number of stores reporting for March was 930, compared with 826 for the same period last year.

Pittsburgh Coal Output.

Production figures given out by officials of Pittsburgh Coal Company show an increase in monthly production for March when 732,888 tons of coal were mined in 18 former union mines in Pittsburgh district, now operating nonunion. This compares with 686,072 tons mined during February. The monthly figure is also an increase over corresponding month of 1927 when 576,665 tons were mined. March figures set a new high record for the open shop production. Previous high was 724,036 made in October, 1927.

Preferred Stocks in Demand.

New tops for preferred stocks give an idea of the vast amount of money flowing into investment channels, and may partly explain the demand for good common stocks. Preferred stocks are now selling higher than at any previous time in history. As an example, National Lead, Liggett & Myers, American Can, Corn Products, United States Steel and certain other 7 per cent issues are now selling around $145 a share, to yield approximately 4.80 per cent, about the same as the average gilt-edged 5 per cent industrial bond. American Tobacco and Otis Elevator preferred, paying 6 per cent, are selling around $125 a share, also yielding 4.80 per cent. Many 7 per cent preferred stocks are selling lower, but this because of their callable features.

Radio's Market Value.

Radio Corporation of America's 1,155,400 shares of common stock, at $195 a share, would have a market value of $225,303,000, and appreciation from the low of the year of $126,805,150. Low was 85¼, which meant a market value of $98,497,850 for the outstanding stock. Thus at the high the stock was earning slightly more than 3 per cent on its market value and selling at some 31 times its earnings of $6.15 a share in 1927, which was the company's best year. Incidentally the appreciation in the stock from the low to the high is about twice the total value of gross business for 1927. The Radio Corporation is enjoying a good quarter. It is too early to offer an estimate, but it is expected net will be between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. The first quarter of last year was an extremely bad one owing to inventory liquidation, and only $126,778 net was earned. After depreciation, etc., it was equal to 32 cents a share on the preferred stock.

Busses Hit Frisco Traffic.

Passenger traffic on all lines of the St. Louis-San Francisco Railway is running under 1927, due to the greater use of private automobiles and motor bus competition, but freight traffic is about the same as a year ago, says James M. Kurn, president. Because of the drop in passenger business, gross revenues for March will be less than in March last year, but the outlook for good crops continues bright. Present indications, Mr. Kurn said, pointed to smaller gross revenues for the first half of 1928, but net operating income would equal that of a year ago.

Pere Marquette Outlook.

Frank Alfred, president of the Pere Marquette, expects a continuation of good, normal business, and while not pessimistic, he said he was not unduly optimistic about the outlook. March gross revenues would be about $315,000 less than the $3,932,076 for March, last year. Passenger revenues dropped 11 per cent.

Newmont Earnings Bulge.

Newmont Mining Company earned $31.09 a share in 1927, against $9.08 in 1926. H. E. Dodge, treasurer, stated in the annual report that listed stocks on which dividends were received in 1927 included shares of Kennecott Copper, Chile Copper, New Cornelia Copper, Continental Oil, Standard Oil of Indiana and other companies.

The issue is secured by a direct closed first mortgage on the Fort Pitt and William Penn hotels, including the new addition to the latter now under consideration. The management of the hotels has recently been placed under the direction of Eugene C. Eppley, president of the Eppley Hotels Company. The offering was oversubscribed and the books closed at noon.

Banker Optimistic.

The banking situation throughout the country is in a sound condition, President T. F. Preston of the American Bankers' Association, told President Coolidge today. Following a survey he has made throughout the country, it is the opinion of Mr. Preston that business throughout the country has improved during the last three months and the unemployment situation is no longer critical. He anticipates an increase in volume of business in all industries during the next few months, he told the President.

Copper Outlook Bright.

With a degree of stability and strength hitherto unknown in the market for copper metal for a great many years, the outlook for producing companies is considered by authorities to be bright for the current year. It is predicted that the improvement that set in in the final part of 1927 will find reflection in first quarter earnings of 1928, as the price obtained for copper during the year to date is approximately 1 cent a pound higher than average price for 1927 and the price that obtained in the first quarter a year ago.

HOUSTON GULF IN DEMAND

There was no change in the character of the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange in the early session today. Prices were steady to firm, with the light volume of stock continuing to reflect the hesitant attitude noted here for some time.

Houston Gulf Gas was in strong demand both here and on the New York Curb. The stock was bid up sharply to around 21, but no stock came out in the local trading. In New York there was a fairly large turnover around that figure. Friends of the company are enthusiastic over the future outlook and refer to it as "another Lone Star Gas." Houston is carrying out an extensive program of plant expansion and when facilities are enlarged it will rank high among the gas companies of the Southwest. There are vague rumors of future consolidation with another large organization, but nothing definite on this question is obtainable.

Miscellaneous manufacturing stocks were steady, but there was no indication that demand was overbalancing the supply around current levels.

In the latter half of the session Lone Star Gas developed pronounced activity, and, while the price swing was less than a point upward, it carried the stock above 56 to within a fraction of the high reached on the advance a few weeks ago.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 5.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 5 points. Buying on relatively firm Liverpool cables was supplied by selling on reports of rains in the southwest, the market soon showing net losses of 4 to 8 points.

Offerings were not heavy and after easing off to 19.26c for May and 18.89c for October, the market rallied on doubt as to whether there had been adequate relief from droughty conditions in parts of Texas and the forecast for unwanted showers in the eastern belt. The early loss was more than recovered, the market selling about 5 to 8 points net higher by the end of the first hour.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying and trade calling with a scarcity of contracts in Liverpool, and improved cloth demand from the continent and South America.

The advance was checked by realizing when prices reached 19.38c for May and 19.02c for October. Prices became easier upon publication of weather reports showing precipitation at 37 stations in Texas. Although local cotton men believed the rains were not where most needed, but probably beneficial, the reports served to promote pre-holiday realizing or liquidation. The market at midday was selling around 18.97c for October, or about 3 to 4 points net higher.

THE UNION TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH, Trustee.

The Bonds and interest coupons will be payable without deduction for the Pennsylvania Four Mills Tax. The Corporation agrees, to the extent specified in the Mortgage, to reimburse owners resident in various other states, for certain taxes paid with respect to these Bonds or the interest thereon.

Mr. Eugene C. Eppley, President of Pittsburgh Hotels Corporation, summarizes his letter regarding this issue, as follows:

SECURITY

The First Mortgage Bonds are secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct closed first mortgage on the land and building constituting the William Penn and Fort Pitt hotels and service building, and by pledge of the entire capital stock of a subsidiary company which will own the furniture and equipment. These hotels are the two largest hotels in the city of Pittsburgh, and, upon completion of the construction of a 586 room addition to the William Penn Hotel, will contain a total of 2,128 guest rooms.

VALUATION

The land and buildings, including the addition now under construction, have been appraised as a going concern by the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board at $17,268,149; the $10,350,000 of First (Closed) Mortgage Bonds thus constitute a loan of 59.94% of this appraisal. In this appraisal, $4,805,800 is given as the value of the land and $12,462,349 as the value of the buildings. The appraisal does not include furniture, furnishings and equipment, the value of which, including the furnishings and equipment for the addition, is estimated at more than $2,000,000.

EARNINGS

Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. have certified that for the past five calendar years, the net earnings derived from the present properties available for interest, depreciation and Federal income taxes, have averaged $1,117,056 per annum, and for the year 1927, amounted to $906,157 after charging to operation a large part of the cost of extensive interior redecorating at the Fort Pitt Hotel.

The addition now under construction will add 586 guest rooms to the William Penn Hotel as compared with the 1,542 rooms at present contained in the two hotels, and will also provide a large amount of additional space for shops and stores. The management estimates that, upon completion of the addition, net earnings for a normal year's operation of the properties, available for interest, depreciation and Federal income taxes, will be in excess of $1,600,000, and that $475,000 per annum should adequately provide for depreciation of the buildings, furniture and equipment. Annual interest on the First Mortgage Bonds will require a maximum of $569,250 and the average annual interest and sinking fund requirements combined will be $692,015.

SINKING FUND

The Mortgage will provide for a sinking fund, commencing September 1, 1930, sufficient to retire, by purchase or redemption, $4,350,000 aggregate principal amount, of First Mortgage Bonds prior to maturity.

MANAGEMENT

The management has recently been placed under the direction of Mr. Eugene C. Eppley, as President, assisted by the organization of the Eppley Hotels Company. The contract for the management of the properties, which involves also the assumption of an equity position by the management, was undertaken only after a careful study of the hotel situation in Pittsburgh made by the Eppley organization and based upon its wide experience in the operation of hotel properties in various sections of the country.

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price 99½ and interest, to yield 5.54%

We offer these Bonds if, as and when issued to and received by us, subject to the approval of all legal proceedings by Messrs. Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautmann & Levinson, of Chicago, and Messrs. Reed, Smith, Shaw and McClay, of Pittsburgh, for the bankers, and S. Stanwood Menken, Esq., of New York, for the corporation. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about April 16, 1928 in the form of temporary bonds.

WHITE'S REPLY DENOUNCED BY D. A. R. HEAD

WASHINGTON, April 5—(AP)—William Allen White's reply to his inclusion in a speakers' "blacklist" by the Massachusetts Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is looked upon as an "absolute misstatement of facts" by the organization's national president, Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau.

The Kansan's criticism of the organization was met by Mrs. Brosseau with this comment:

"Mr. White to the contrary notwithstanding, the present administration and policies will no doubt continue."

Regarding Mr. White's allusion to the "nice old girls of the D. A. R." being hypnotized by retired Army officers and "tea gladiators," Mrs. Brosseau said:

"This is a personal matter between Mr. White and I must consult him as to just what private census lists and records gave him his information as to our ages and susceptibility to hypnotism."

IF YOU SOLD YOUR MOTHER A HOME

You would take every precaution to see that the property she bought was absolutely protected—you would include TITLE INSURANCE—the only positively safe protection against further loss through the discovery of a title defect.

And so when you sell others you should suggest that they secure POTTER TITLE INSURANCE—assuring them and yourself that they are buying a marketable property—a property safe from possible chance of future loss. They will appreciate the interest shown in your suggestion.

BUGS BAER Says

THE old jitney bus has now jumped into the king row. It has been crowned with a double checker and is entitled to leap from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

You can hit, jolt and jolt from ocean to ocean in six days and six nights for $56.50. You can see America first and consult the optician second.

Two hundred and thirty-two bus lines have merged their rumbling stock into this transcontinental inquisition.

ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER.

You only change cars two hundred and thirty-two times on the trip. Your trunk should be purchased from the Kum-Apart Baggage Company.

The journey is better than a beauty parlor. When you leave New York you are a red-nosed, scrabby-faced, flounder-eared young man with the general contour of a collapsed blimp. Consult accompanying half-tone for details.

When you arrive in California you are a beautiful white-haired patriarch with a face dignified with the seniority that comes through patient suffering.

An ordinary through ticket on an average railroad can make us blow soap bubbles out of our conversation.

What's going to happen when we take a bus ride on a ducat that looks like a six-reel scenario with an extra comedy reel of two hundred and thirty-two transfers?

Aid Being Sought Here In Fight Against Cancer

The Pittsburgh Skin and Cancer Foundation is conducting a mail campaign for members. It has sent out 70,000 letters soliciting subscriptions. Membership classes range from associate, at $1 a year, to underwriter, at $100 a year, fees for other classes being $5, $10, $25 and $50.

There should be favorable response from every one of the 70,000 recipients of these letters, as the object of the organization, which has been in existence for a number of years, is a worthy one.

Cancer is one of the diseases which take yearly increasing toll of life. The Skin and Cancer Foundation is made up of women and men engaged in combat against the disease.

Membership increase will enable the society to expand its beneficent work.

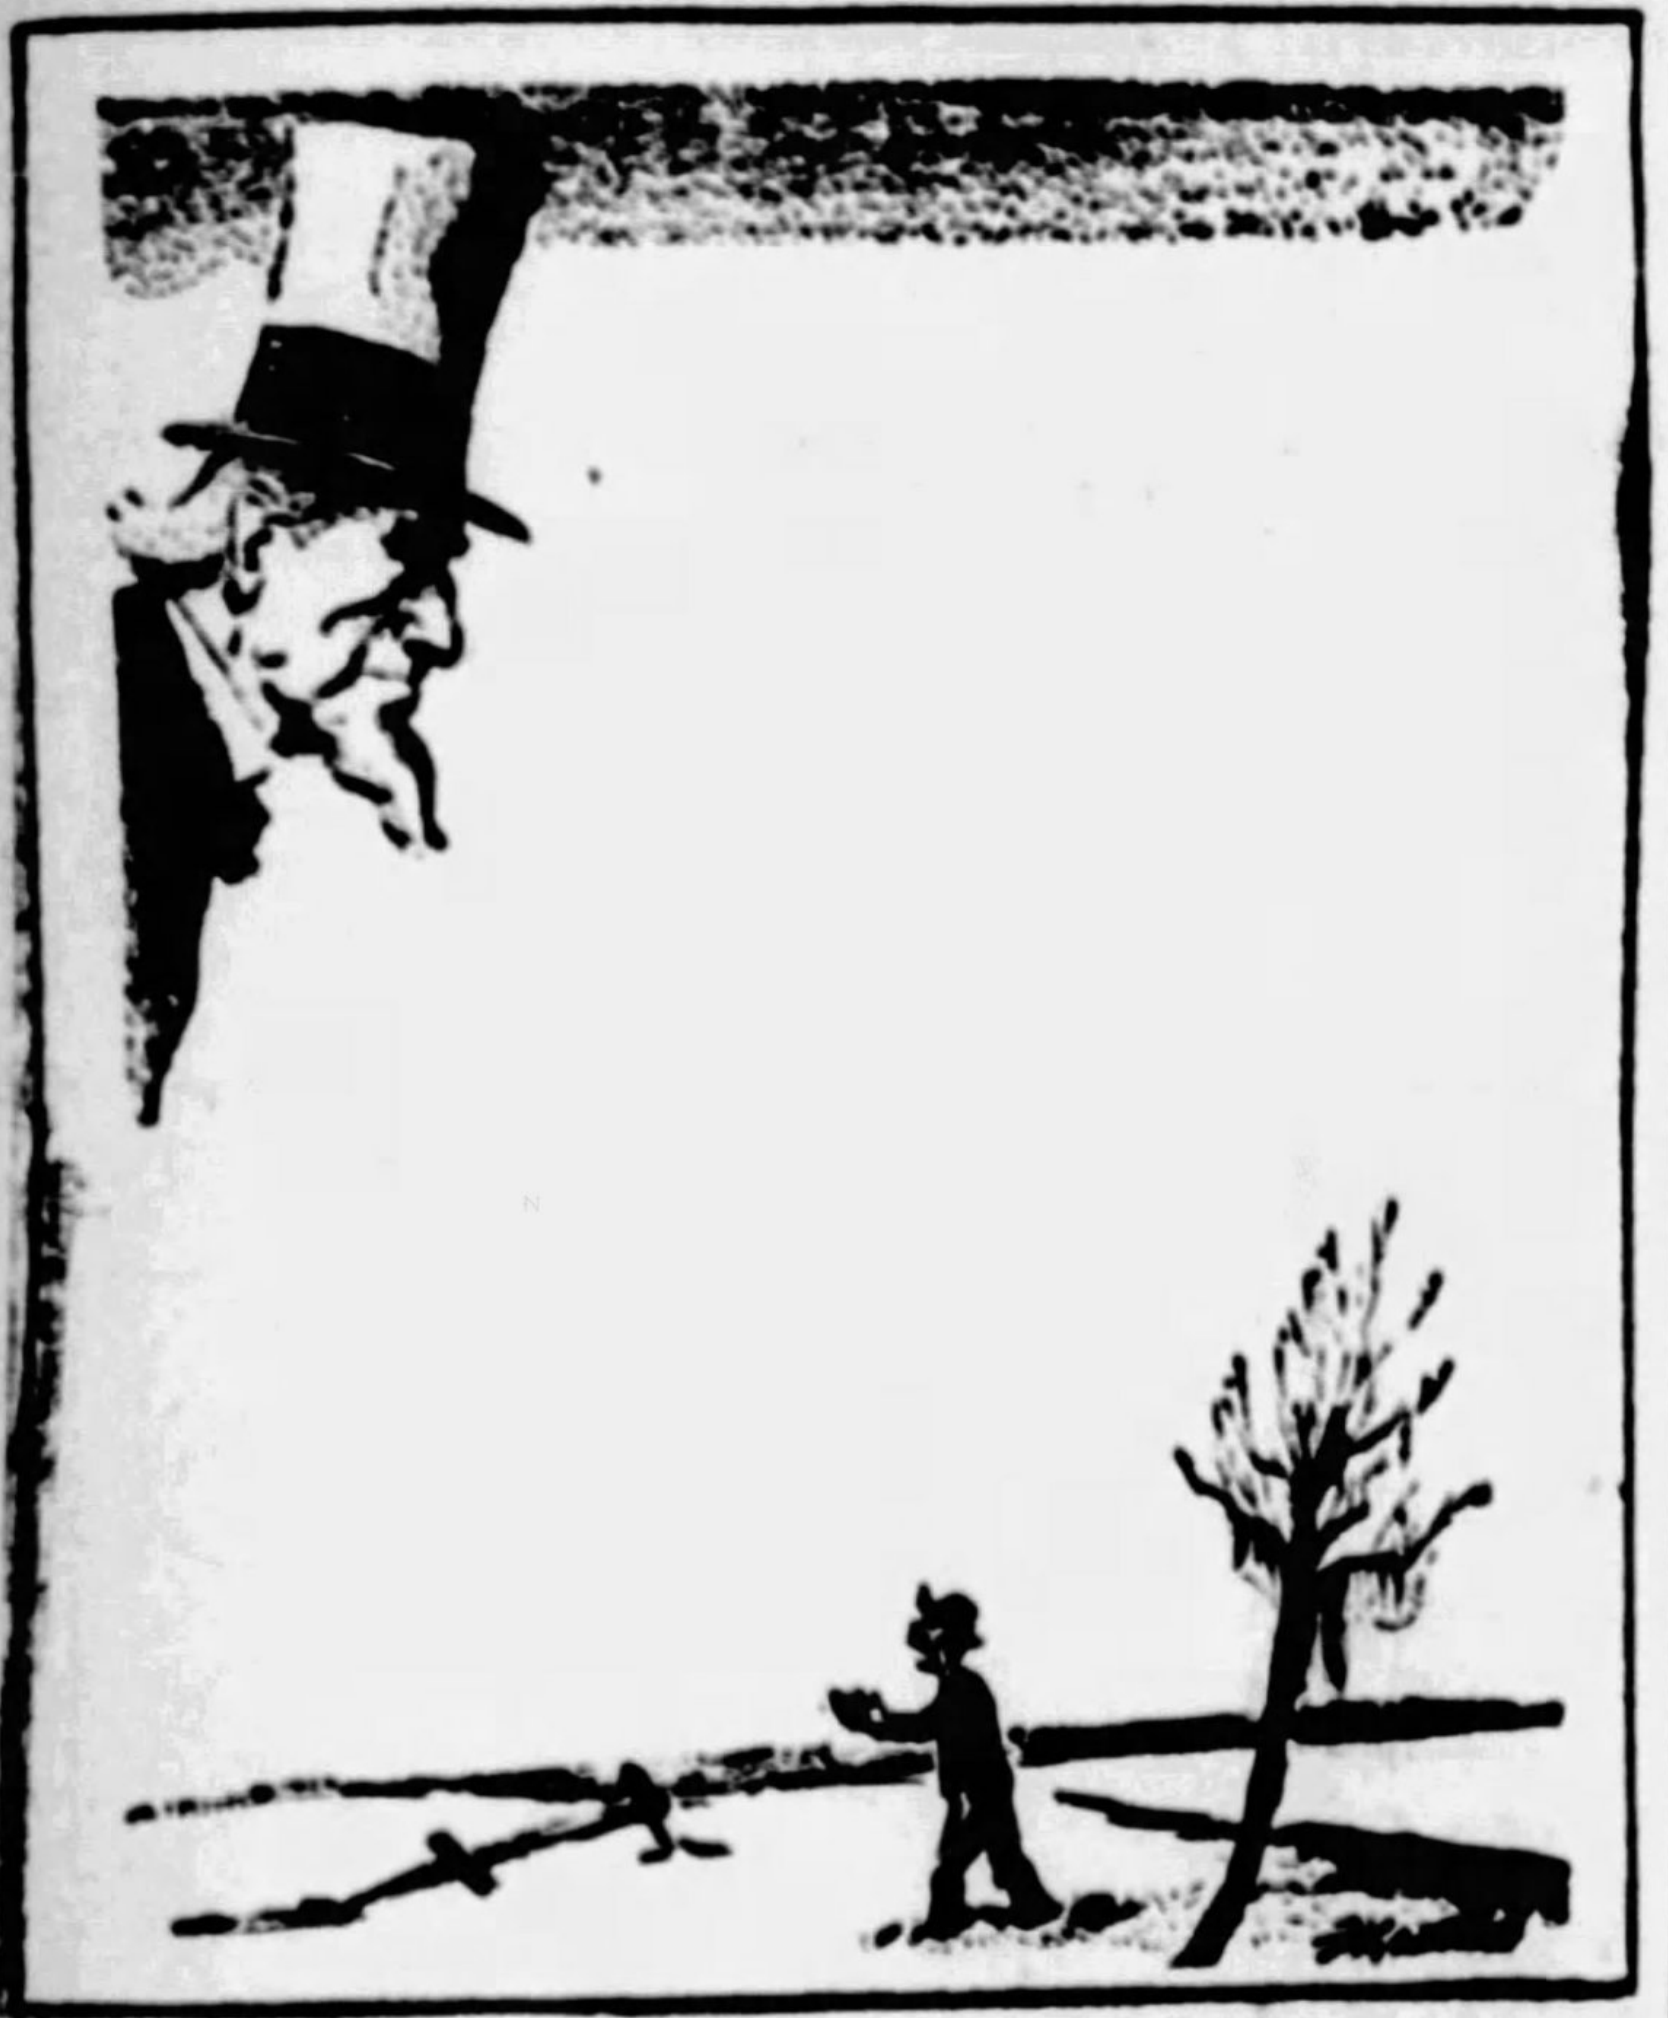
France and the Movies
Our Remedy Is Simple

The French believe in drastic measures for building up French industry. Noblemen attending the Field of the Cloth of Gold in the sixteenth century spent fortunes on their backs for silks, satins and laces. Such things were then shut out, their importation forbidden, until the French should learn to make them. They did learn, and excel the world in those lines today—a good lesson in the importance of protection.

Now France finds it hard to compete with American moving pictures, and a special French commission, supposedly "censoring" our films, has admitted none of them since the commission was appointed.

Mr. Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, is looking into that. This country is not defenseless, fortunately. It would only be necessary to retaliate by shutting out a few of the principal French importations. But matters can be adjusted in a more friendly spirit, perhaps.

Very Rich
But Just a Little Stingy



DON'T BE MEAN ABOUT IT.

This picture by Mr. Fitzpatrick in the St. Louis Post Dispatch shows Uncle Sam saying to the farmer drowned out in the Mississippi Valley: "You pay part and I'll pay part." The impoverished victim of the Mississippi flood says: "But the United States Treasury wasn't flooded."

The suggestion that a great part of the cost of making the Mississippi safe be put upon the farmers recently flooded in the Mississippi Valley and on the few states in which the work of protection would actually be done is a rather mean suggestion.

Seven states under that ruling would be taxed to pay for work that would benefit the United States.

As a matter of fact, more than 30 of the states pour their waters into the Mississippi. And the waters from those states pouring down through the Mississippi Valley cause the floods and all the damage.

Certainly if any states are to pay, the states that send the water into the Mississippi and drown out the people in the lower reaches should pay their full part.

Making the Mississippi River safe its entire length is not a work for individual states, but a work for the nation.

THE WORK WILL BENEFIT THE ENTIRE NATION. When floods send tens of thousands from their homes and cause hundreds of millions of damage, wiping out the cotton crop of the great section, setting back the nation's prosperity, it hurts everybody, not merely those whose farms and homes are washed away.

The Mississippi improvement, which ultimately will have as a feature a magnificent ship canal from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, is an American enterprise, as much as the Panama Canal or the building of a navy.

The work of making the Mississippi absolutely safe, and a great freight-carrying body of water, should be done BY THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES, NOT BY INDIVIDUAL STATES OR LAND OWNERS.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Space Rockets

"I would like to read your opinion of the projects to send 'rockets' to the moon, or to Venus. Could our present explosives, in quantities weighing but a fraction of the total weight of the projectile, cause a reaction powerful enough to drive the 'rocket' so far? —C. A. Pezet."

YOU have hit upon what is probably the greatest obstacle to success in the various schemes for sending rockets to the very roof of the earth's atmosphere and possibly, of driving them away from the earth entirely on a flight across empty space to the moon, or even beyond it.

From the earth to the moon the mean distance is less than 240,000 miles. From the earth to Venus, when that planet is nearest to us, the distance is about 25,000,000 miles, or a hundred times as far as to the moon.

It is not with a rocket as it is with a projectile shot with the force of a single explosion from a gun. The rocket carries within itself a continuing driving force as long as its charge is not all burnt up. But the projectile receives no push after it leaves the muzzle, and can go on only as long as the original impulse survives.

The rocket scheme involves the renewal of the driving force by means of a succession of charges arranged to explode at proper intervals to keep the rocket in motion. For a projectile to be shot to the moon it would be necessary to start it with enough initial velocity to free it from the control of the earth's gravitation. What that velocity is can be calculated from well known data—it amounts in round numbers to seven miles per second. Starting with that velocity, a projectile could go from the earth to the moon with the expense only of the force that started it.

But the rocket would develop new supplies of force during its flight, so that it would not need to start with anything like so high a velocity on leaving.

You could not jump from the earth to the moon at a single leap, even if you were a greater athlete than any demigod. But if there were a series of platforms reaching from the earth to the moon you could get there by a succession of jumps.

In Jules Verne's famous story he sent his imaginary adventurer to the moon in a projectile shot from a 900-foot cannon. He had to mask behind a play of words the crushing fate that an initial velocity of seven miles per second would have brought upon them. Curiously enough, when his projectile got stuck at a neutral point not far from its destination, he called in the principle of the rocket to unstall it, though he had not thought of employing the same principle to carry the projectile away from the earth with comparative safety and ease for the voyagers.

Many have difficulty in seeing that a rocket could travel even in open space beyond the atmosphere, where there would be "nothing to push against." It is the principle of reaction that comes into play. The force of an explosion is exerted in all directions. In the case of a rocket a large part of the force is effectively confined to driving the rocket in the direction of its head.

The idea, then, of driving a rocket from the earth to the moon is not mere moonshine of the imagination, but it is a far cry from the principle to the application. How to obtain sufficient explosive power locked up in exceedingly small compass and how to make the successive charges explode without interference with one another are fundamental questions to be practically solved before even an attempt could be made at so sensational a flight. But some time we may find our dream of power from atomic sources realized, and then ——!

Shipping Needs

STATISTICIANS claim that $1,275,000 can be added annually to the earning capacity of the American merchant marine, if the Mount Vernon and Monticello, now idling at Newport News, are reconditioned.

If the ships are placed in service, $1,275,000 which is now paid to foreign steamship companies annually, for hauling mails across the ocean, could be diverted to the speedy former German ships.

Another $250,000 could be saved annually by these two ships, on a schedule with the Leviathan, carrying an oil supply to England to refuel the Leviathan for her return trips. To refuel the Leviathan in England costs $250,000 annually in excess of the price of the same quality of oil in New York.

Contentment Keynote

IF YOU have learned to live happily within your means and you lay aside a little each year, you have struck the keynote of contentment.

There are thousands of men who make more money than you do but they get very little enjoyment out of life.

For instance, take the man who has a family, using up all he earns.

He knows that his family would not be satisfied to live on a more humble plane, because he has let them become accustomed to more.

Often he wonders how he is going to keep pace with the growth and the needs of his family, as they demand it.

If he should meet with reverses he could not pay his bills.

Illness would result in such a curtailment that soon he would find himself in debt.

The man who cannot see a chance of improvement and who cannot get a cent ahead is in an unfortunate position.

It is a most disconcerting outlook.

If you are going along, meeting your bills and saving a little you should consider yourself fortunate.

Wanderlust

OH, I would wander far and far,
Across the wood and plain:
I would not heed the burning wind,
The lances of the rain!

For I would take the long, long road
With swift and eager feet,
The world untried before me, and
The promise of it sweet.

And I would test each shining hope,
Would prove the false and true,
While seeking still Earth's utmost rim,
As rovers ever do.

What gladness always in the quest,
By land or sea to roam,
And then, last, deepest joy of all,
To turn my steps towards home!

FASHION NOTE—Style arbiters have decreed the two-vest suit in order that a man may wear one while eating his soup and the other when he is not thus engaged.

Tales that are Told

Solved

HE LAY by the roadside, groaning and writhing in pain. A policeman hastened towards him and inquired what was the matter. He could get no definite answer. The man muttered again and again—

"I ate one too—I ate one too."

The limb of the law soon arrived at a solution of the problem.

"Poison," he said to himself.

Hastily procuring what he thought would be a suitable antidote, he administered it to the man.

The result, however, was rather surprising. Like a shot the man sat up and asked why he was subjected to such treatment. On being told, he became angry.

"What did I eat?" he yelled. "Why, you fool, I-812 is the number of the car that knocked me down.

Close Resemblance

HE HAD just left the club and was walking rather unsteadily down the street, when he thought he saw his wife.

Making doubtful progress in the woman's direction, he threw his arms about her and, to his horror, discovered she was a total stranger. He hastened to apologize.

"'Scuse me," he gasped, "thought you were m'wife."

"And you're a fine husband for any woman to have, aren't you?" screamed the lady in a rage.

"There, y'see!" ejaculated the gentleman triumphantly. "You talk jus' like her, too!"

Misunderstood

AFTER leaving his church the vicar stopped to shake hands with a young lady who was a new member of his congregation.

In the course of conversation the vicar remarked how pleased he always was to welcome new members to the church.

The young woman blushed prettily.

"It's very kind of you to say so," she remarked.

"Not at all," replied the vicar. "Just let me have your name and address and I will be able to call and see you."

"Oh," she stammered, "I—er—I'm afraid you're too late. I've got a boy already."—London Answers.

"I want a set of furs," he said. "A present for a lady."

"Yes, sir," replied the assistant. "Any special kind?"

"That dark brown set in the window looks the sort of thing I want. It mustn't be too expensive, though."

The assistant followed his gaze.

"Oh," he exclaimed, "You mean skunk!"

The boxer apparently misunderstood him. Anyway, the poor fellow isn't out of the hospital yet.

The Comforter

DOCKER had been suffering from a terrible attack of toothache and in the end he decided to visit his dentist.

Arriving at the surgery, he discovered that the pain had ceased, but, being a strong-willed young man, he carried on inside and asked for all his teeth to be extracted.

On regaining consciousness he found that there was still one tooth left and demanded the reason.

"Oh, well," replied the dentist, "I thought I'd better stop at 'she loves me.'"

New York Day by Day
by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 5.—To the new generation the passing of Jack Dunston some weeks ago meant little. But to the vanishing old guard it revived memories of days and nights forever gone. There was never a place like Jack's restaurant. For years the key was never turned in the front door lock.

It offered no music, no fancy service but plain palatable food such as eggs and Irish bacon, T-bone steaks with potatoes in the jacket and Hamburger and onions. After midnight it became the hang-out for drunks as well as leaders in all walks of life.

If you got rowdy at Jack's you found yourself on your ear in the middle of Sixth avenue's car tracks. The waiters were especially trained and became known as "the flying wedge." At the battle cry they seemed to drop from chandeliers and spring from everywhere in mass formation to do their duty.

Its Battling Nelson Grill had someone taking the count nightly. Here would be found Hype Igoe and his cigar box ukelele, Frank Ward O'Malley who named the district "The Roaring Forties," and it was here Tad, the cartoonist, laughed himself out of a thousand trains to Great Neck.

Jack's was a jostling, hard-boiled merry place. Many sleepers would be awakened to receive the other fellow's check. There was the old blind flower seller who could "smell a sucker." Judges and great statesmen came as did such men about town as Freddie Gebhard and flowering wits as Wilson Mizner.

It was no place to flirt with the other fellow's girl. One wink and unless you dodged something handy you would be carried out feet up while birdies sang—tweet! tweet! Jack's was the hackmen's paradise. They began lining up on Sixth avenue at 5 a. m. Nobody ever walked home from Jack's. Nobody could.

The waiters were Pats, Reds and Mikes, gray-haired and flat-footed from long service. Many grew comfortably well off on tips. Jack himself began his career as a waiter. In later years he acquired a bank president's dignity. And an estate worth more than $2,000,000.

My first visit to Jack's was with Harry W. Brown, a Cincinnati editor. It was 3 a. m. Mr. Brown observed to Red, a beguiling Celt who attended us, things were rather quiet. "Yeah," he yawned, "outside of smacking a college sissie silly I ain't had no fun all evening."

A comedian in a cheaper vaudeville house referred to Los Angeles and in impromptu manner fashioned a pun on the gruesome kidnaping and murder there. The audience replied to his bad taste with a sound booing and the act was immediately canceled.

It is noticed that in the high-priced legitimate theaters the inclination to let poor work go unheeded is not what it used to be. It was all right when seats were $1.50 each, but audiences today seem conscious of their $8 or $10 expenditure. It requires what dramatic critics call "excellent theater" to bring about robust, spontaneos applause.

* * *

The newest in auto rental agencies is to make a bow this spring. The patron only has to give his name and bank reference and at the appointed time will appear the swankest of imported cars. If the last initial is "M" the robe will be so monogramed. The chauffeur will call the renter by name and under the circulars sent out is this grand information. "Should you leave the car first and members of your party question the driver he will at all times give the impression the car is your property, which it is at the time." An idea like that is going to be boom-boom in New York or I miss my guess. The charge will be $12 an hour, which is about three times as high as the average car rental price.

War Talk
By DR. FRANK CRANE

A German leader, Dr. Paul Oestreich, declares that America and England will certainly be driven into war. They will both woo Germany for an ally, and in this way Germany will rise in the council of nations.

We have had among our own people men who predict that war is certain. They say that human nature cannot be changed and that war is inevitably due to ensue.

Lloyd George says: "In every country it is part of the business of the fighting staff to work out a plan for defense against all conceivable enemies. They gloat over their efficiency and, like every inventor, yearn to put their machine to a test, until possible war soon becomes likely and a likely war gradually glides into the inevitable."

From time immemorial nations and tribes have sought to "protect" themselves by increasing their armaments. A considerable portion of the press is urging the United States greatly to increase armament on sea and land in order to "protect" itself.

There never was a nation that could so protect itself. Greece tried it, and Rome and Spain and Germany and Russia, and they all fell.

The best protection for a nation is for it to form some kind of combination with other nations which public sentiment will endorse that shall abolish war as a final arbiter.

The most hopeful sign today is that people are finding out that war not only costs them money and valuable lives, but destroys property and sets back business.

It would be a good thing if every boy and girl in the country were compelled to serve two years under the tutelage of army officers in constructing great public works, such as the Boulder Dam and the Mississippi reclamation projects.

There is no objection to universal conscription if it is universal, and if it is not primarily for the purpose of fighting. These boys and girls would be potential soldiers in case we were ever attacked, but their employment upon constructive works would not be in the nature of a provocation of war to other nations.

Some way or other we must give up our arms and defer questions of international dispute to some other arbiter than crass nationalism.

One hopeful sign is that plans of peace are openly discussed in international councils. The late Pan-American Congress was full of peace talk.

And peace-talking brings peace, just as war talk brings war. The question after all is one of public opinion and the sooner that public opinion is turned away from causes of war and toward the efforts of peace the better will be our prospects.

LISTEN, WORLD!
By ELSIE ROBINSON

A Wife's Right

HAS a wife the right to read her husband's mail?

The question lay at the bottom of my pile of letters one morning. It lies at the bottom of our whole marital problem—and it's dynamite.

What are the rights of a wife—of a husband?

What are the rights of any individual in marriage?

Has a human being—male or female—the right to remain an individual, if married?

Are papas and mammas people? Or are they community property?

Here's the story which prompted this particular query. Ed and Angie have been married 11 years. Two children, nice home, small car, fine standing in the community. One hundred per cent successful American family, you'd say. But here's the boll weevil in their crop of content. Ed gets letters. From an old schoolmate—a female. Ed has repeatedly explained to Angie that this correspondence is entirely innocent. Purely platonic. They just talk about interesting things—politics, religion, education, psychology—thinks like that.

"Absolutely innocent," says Ed.

But try to make Angie believe it!

"Why," reasons Angie, "should a woman write to a man unless she's in love with him? And if any woman's making love to my husband I'm going to know it."

Thus reasoning, Angie read the lady's last letter and found, to her chagrin, just what Ed had told her she would find—Talk. Not even a "dearie."

Whereupon Ed gets all smoked up.

"How dare you read my private correspondence?" he shouts.

"How dare you have any private correspondence your wife can't read?" aptly retorts Angie. "And if there isn't anything wrong, whatja so mad about?"

"It's a question of my rights as an individual," counters Ed.

"How about my rights as a wife?" retorts Angie. "Aren't you my husband? Ain't I the mother of your children? What business have you carrying on a correspondence with other women?"

"You are my wife and the mother of my children," replied Ed in that nasty-nice voice peculiar to mad husbands, "but there are still a few interests which we do not share in common. I am still an individual, even if I am a husband and father, and I have a right to discuss those interests with whomsoever I please. And you have no right to meddle with my letters or put an evil construction on them."

"Applesauce!" sneers Angie. "You can't fool me. You know perfectly well you're carrying on an affair."

What would YOU do if you found another woman's letter in your husband's pocket?
